Categories of individuals covered by the system: U.S. Customs Service employees and individuals involved in the import trade.

Categories of records in the system: The system data base is comprised of commodity and merchandise processing information relating to Customs administration of trade laws. Certain portions contain no information about individuals. These are the Tariff Schedules of the United States Annotated (TSUSA) file, country file, criteria file for the selection of routine items, Team TSUSA file, district port file, and the entry master file. The following system files may contain information about U.S. Customs Services employees and/or individuals/companies involved in the import trade.

(1) Authorized Terminals Users File: Contains randomly established five-digit identification codes and passwords assigned to Customs Service employees authorized to use the system. The file consists of the names and identification of all Customs Service employees using the remote terminals to input information into the system. It does not contain Social Security numbers. The degree of access to the system varies according to the users responsibilities in the system.

(2) Importer/Broker/Consignee Bond File: Records consist of importer of record number, importer name, type of importation bond, expiration date, and surety code. The importer of record number is used as the method of accessing the file. The number is assigned by any one of three code formats according to availability and the following hierarchy. The first choice is the IRS Employer Identification Number (EIN). The vast majority of importers have the EIN because of the business necessity of it.

The second alternative is the Social Security number (SSN). The third alternative is a Customs-assigned number. This file is referenced during entry processing to verify that the individual or company making entry is authorized to import and is properly bonded.

(3) Broker File: A record consists of a three-digit Customs-assigned Customhouse broker number (non-SSN) and the broker name. The file is referenced during entry processing to validate the broker number and to prepare and distribute the Broker ID Performance Report to the individual or company concerned. The subject of the report is compliance with the entry filing requirements under the immediate delivery program. Information is disclosed only to the party-of-record.

(4) Surety File: A record consists of a three-digit surety code (non-SSN) assigned by the Customs Accounting Division and the surety name. The file is referenced during entry processing to validate these surety codes. No information on surety company affairs is collected or disseminated in the system.

(5) Liquidator File: A record consists of a Customs-assigned three-digit liquidator identification (non-SSN) and a Customs employee's name. The employee's liquidator code is input into the system as a means of maintaining quality control and an audit trail on entries liquidated.

(6) Manufacturer File: The file contains only a three-digit manufacturer code number (non-SSN) and manufacturer name.

Authority for maintenance of the system: 19 U.S.C. 66, 1448, 1481, 1483, 1484, 1505, and 1624.

Storage: Magnetic Disc.

Retrievability: By identification codes and/or name.

Safeguards: Access to computer area is controlled by a security pass arrangement and personnel not connected with the operation of the computer are prohibited from entering. The building security is protected by a uniformed guard. At the ports of processing, terminal rooms are under close supervision during working hours and locked after close of business. The system security officer issues a unique private five digit identification code to each authorized user. The codes are changed periodically to enhance security. All computer terminals are key-locked when not in use. Access to the Customers computer from other than system terminals in prohibited by hardware controls. Users must input a unique identification code during the terminal log-in procedure to gain access to the system. The identification code is not printed or displayed at the port of processing. The system validates the user ID by transaction type, thereby limiting a system user's access to information on a need to know basis. A listing of identification codes of authorized users can be printed only at the computer room site by request of the security officer.

Retention and disposal: Files are retained indefinitely but are periodically updated to reflect changes, etc.

Retrievability: Information can be retrieved alphabetically by name, bond serial numbers, or, in some cases, numerically by social security number. In the case of securities, except Series G savings bonds, registered in more than one name, information relating thereto can only be retrieved by the name or in some cases social security number of the first-named coowner.

the various files enables Personnel to have ready access to applicants for hiring purposes, placement and to aid in assessing the need for employee training and promotion. Necessary information about an individual employee is also provided to other Federal Personnel Offices when a Division employee is under consideration for a position in another Federal Agency. Also, other records carry accrual information that permits annual reviews on an employee's performance. All information is used solely for the purpose for which it was collected which serves as a general internal source bank. The records of a less important nature are destroyed after the two-year period. Storage of financial information is maintained on computer printouts supplied by Bureau of the Mint. Time and attendance reports and travel vouchers of employees are stored in separate files and are accessible by name and social security number. OFFICE OF PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT

5 CFR Part 831

Disability Retirement

AGENCY: Office of Personnel Management.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: These regulations implement the recommendations from the Office of Personnel Management's study of the disability retirement program.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 5, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Eugene Littleford (Policy Questions), (202/632-4634); Dr. George M. Smith (Medical Questions), (202/632-5510).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: These regulations were published as proposed regulations in the Federal Register of August 12, 1980, with a 60-day comment period. The proposed regulations refused an employee disability retirement benefits when the agency made a valid offer of reassignment to a position of equivalent grade or pay, and revised the rules for the reemployment of disability annuitants by the Federal government to simplify the process and to encourage reemployment. Comments were received from employees, employee organizations, Federal agencies, and other interested parties. The following is a summary of those comments and the Office of Personnel Management (OPM)'s action in regard to them.

Several commenters questioned OPM authority to reinterpret the definition of disability through regulations because it has been interpreted through case law. The case that was cited was Cerrano v. Fleishman, 339 F. 2nd 919 (1964). This case stated that the use of the word "position" in the definition of disability [5 U.S.C 8331(6)] indicated Congressional intent that OPM or the employing agency need not search for another position for which the employee is qualified before approving a disability retirement.

This case does not limit OPM's authority to revise this definition prospectively. First, the court did not interpret the statute itself, but merely accepted the Commission's interpretation. Second, the opinion specifically states that the Commission (now Office of Personnel Management), as the administering agency, has the right to adopt regulations implementing the statute which carry out the objective of the statute and which make it consistent with and complementary to other Federal statutes and policies. This right implies an obligation to revise agency regulations to reflect changing conditions. More recent legislation, particularly the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, does impose an obligation to attempt reassignment of the disabled employee prior to separation, and with the existence of such obligation, it is appropriate that we reinterpret the definition of disability. Further, recent legislation (Pub. L. 96-499, December 5, 1980) has changed the statutory definition of disability and the revised regulations are needed to conform with the changes.

The statutory change and these regulations deny disability retirement to an employee who refuses an offer of reassignment to a position of equivalent grade or pay within the commuting area for which he/she is qualified. Disability retirement compensates an individual for his/her loss of earning capacity. Thus, when the employee can be gainfully employed at the same grade or pay by the agency, there is no justification for granting a retirement benefit.

Congress, in establishing the reassignment provision, did not intend to require the displacement of any other employee to accommodate the reassignment of a disabled employee. Further, Congress did not create a restoration right for disability annuitants who have recovered. To clarify these points and to avoid further confusion, the sentence "However, this requirement does not obligate an agency to create or to vacate a position to place a disabled employee" has been inserted into § 831.502(b).

Instructions to agencies on the actions necessary to determine the availability of other positions for which the employee is qualified will be made available as Federal Personnel Manual guidance when these regulations become effective.

The proposed regulations limited disability retirement to those employees who could not be reassigned to a vacant position at the same grade level, or the equivalent under a different classification system, within the same agency and competitive area. However, in view of the hardship of relocating when the competitive area is nationwide or regional, the final regulations have substituted "commuting area" for "competitive area."

In order to clarify what medical evidence is necessary to establish disability, the definition of "medical evidence" has been expanded to detail the kinds of information needed to establish a claim of disability.

Some concern was expressed that the new definition of disability would be used to discontinue payments to disability annuitants who have been awarded the benefit under the earlier statutory definition. The statutory change is prospective only and will have no effect on persons already retired.

Several comments also expressed concern about the effect of the new definition on the reexamination program described in § 831.502(d). This section is essentially identical to current regulations, and it will not be affected by the new definition.

To improve readability, the rules on reemployment and reinstatement of annuity have been reorganized by subject matter and given separate sections. This required some renumbering of other sections also.

Due to a typographical error in the proposed regulations published in the Federal Register on August 12, the word "continue" instead of "discontinue" was printed in § 831.502(e)(2). This has been corrected.

A specific statement is incorporated in the regulations stating that a disability annuitant may be reemployed in any position for which he/she is qualified, subject only to a requirement that the employing agency notify OPM of the reemployment. Instructions in the Federal Personnel Manual have heretofore restricted a disability annuitant under age 60 to reemployment under a temporary appointment of less than one year, without prior medical approval of OPM, or a prior finding of recovery or restoration to earning capacity. Such a limitation on reemployment was designed to assure that OPM made a finding of recovery or restoration before a disability annuitant was permanently reemployed. This limitation was criticized in the past as unduly restricting reemployment opportunities for disability annuitants. OPM now agrees that this past limitation was unduly restrictive. Under the new regulations, disability annuitants who are reemployed without a prior finding of recovery or restoration will continue to receive annuity, and pay shall be reduced by the amount of annuity allocable to the period of reemployment, pending agency notification of OPM of the reemployment and determination by OPM of whether a finding of recovery or restoration to earning capacity warranting termination of annuity is indicated.

The rule on suspension of annuity in the case of simultaneous employment and reinstatement of annuity has been changed to provide for offset of annuity from pay. We believe that this is a more equitable solution.

In § 831.502(d)(3), which concerns termination of the annuity of recovered disability annuitants on employment by the Government, reference was dropped to specific types of employment, since reemployment of any nature with the Government would be sufficient to trigger the statutory termination.

Pursuant to § 553(d)(3) of title 5, United States Code, the Director finds that good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days. The amendment is needed to implement the statutory change in the definition of disability, which is effective March 5, 1981.

These regulations apply to an application for disability retirement received by OPM on or after March 5, 1981.

OPM has determined that this is not a major rule for the purposes of E.O. 12291, Federal Regulation.

The Director, Office of Personnel Management, certifies that this regulation will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, including small businesses, small organizational units and small governmental jurisdictions.

Office of Personnel Management
Beverly McCain Jones,
Issuance System Manager.

Accordingly, § 831.502 of Title 5, Code of Federal Regulations, is revised to read as follows:

§ 831.502 Disability retirement.

(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this subpart:

"Disabled" and "disability" mean unable or inability to render useful and efficient service because of disease or injury (1) in the employee's current position; or (2) in a vacant position in the same agency at the same grade or pay level for which the individual is qualified for reassignment. For the purpose of the preceding sentence, an employee of the United States Postal Service shall be considered not qualified for a reassignment if the reassignment is to a position in a different craft or is inconsistent with the terms of a collective bargaining agreement covering the employee.

"Medical information" and "documentation of a medical condition" mean a statement made within 90 days of the date of submission from a licensed physician or physician on active duty in a uniformed service who has examined the employee which provides the following kinds of information:

(1) The history of specific medical conditions, examinations, and responses to treatment.

(2) Current clinical findings from physical examination results and laboratory data.

(3) Assessment of the present status of specific medical conditions.

(4) Diagnosis.

(5) Prognosis.

(6) Clinical assessment estimating the date of full or partial recovery.

(7) Clinical assessment of risk of injury or hazard to self or others which would arise from the performance of essential duties, and a narrative justification of the medical basis for the conclusions.

"Qualified for reassignment" means able to meet the minimum requirements for the grade and series of the vacant position in question.

"Rate last payable" means the rate of annuity to which the annuitant was entitled on the date his/her disability annuity was last discontinued.

"Useful and efficient service" means (1) either acceptable performance of the critical or essential elements of the position or the ability to perform at that level; and (2) satisfactory conduct and attendance.

"Vacant position" means a position of the same tenure in the same commuting area which is not occupied.

(b) Prima facie case of disability. A prima facia case of disability requires documentation that specifically demonstrates the employee's failure to provide useful and efficient service in his/her position, because of a medical condition. The agency shall include documentation of any steps taken to accommodate the disabling condition in the present position, and of the absence of vacant positions at the same grade or pay level and tenure, within the same commuting area, for which the employee is qualified for reassignment. However, this requirement does not obligate an agency to create or to vacate a position for a disabled employee.

(c) Examination. OPM may offer the applicant a medical examination by a medical officer of the United States or a qualified physician or board of physicians designated by OPM, when it determines that additional medical evidence is necessary to make a decision on an application.

The applicant's refusal to submit to an examination offered under these circumstances is grounds for disallowance of the application.

(d) Reexamination. (1) A disability annuitant may request reexamination under the provisions of this section at any time. A disability annuitant age 60 or over shall be reexamined only on his/her own request.

(2) Each disability annuitant who is under 60 years of age shall be reexamined annually under the direction of OPM, unless OPM determines that the disability is permanent. OPM may order a medical or other examination at any time to determine the facts relative to the nature and degree of disability of the annuitant. Failure to submit to reexamination shall result in suspension of annuity.

(3) When an examination shows that a disability annuitant has recovered, OPM shall discontinue the annuity at the expiration of 1 year from the date of the examination. When a recovered disability annuitant is reemployed by a department or agency within 1 year from the date of examination, OPM shall discontinue the annuity from the date of reemployment.

(e) Income limitation. (1) Each disability annuitant who is under 60 years of age shall report to OPM, in a format acceptable to OPM, by April 15 of each year, his/her income from wages and/or self-employment for the prior calendar year. If an annuitant fails to submit a report, OPM may suspend annuity payments until the annuitant's entitlement to continued annuity is established.

(2) When, in each of two succeeding calendar years, a disability annuitant has received income from wages and/or self-employment, equaling at least 80 percent of the current rate of pay of the position from which he/she retired, the annuitant's earning capacity is deemed restored. If earning capacity is restored, OPM shall discontinue the annuity at the expiration of 1 year from the end of the two-year period. When the disability annuitant is reemployed by a department or agency within 1 year from the end of the two-year period, OPM shall discontinue the annuity from the date of reemployment.

(f) Reemployment. (1) A disability annuitant may be reemployed in any position for which he/she is qualified. The employing agency shall notify OPM of the reemployment, including in the notification the nature of the position, the type of appointment, and the rate of pay.

(2) When a disability annuitant whom OPM has found recovered from disability, or restored to earning capacity, is reemployed while he/she is still entitled to disability annuity, OPM shall discontinue the annuity effective on the date of reemployment.

(3) If the disability annuitant has not been found recovered from disability, or restored to earning capacity, the employing agency shall offset the pay of the disability annuitant by the amount of annuity allocable to the period of reemployment.

(4) OPM may review the notification of reemployment, and order reexamination under the provisions of § 831.502(d), as it finds appropriate. In connection with the reexamination process, the employing agency and/or the employee may submit supporting medical evidence.

(5) When a reemployed disability annuitant is found recovered from disability, or restored to earning capacity, OPM shall discontinue the annuity from the date of its administrative finding, notify the agency of its determination, and instruct the agency to cease reducing pay by the amount of annuity allocable to the period of reemployment. If the appointment is subject to retirement deductions, OPM shall instruct the agency to commence retirement deductions.

(g) Reinstatement of annuity. (1) When a recovered disability annuitant is not reemployed in a position in which he/she is subject to Civil Service Retirement coverage, and based on the results of a current examination, OPM finds that the disability has recurred, OPM shall reinstate the individual's disability annuity. The right to the reinstated annuity accrues from the date of the medical examination which demonstrated that the disability has recurred.

(2) When a disability annuitant whose earning capacity has been restored,

(i) Is not reemployed in a position in which he/she is subject to Civil Service Retirement coverage;

(ii) Has not recovered from the disability for which retired; and

(iii) Has again lost his/her earning capacity, as determined by OPM, before becoming 62 years of age;

OPM shall reinstate his/her disability annuity. A reinstated annuity is payable from January 1 of the year following the calendar year in which the earning capacity was lost. Earning capacity is deemed lost if during any calendar year the individual's income from wages and/or self-employment is less than 80 percent of the current rate of pay of the position from which he/she retired.

(3) A reinstated annuity shall be of the same type as the original annuity and will be paid at the rate last payable.

(4) The reinstatement of disability annuity terminates the right to any other annuity based on the same service, unless the annuitant makes a written election to receive the other annuity instead of the disability annuity.

(5) When an employee has a disability annuity reinstated, the agency shall offset the pay of the employee by the amount of annuity allocable to the period of reemployment, commencing with the date of the administrative determination of eligibility for reinstatement. Any retroactive payment of annuity for a period of employment prior to that date shall be reduced by the amount of pay earned during that period.

7 CFR Part 910

[Lemon Regulation 296; Lemon Regulation 295, Amendment 1]

Lemons Grown in California and Arizona; Limitation of Handling

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action establishes the quantity of California-Arizona lemons that may be shipped to the fresh market during the period March 15–21, 1981, and increases the quantity of lemons that may be shipped during the period March 8–14, 1981. Such action is needed to provide for orderly marketing of fresh lemons for the periods specified due to the marketing situation confronting the lemon industry.

DATES: The regulation becomes effective March 15, 1981, and the amendment is effective for the period March 8–14, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: William J. Doyle, 202–447–5975.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Findings. This rule has been reviewed under USDA procedures and Executive Order 12291 and has been classified "not significant" and not a major rule. This regulation and amendment are issued under the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 910, as amended (7 CFR Part 910), regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona. The agreement and order are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). The action is based upon the recommendations and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee and upon other available information. It is hereby found that this action will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

This action is consistent with the marketing policy for 1980–81. The marketing policy was recommended by the committee following discussion at a public meeting on July 8, 1980. A regulatory impact analysis on the marketing policy is available from William J. Doyle, Acting Chief, Fruit Branch, F&V, AMS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250, telephone 202–447–5975.

The committee met again publicly on March 10, 1981 at Los Angeles, California, to consider the current and prospective conditions of supply and demand and recommended a quantity of lemons deemed advisable to be handled during the specified weeks. The committee reports the demand for lemons is active.

It is further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rulemaking, and postpone the effective date until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register (5 U.S.C. 553), because of insufficient time between the date when information became available upon which this regulation and amendment are based and the effective date necessary to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Interested persons were given an opportunity to submit information and views on the regulation at an open meeting, and the amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of lemons. It is necessary to effectuate the declared purposes of the act to make these regulatory provisions effective as specified, and handlers have been apprised of such provisions and the effective times.

1. Section 910.596 is added as follows:

§ 910.596 Lemon Regulation 296.

The quantity of lemons grown in California and Arizona which may be handled during the period March 15, 1981, through March 21, 1981, is established at 280,000 cartons.

2. Section 910.595, Lemon Regulation 295 (46 FR 15493) is revised to read as follows:

§ 910.595 Lemon Regulation 295.

The quantity of lemons grown in California and Arizona which may be handled during the period March 8, 1981 through March 14, 1981, is established at 270,000 cartons.

8 CFR Part 238

Contracts with Transportation Lines; Addition of Sun Land Air Lines, Inc.

AGENCY: Immigration and Naturalization Service, Justice.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment to the regulations of Immigration and Naturalization Service adds a carrier to the list of transportation lines which have entered into agreement with the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization to guarantee the passage through the United States in immediate and continuous transit of aliens destined to foreign countries. This amendment is necessary because transportation lines which have signed such agreement are published in the Service's regulations to advise the public.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Stanley J. Kieszkiel, Acting Instructions Officer, Immigration and Naturalization Service, 425 Eye Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20536. Telephone: (202) 633–3048.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization Service entered into agreement with the following named carrier on the date indicated to guarantee the passage through the United States of aliens in immediate and continuous transit destined to foreign countries under section 238(d) of the Immigration and Nationality Act and 8 CFR 238: SUN LAND Air Lines, Inc.

Effective date: February 9, 1981.

This amendment to 8 CFR 238.3 is published pursuant to section 552 of Title 5 of the United States Code [80 Stat. 383], as amended by Pub. L. 93–502 [88 Stat. 1561], and the authority contained in section 103 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1103), 28 CFR 0.105(b), and 8 CFR 2.1. Compliance with the provisions of section 553 of Title 5 of the United States Code as to notice of proposed rulemaking and delayed effective date is unnecessary because the amendment contained in this order merely adds a transportation line to the listing and is editorial in nature. The order constitutes a notice to the public and it is not a rule within the definition of section 1(a) of E.O. 12291.

Accordingly, Chapter I of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

PART 238—CONTRACTS WITH TRANSPORTATION LINES

§ 238.3 [Amended]

In § 238.3 Aliens in immediate and continuous transit, the listing of transportation lines in paragraph (b) Signatory lines is amended by adding in alphabetical sequence, SUN LAND Air Lines, Inc.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Comptroller of the Currency

12 CFR Part 5

[Docket No. 81–6]

Assessment of Fees; Rules, Policies, and Procedures for Corporate Activities; Revision of Fee Schedule for Applications and Filings

AGENCY: Comptroller of the Currency, Treasury.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (Office) is revising its fee schedule for processing various types of corporate applications and filings to recover the associated expenses. Revision is required because of increasing costs which are now in excess of the income derived from present fees.

Increased fees are being adopted for applications to: (1) organize a national bank; (2) undergo a corporate reorganization by organizing an interim national bank; (3) organize a national bank limited to trust powers; (4) convert a state chartered bank to a national bank; (5) establish domestic branches and seasonal agencies; (6) acquire domestic operating subsidiaries; and (7) establish customer bank communication terminal (CBCT) branches. Fees for certain applications for which there currently are no charges are also adopted. These include applications to: (1) convert a branch or agency operated by a foreign bank or a commercial lending company controlled by a foreign bank into a federal branch or a federal agency; (2) change the location of a head office or domestic branch; (3) relocate a federal branch or federal agency of a foreign bank; (4) change a corporate title; and (5) establish a domestic operating subsidiary.

The new fees apply to filings received by the Office after December 31, 1980. However, payment of charges established by this schedule will not be due until May 1, 1981.

DATES: The effective date of this fee schedule is May 1, 1981, but applies to all filings received by the Office after December 31, 1980.

Washington, D.C. 20219, (202) 447–1880

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The principal drafters of this document were Darrel W. Dochow, Deputy Director, Bank Organization and Structure Division, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, (202) 447–1184; and Jerome Edelstein, Attorney, Legal Advisory Services Division, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, (202) 447–1880.

The Office is amending regulations governing fees levied on national banks and District of Columbia banks for processing various applications and filings. Those regulations were consolidated on October 15, 1980 (45 FR 68566) in 12 CFR Part 5, §§ 5.20(e), 5.21(e), 5.22(c), 5.24(a)(3), 5.25(c), 5.30(d), 5.31(d), 5.34(d), 5.40(d), 5.41(e), 5.42(c).

A Notice of Proposed Rulemaking on a new fee schedule was published on pages 85042–85045 of the Federal Register of December 24, 1980. Comments were invited for 60 days ending February 23, 1981, and were received from twenty-nine sources, including banks, attorneys and trade associations. As stated in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, the new fees are designed to reflect the total cost of processing the associated applications. The Office believes it is more equitable to place processing costs on parties filing applications than to spread those costs among all national banks, many of which would receive no direct benefit from the corporate application procedure. Further, fees are being set according to the typical cost of processing each type of application, so that each applicant, as nearly as possible, bears the costs incurred by the Office as a result of processing the application.

Higher fees are required at this time due to increases in Office expenses since 1970 when most filing fees were last revised. Those increases in expenses, as set forth in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, reflect salary increases, increased cost of goods and services purchased by the Office, and the loss in 1974 of rent-free space in government buildings. Consequently, in 1979 the cost of processing applications affected by this rule exceeded application fees collected by $1,485,000. In 1980, the shortfall was $1,988,000. If fees are not increased in 1981, the shortfall is expected to be $2,334,000.

In calculating the proposed fees, the Office used as a starting point the projected aggregate cost for processing the associated applications in 1981. By applying the percentage of total time spent on each type of application during the first six months of 1980 to the aggregate projected 1981 cost base, the aggregate projected 1981 cost of processing each type of application was calculated. The average cost of each application was then calculated by dividing the projected number of applications of each type in 1980 into the total 1981 projected cost of processing each type.

The Office has since recalculated the fees based on the data covering the entire year of 1980 and determined that the proposed fees are proper with the exception of the fee for additional Federal branches and Federal agencies of a foreign bank, and the fee for customer bank communication terminal (CBCT) branches. The Federal branch and Federal agency fee will remain at the current level of $500, since it accurately reflects the cost to the Office of processing such applications and the proposed increase to $3,000 was in error. The proposed fee for CBCTs is being reduced from $900 to $500 to reflect efficiencies in the Office's processing procedures anticipated in 1981.

The Office intends to review corporate fees annually to take into account all of the factors which may affect fees. Those factors include inflation, salary changes and changes in application processing which are expected to result from the Office's comprehensive review of its rules, policies, procedures and forms concerning applications and filings for structural changes and corporate activities. 45 FR 68566 (Oct. 15, 1980). The goals of this review are to provide clear statements of policy, minimize costs and burdens of compliance at all levels, eliminate inefficient forms and procedures, and remove unnecessary barriers to competition. In the event that new corporate filings are required, fees will be instituted to recover the costs of processing those filings.

The new fee schedule applies to corporate applications received by the office after December 31, 1980. The Office expects that by charging the new fees throughout 1981 it will avoid a deficit in this area for the year which would necessitate passing those costs along to all banks through the semiannual assessment.

The following summarizes the comments on this Office's proposal to increase corporate application fees and actions taken by the office as a result:

General Comments

Several commenters did not deal with specific fee increases but with the proposal to increase corporate application fees in general. One felt that it "would prevent many national banks from taking the actions that they normally would take." However, that was the only letter to make that assertion. The writer cited no instances of increased fees affecting action banks planned to take and did not claim that the increased fees would prevent the bank which the commenter represented from filing necessary applications.

Several banks thought the fee increases should be coupled with changes in procedure to simplify application requirements and cut processing costs and time. The Office is currently undergoing a thorough review of all application procedures with the aim of simplifying them. If procedures are modified, the Office will examine the effect of such modification on its costs and revise fees, as appropriate.

Another commenter thought that the fee increases should not be used to support or defray expenses incurred by protesters or participants in proceedings arising out of filings with the Office. Those expenses will be undertaken by the Office in the small minority of cases where protesters can demonstrate true financial need. Since the Office has no source of income from which to pay those expenses, they must be recovered in some manner from the banking community. It is expected that they will be nominal.

A commenter representing a trade association believed that the fee schedule discriminates against small banks. That writer contended that the cost incurred in reviewing applications from small banks is less that that incurred in reviewing applications from larger banks. The Office has not found that to be the case.

Customer Bank Communication Terminal (CBCT) Fees

Twenty commenters questioned the need for an increase in the fee for processing applications for customer bank communication terminal (CBCT) branches from $200 to $900. Several commenters felt that the new fee would discourage small banks from establishing CBCTs, thus putting them at a competitive disadvantage against larger national banks and other types of depository institutions. Others thought that the CBCT applications should be simplified, thus ending the necessity for a fee increase, or reducing the amount of the increase.

Since the fee was proposed, the Office had begun evaluating its procedures in an effort to significantly reduce the amount of time and expense involved in deciding CBCT applications. It is anticipated that significant efficiencies in those procedures will be implemented by July 1981. Presently, CBCT applications enjoy shorter filing, publication and comment periods than do applications for regular branches. Accordingly, the fee being adopted will be $500 instead of the proposed $900 fee. Further reduction of the fee is not possible at this time because the Office must presently continue to incur the expense of considering state law, the Community Reinvestment Act, Regulation E and the bank's ability to support the expansion.

Charter Fees

Four commenters believed that the proposed increase in fees to charter a national bank from $2,500 to a maximum of $13,000 is unjustified. The Office has reviewed its costs in connection with processing charter applications and has determined that the proposed new fee structure is appropriate. One commenter, a representative of a group applying for a national bank charter, felt that the increased charter fee should not be implemented until April 1, 1981, rather than January 1, 1981. However, the commenter did not believe that the new fee will "substantially discourage" applications that would otherwise have been filed. Consequently, the Office has decided, as stated in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, to apply the new fee to charter applications received after December 31, 1980.

Organization of an Interim National Bank

Three commenters believed that the proposed increase in fees for organization of an interim national bank from $2,500 to $6,500 is unjustified. However, interim banks are formed for purposes of corporate reorganization through merger of an existing bank into the interim bank. The present fee for two banks to merge is $3,000. 12 CFR 5.33 (f). Consequently, the entire fee for the corporate reorganization, i.e. the chartering of the interim bank and the merger, is currently $5,500. The proposed $6,500 fee includes both parts of the corporate reorganization—the chartering of the interim bank and the merger.

One commenter objected on the basis that the reorganization involves a mere "formalistic transfer of ownership." Another objected on the basis that the application procedure for reorganizations is undergoing review for purposes of simplification.

The Office has reviewed the proposed fee for a corporate reorganization and has determined that it does accurately reflect the cost to the Office of processing such applications. In the event that the review process is modified, the Office will examine the effect of such modification on its costs and will revise fees, if appropriate.

The third commenter objected to the proposal believing that the fee for organizing an interim bank would be the same as for a new functioning bank. This is not the case. The fee to charter a new functioning bank is set at $13,000. The fee for a corporate reorganization, which does not involve the establishment of a new functioning bank is set at $6,500 and includes both the establishment of the interim bank and the subsequent merger.

Establishment of Domestic Branches and Seasonal Agencies

One comment was received on the Office's proposal to increase fees for establishment of domestic branches and seasonal agencies from $500 to $900. The commenter thought the increase was "justified."

In light of the above comments the Office finds no reason to change its proposed fees except as previously stated.

In addition to the fees specifically discussed above, the Office will establish fees as set forth in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking for applications for conversions as set forth in 12 CFR 5.24(a)(3) and 5.25(c); establishment of domestic operating subsidiaries, as set forth in § 5.34(d); changes in location of head office or domestic branches as set forth in § 5.40(d); relocations of Federal branches or Federal agencies of a foreign bank as set forth in § 5.41(e); and changes of corporate title as set forth in § 5.42(c). No comments were specifically directed to those proposed changes.

For the reasons set out in the preamble, the Office amends Part 5 of Chapter I of Title 12 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as set forth below.

1. The authority citation for Part 5 reads as follows:

Authority: 12 U.S.C. 1 et seq.

2. By revising § 5.5 to read as follows:

§ 5.5 Fees.

A filing fee must accompany certain filings before they will be accepted by the Office. Each section describing a particular filing indicates whether a filing fee is required and, if so, the amount of the fee. In addition, investigation fees may be charged at the rates established in 12 CFR Part 8 if the Office determines that special investigations or examinations are necessary to reach an informed decision. Fees must be paid by certified or cashier's check payable to the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency. The fees established in §§ 5.20(e), 5.21(e), 5.22(c), 5.24(a)(3), 5.25(c), 5.30(d), 5.31(d), 5.34(d), 5.40(d), 5.41(e), and 5.42(c) apply to applications received by the Office after December 31, 1980.

3. By revising § 5.20(e) to read as follows:

§ 5.20 Organization of a national bank.

* * * * *

(e) Fees. An initial filing fee of $6,500 is required at the time of application for investigating, processing and deciding each "Application to Organize a National Bank." If preliminary approval is granted, an additional fee of $6,500 is assessed to process the various organizational documents and to verify that all requirements for the granting of a charter have been fulfilled.

* * * * *

4. In the newly amended 12 CFR 5.21 that the Office published elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register, (Docket No. 81-6) paragraph (e) is revised to read as follows:

§ 5.21 Organization of an interim national bank.

* * * * *

(e) Fee. A filing fee of $6,500 is required at the time of application for investigating, processing, and deciding each application. No further charges will be made for the subsequent merger or consolidation.

§ 5.22 Organization of a national bank limited to trust powers.

* * * * *

If preliminary approval is granted, an additional fee of $6,500 is assessed to process the various organizational documents and to verify that all requirements for the granting of the charter have been fulfilled.

* * * * *

6. By revising § 5.24(a)(3) to read as follows:

§ 5.24 Conversion.

[Docket No. 81-7]

Rules, Policies and Procedures for Corporate Activities; Written Comments and Hearings on Applications

AGENCY: Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Treasury.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency ("Office") is adopting a final rule governing public participation, through written comments and hearings, in its processing of applications for structural and corporate activities. The rule sought to: (1) improve the quality of information presented orally and in writing; (2) eliminate any unnecessary costs or delays in the decision making process; and, (3) facilitate the receipt of information from members of the public.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 13, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Darrel W. Dochow, Deputy Director, Bank Organization and Structure Division (BOSD), Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, 490 L'Enfant Plaza East, SW., Washington, D.C. 20219. Telephone (202) 447-1184. Further information may also be obtained from any of the 14 Regional Directors for Corporate Activities in the offices of the Regional Administrators of National Banks.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The staffs of the Bank Organization and Structure Division and Regulations Analysis Division contributed significantly to the drafting of this document.

Background

On October 15, 1980, the Office proposed a revision to its rule governing written comments and hearings on applications (12 CFR 5.10 and 5.11) by national banks for structural and corporate activities. Hearings are not required by any federal statute and are totally discretionary on the part of the Office. The Office holds a hearing on an application, upon request or on its own motion, whenever a hearing appears necessary to obtain facts in reaching a decision. Such hearings are not adversary proceedings. They are informal and fact-gathering in nature and are not subject to the Administrative Procedure Act hearing procedures found in 12 CFR 19.

The proposed rule specified that: (1) a request for a hearing must explain why an oral presentation, rather than submission of written comments, is necessary; (2) a request for a hearing must state the nature of the issues or facts to be presented; (3) persons requesting a hearing may request that it be held at a particular time and location; (4) persons requesting a hearing may ask that the costs of the hearing be paid by the Office; and, (5) references to "protestants" in the prior rule be replaced with "interested persons."

Request for Comments

The proposed rulemaking was published on pages 60611-12 of the Federal Register on October 15, 1980, and comments were invited for 60 days, ending December 15, 1980. Comments were received from over 30 sources including consultants, attorneys, independent national banks, bank holding companies, banking trade associations, public interest groups and Office personnel.

General Support for Proposal

Most of the comment letters received expressed support for the proposed requirement that requests for hearings explain both the nature of the issue or the facts to be presented and why an oral presentation is necessary. Some writers felt only a minimal showing should be necessary to support a request for an oral hearing; others felt that a hearing should be held only rarely and that written submissions would be adequate in most instances.

Requests for Specific Time and Place

In general, those commenting on this aspect of the proposed rule felt there was potential for abuse in allowing parties to request a location and time of their choice for a hearing. Since the Regional Administrator will have the needs of all interested parties in mind when considering such requests, the potential for abuse is considered quite small. Accordingly, other than some language changes to clarify the Office's intent, there were no changes in this provision of the rule.

Waiver of Costs

There was a similar concern for the provision in the proposed rule allowing for a waiver of certain hearing costs upon a showing of need by those requesting the hearing. Again, judgment will be exercised by the Regional Administrator in granting requests for a waiver of costs and it is not intended or expected that the Office, applicants, or other national banks will have to bear a substantial financial burden. Language changes in this provision were made to clarify that the hearing expenses which can be waived include only the cost of two transcripts for the Office, one transcript for use by the person(s) requesting the waiver, and the hearing room. In addition, the language was changed to clarify that the person(s) requesting a waiver of costs must submit a showing of financial need in addition to stating why such waiver is necessary or appropriate.

Comment Period

Only two comments were received on the length of the period (21 days) for filing a protest, hearing request or other comments following publication of the legal notice of an application. One writer expressed the view that this period is too brief, the other that it is too long. No changes were made in the length of the period for comment.

Language Changes

Several paragraphs in the final rule contain changes in language. The language changes are not intended to affect the substance of the proposed rule.

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth in this preamble, §§ 5.10 and 5.11 are revised as follows:

1. The authority citation for Part 5 is as follows:

Authority: 12 U.S.C. Section 1 et seq. and 93a.

2. Sections 5.10 and 5.11 of 12 CFR Part 5 are revised to read as follows:

§ 5.10 Written comments and requests for a hearing.

(a) Written Comments. Within 21 days after the last notice by publication required by § 5.8(a) or an applicable statute, any person may submit to the Regional Administrator written comments and data on an application. The 21-day period may be extended by the Regional Administrator if in the judgment of the Regional Administrator, the applicant has failed to file all required supporting data in time to permit review by interested persons, or if such other extenuating circumstances, as the Regional Administrator may determine extenuating, occur.

(b) Requests for a Hearing. (1) Within 21 days after the last notice by publication required by § 5.8(a) or an applicable statute, any person may submit to the Regional Administrator a written request for a hearing on an application. The 21-day period may be extended by the Regional Administrator if, in the judgment of the Regional Administrator, the applicant has failed to file all required supporting data in time to permit review by interested persons, or if such other extenuating circumstances, as the Regional Administrator may determine extenuating, occur.

(2) The request shall state the nature of the issues or facts to be presented and the reasons why written submissions would be insufficient to make an adequate presentation to the Office. If the reasons are related to factual disputes, the disputes shall be described. Hearings are not forums for legal arguments. Comments challenging the legality of an application should be submitted separately in writing.

(3) Written requests for hearings as well as requests for another location or time and requests for waiver of hearing-related costs shall be evaluated by the Regional Administrator, who may grant or deny such requests in whole or in part (or may refer the request to the Washington Office for decision). A hearing request shall generally be granted only if it is determined that written submissions would be inadequate or that a hearing would otherwise be beneficial to the decision making process. A hearing may be limited to issues considered material by the Office.

(4) When a hearing is granted it shall ordinarily be conducted during normal business hours in the city where the Office of the Regional Administrator is located. However, if the person requesting a hearing requests another location, or time of day other than normal working hours, the written request for the hearing shall state the desired location and/or time of day and the reasons such alternatives are necessary and/or appropriate.

(5) A transcript of each hearing is arranged for by the Office. The cost of one copy of the transcript for use by the person(s) requesting the hearing, two copies of the transcript for the Office, and the cost of a hearing room are generally borne by the person(s) requesting and being granted the hearing. If a person requesting a hearing desires a waiver of these costs, the written request for the hearing shall state the reasons such waiver is necessary or appropriate and must include a showing of financial need. When a waiver is granted, the costs of the two transcripts for the Office and the one transcript for use by the person(s) requesting the waiver, as well as the costs of the hearing room, generally shall be borne by the Office.

(c) Action on Requests for Hearings. If a request for a hearing has been made and denied, the Regional Administrator shall notify the applicant and all interested persons and shall state the reasons for the denial. Interested persons may submit to the Regional Administrator, with simultaneous copies to the applicant, additional written comments or data on the application within 14 days after the date of the notice of denial. Copies of such written submissions or data shall simultaneously be sent by such interested persons to the applicant. The applicant shall be provided an additional seven days, after the 14-day deadline has expired, within which to respond to any comments submitted within the 14-day period. The Regional Administrator may waive this seven day period if so requested by the applicant. A copy of any response submitted by the applicant shall also be mailed simultaneously by the applicant to the interested persons.

§ 5.11 Hearings.

(a) Notice of Hearing. When a request for a hearing made in accordance with § 5.10 is granted, or when a hearing is ordered because the Office believes that it is in the public interest, the Regional Administrator shall issue a Notice of Hearing. This Notice of Hearing shall:

(1) Set forth the subject matter of the application and the date, time and place where the hearing shall be held, and, if applicable, the issues which shall be addressed at the hearing;

(2) Be sent to the applicant and to the person(s) requesting the hearing or who made written comments to the Regional Administrator, and to any other person(s) the Regional Administrator believes would be likely to provide useful information at the hearing.

(b) Date of Hearing. A hearing shall be held as soon as practicable after granted or ordered, but generally not sooner than 30 days from the close of the 21-day comment period described in § 5.10(a).

(c) Participation in Hearings. Each person who wishes to be heard must notify the Regional Administrator within 10 days after the date of the Notice of Hearing of his or her intention to particapate in the hearing. The Regional Administrator shall determine which persons may participate in the hearing.

Each such person shall be known as a "participant" in connection with the hearing rules. Participants shall submit to the Regional Administrator, applicant, and such other person(s) as the Regional Administrator may require, the number and names of witnesses and a copy of each exhibit he or she wishes to present. Such information shall be received by the Regional Administrator, applicant, and participants at least five days prior to the hearing.

(d) Presiding Officer. The Office shall designate the presiding officer at a hearing who will have the authority to appoint a panel of assistants. The presiding officer shall determine all procedural questions not governed by this section and shall have the authority to limit the number of witnesses and to impose such time limitations as he or she deems reasonable.

(e) Hearing Rules. (1) Presentations. The applicant and participants shall each be permitted to make an opening statement, stating concisely what information they will present. The applicant and participants may then present witnesses, materials and data. Questions may be addressed to the applicants, participants and witnesses after each of their presentations by any member of the hearing panel, applicant or participant. The applicant and participants shall then concisely summarize their positions.

(2) Witnesses. The presence of witnesses is the responsibility of the applicant and participants. All witnesses will be present on their own volition, but any person appearing as a witness may be subject to questioning by the applicant, participants, or any member of the panel. The refusal of a witness to answer questions may be considered by the Office in determining the weight to be accorded the testimony of that witness. Witnesses shall not be sworn.

(3) Information Submitted. The presiding officer shall have the authority to exclude materials or data which he or she deems to be improper or irrelevant. Formal rules of evidence shall not be applicable to these hearings. Documentary material must be of a size consistent with ease of handling, transportation and filing. Two copies of all documentary materials must be furnished to the Office and one copy to the applicant and each participant. While large exhibits may be used during the hearing, copies of such exhibits must be provided in reduced size for submission as part of the record.

(f) Closing the Public File. If requested by the applicant or a participant, the hearing record shall remain open for 14 days following receipt of the transcript by the Regional Administrator, during which time the applicant and participants may submit additional written statements. A copy of any statement submitted during this period of time shall also be sent simultaneously to the parties to the hearing. These statements, the hearing transcript, and documentary material presented at the hearing shall automatically be deemed a part of the public file. The public file shall close on the date the hearing record closes, after which date the Office shall complete the processing of the application.

[Docket No. 81-9]

Rules, Policies, and Procedures for Corporate Activities: Organization of an "Interim National Bank"; Delegated Authority

AGENCY: Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Treasury.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency ("Office") is adopting a rule to eliminate unnecessary duplication and delay in charter applications filed solely to facilitate bank holding company acquisitions or reorganizations.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 13, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: James V. Elliott, Director, Bank Organization and Structure Division (BOSD), Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, 490 L'Enfant Plaza East, SW., Washington, D.C. 20219. Telephone (202) 447-1184. Further information may also be obtained from the Regional Director for Corporate Activities in any office of the Regional Administrator of National Banks.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The primary draftsman of this document is James V. Elliott, Director, BOSD. Several other persons contributed to the draft.

Background

On October 15, 1980, the Office proposed at 45 FR 68612 a revised rule (12 CFR 5.21) to eliminate duplication and delay in charter applications filed solely to facilitate the creation of a new bank holding company or the acquisition of 100 percent of the outstanding voting shares of an existing bank.

The statutory framework for national bank mergers and acquisitions was established prior to the expansion of bank holding companies. These statutes (12 U.S.C. Sections 181, 214a, 215, 215a and 1828(c)) generally provide only for mergers between two banks or an acquisition of a bank by another bank. Thus, if a bank desires to reorganize into a one-bank holding company structure, or if an existing bank holding company and an independent bank desire to have the bank become a subsidiary national bank of the bank holding company, only two avenues are available:

1. The holding company may make an exchange or tender offer for all of the outstanding bank stock. In practice, however, it is extremely difficult to obtain 100 percent acceptance of such an offer, and the desired result, a wholly-owned subsidiary bank, is unattainable.

2. A new bank subsidiary of the holding company can be created, and the new bank and the existing bank can merge or consolidate. The new bank, in such cases, does not engage in the business of banking until it becomes the surviving bank after the merger or consolidation. Thus, the new bank is known as an "interim bank," because it exists as a non-operating shell during the interim between its chartering and the effective date of the merger or consolidation.

Under current rules, the interim bank charter application and the subsequent merger or consolidation application are each subject to full processing requirements as if they were totally independent events. Many procedures are either duplicated or occur consecutively. Adoption of the proposal is expected to eliminate these duplications and delays.

Request for Comments

The proposed rulemaking was published on pages 68612-68614 of the Federal Register of October 15, 1980, and comments were invited for 60 days ending December 15, 1980. Comments were received from over 30 sources including consultants, attorneys, independent national banks, bank holding companies, banking associations and OCC personnel. The following summarizes the comments, suggestions and action taken.

Broad Support for Proposal

Considerable support was expressed for the proposal for chartering an interim national bank. Specifically, support was given to the provisions for prompt preliminary approval of the interim application, with substantive review of the proposed transaction when the merger application is considered; delegated authority to the Regional Administrator to grant preliminary approval of the interim application; and concurrent public comment and notice periods.

This final rule is substantially the same as the proposed rule. However, the following changes were made to reflect the suggestions received in response to the request for comments.

Waiver of the Pre-Filing Meeting

Many bank holding companies participate frequently in the formation of interim national banks. It was suggested that, with this prior experience, the pre-filing meeting could become a delaying factor as well as a mere formality and should be waived. Accordingly, provision has been made in § 5.21(d) for the pre-filing meeting to be waived on request at the discretion of the Regional Administrator, his or her delegate, or a superior official.

Delegation to Regional Administrator

Support was expressed for the delegation of authority to the Regional Administrator to approve all interim bank applications promptly. However, it was noted that, since no substantive review of the proposal would occur at the time of the interim bank application, those transactions involving banks with supervisory concerns would not be thoroughly analyzed until after considerable time had elapsed and expense had been incurred. Accordingly, the final rule is written to delegate authority to the Regional Administrator to approve promptly, without substantive analysis, interim bank applications filed by banks which are not the subject of special supervisory concerns or otherwise identified by the Regional Administrator or Washington Office as requiring Washington review. Paragraph (h) of § 5.21 is being amended and a paragraph is being added to the general delegations at § 5.3(c)(5) to reflect this change in delegations. In this way, the proposals of banks receiving special supervisory attention will be initially analyzed at the interim bank filing stage, thus eliminating an unnecessary merger filing when supervisory concerns result in disapproval of the interim bank application.

The final rule also now includes, at paragraph (h), the procedures followed when the Regional Administrator recommends that an interim bank application be disapproved. The application is forwarded to the Comptroller with the Regional Administrator's recommendation for decision by the Comptroller or delegate.

Issues not Addressed

Several issues raised in the letters of comment have not been addressed in the rule adopted today. Most of the suggestions pertaining to information requirements which are part of the application process are reflected in the revised interim bank forms and procedures, rather than in the rule itself. Similarly, the dissenting shareholders' appraisal rights and procedures are being considered as a separate issue; revised procedures are now being developed and will be announced in due course.

Several writers suggested that the process could be made even more efficient if the interim national bank application and merger application were filed at the same time. We recognize that such concurrent filing would save time. However, the national banking laws provide that a merger agreement can be entered into only by incorporated banks. The interim bank does not become a body corporate until acceptance by the Office of the Articles of Association, which follows preliminary approval of the interim bank application. Therefore, the process must contain two phases: filing of the interim bank application, and filing of a merger application executed by the incorporated interim bank and the existing principal bank.

Finally, several commenters wrote that there should be no filing fee for interim bank applications as no substantive review takes place at this stage. The fees for all corporate filings are subject to change pursuant to a proposal published December 24, 1980, in the Federal Register (45 FR 85042). Today the Office finalized its combined fee of $6,500 for processing the interim national bank application and the subsequent merger or consolidation application. (See 81-6 published in this issue.) Although little substantive analysis will take place on most interim bank applications prior to granting preliminary approval, the costs of processing the application are nonetheless real. In addition, the increased fee reflects substantive processing of the interim bank through the merger application process.

For the reasons set forth in the preamble, Part 5 of Title 12, Code of Federal Regulations, is amended as set forth below:

1. The authority citation for Part 5 is as follows:

Authority: 12 U.S.C. Section 1 et seq.

2. 12 CFR Section 5.21 is revised with the exception of paragraph (e), which is revised in OCC Docket No. 81-6 published elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register. As revised, paragraphs (a) through (d) and (f) through (k) of § 5.21 read as follows:

§ 5.21 Organization of an Interim National Bank.

(a) Scope: Interim National Bank Defined. This section applies to applications to organize an interim national bank. An interim national bank is a new national bank which is organized solely to facilitate the creation of a bank holding company or the acquisition of 100 percent of the voting shares of an existing bank. It is always part of a proposed two-step process wherein the interim national bank, prior to commencing business, will be a party to a merger or consolidation with an existing bank.

(b) Authority. 12 U.S.C. Sections 1, 21, 22, 26, 27, 92a, 93a, 214, 215, 215a, 1814(b), 1816 and 1828(c).

(c) Rules of General Applicability. Sections 5.8(a), 5.10, and 5.11 do not apply to applications to organize an interim national bank. The application for an interim national bank and the subsequent merger or consolidation application will be melded into a single process requiring, after the filing of the subsequent merger or consolidation application, one opportunity for public comment after notice is published by the applicant and one substantive review by the Office (see § 5.33).

(d) Pre-filing Meeting. The proposed organizers of a national bank should schedule a meeting with the Regional Administrator in the region where the application will be filed, prior to submitting an application for filing. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the proposal and the Office rules, policies, and procedures, including means to combine many procedural and processing requirements. Applicants will be furnished forms and documents which should be filed with the application. The pre-filing meeting may be waived by the Regional Administrator, his or her delegate or a superior official.

* * * * *

(f) Investigation. Generally, no investigation of the interim bank application will be conducted. However, the Regional Office generally will perform an investigation after the filing of the merger or consolidation application. An additional investigation fee, in accordance with Part 8, will not be charged except in unusual circumstances as determined by the Regional Administrator, his or her delegate or a superior official.

(g) Decisions. Preliminary approval of all interim national banks will be specifically conditioned on approval of the subsequent merger or consolidation. This preliminary approval will be rescinded automatically if the merger or consolidation is not approved or if subsequent approval for establishment of a holding company or for acquisition of the interim bank by the holding company is not received within 12 months, unless an extension has been requested and granted. If the merger or consolidation application is not filed within six months of preliminary approval of the interim national bank, that preliminary approval automatically will be withdrawn unless an extension has been requested and granted.

(h) Delegated Authority to Grant Preliminary Approval. Each Regional Administrator has been delegated authority to grant preliminary approval of, but not to disapprove, applications to charter interim national banks if the criteria listed at § 5.3(c)(5) are met. If any of the criteria are not met, or the Regional Administrator recommends disapproval, the application must be forwarded to the Washington Office for final decision.

(i) Subsequent Merger or Consolidation. When the interim national bank's duly executed Articles of Association and organization certificate are filed with and accepted by the Regional Office, the interim national bank becomes a body corporate, and may then legally enter into the merger or consolidation agreement. Only after these steps are completed can the application to merge or consolidate the interim and existing banks be filed and processed.

(j) Consummation. Prior to consummating the merger or consolidation, all steps necessary to perfect the organization of a national bank must be completed.

(k) Forms.

(1) Forms to be used by Applicant: (Reserved)

(2) Forms to be used by Office:

CC 7020–08: Confidential Memorandum to the Comptroller of the Currency—Application to Organize an Interim National Bank.

CC 7020–08: Regional Office Procedures—Interim National Bank Applications.

CC 7020–11: Washington Office Procedures—Interim National Bank Applications.

3. 12 CFR 5.3 is amended by adding a new subparagraph (5) to the end of paragraph (c) as follows:

§ 5.3 Corporate activities processing and delegations.

* * * * *

(c) * * *

(5) Each Regional Administrator is authorized to preliminarily approve (but not to disapprove) applications to charter interim national banks if all of the following criteria are met:

(i) The bank is not the subject of special supervisory concern and has not been otherwise identified by the Multinational Banking, Special Projects, Customer and Community Programs, or Chief National Bank Examiner Departments/Divisions as a bank requiring their review and comment;

(ii) The Regional Administrator has not noted any significant matters that would make a review by the Washington Office desirable; and

(iii) Any additional requirements imposed by § 5.21 of this Part have been satisfied.

[Docket No. 81-8]

Assessment of Fees; National Banks; District of Columbia Banks

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (Office) is revising its trust examination fees to recover direct expenses and overhead expenses, as mandated by statute. Fees have been unchanged since 1969. Revision is necessitated by increased Office expenses for trust examinations, which are most properly recovered from banks subject to these specialized examinations.

DATES: The new fee applies to trust examinations commenced after December 31, 1980. However, fees owed under this new fee schedule are not due until May 1, 1981.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The principal drafters of this document are David Nebhut, Financial Economist, Banking Research and Economic Analysis Division, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, (202) 447–1825, and Jerome Edelstein, Attorney, Legal Advisory Services Division, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, (202) 447–1880.

The Office is amending the portion of 12 CFR Part 8 governing assessments for trust examinations of national banks, District of Columbia banks and trust companies, and Federal branches or agencies engaged solely in trust activities, and other entities for which the Office performs trust examinations. Authority for the Office to assess trust examination fees is based upon 12 U.S.C. 482 and 26 DC Code 102.

Assessment of fees assuring coverage of all trust examination costs is required by statute. Title 12 U.S.C. 482 provides in pertinent part:

> [A]ll national banks exercising fiduciary powers and all banks or trust companies in the District of Columbia exercising fiduciary powers shall be assessed by the Comptroller of the Currency for the examination of their fiduciary activities a fee adequate to cover the expense thereof.

A Notice of Proposed Rulemaking on revision of trust examination fees was published on pages 85045–85048 of the Federal Register of December 24, 1980. A clarification was published on page 3237 of the Federal Register of January 14, 1981. Comments were received from forty-two sources, including national banks and trade associations.

Need for Increased Fees

Revision is necessary to assure continued compliance with 12 U.S.C. 482, set forth above. The increase in the fee is proposed at this time because the cost of trust examinations, if the fee schedule is unchanged, is expected to exceed trust examination revenues by $4.9 million in 1981. Fees have been unchanged since 1969. The deficit is caused by three significant factors: (1) increasing salaries since 1969 and the increasing number of trust examiners needed to perform more complex trust examinations; (2) the loss in 1974 by the Office of rent free space in government office buildings, and (3) higher costs to the Office due to increases in the price of goods and services caused by inflation. To avoid this shortfall, the Office will assess the 1,700 national banks and other entities with active trust departments for the total direct and overhead expenses of trust examinations. This will avoid the need to spread overhead costs properly attributable to trust examinations among all 4,446 national banks and District of Columbia banks, including those which do not exercise trust powers.

As proposed, the new fee applies to trust examinations begun after December 31, 1980, to enable the Office to avoid a deficit in this area for 1981 which would necessitate having to pass through those costs to all national banks through the semiannual assessment. Fees for trust examinations begun since December 31, 1980, and completed prior to May 1, 1981, will be due May 1, 1981. Banks undergoing subsequent examinations will be billed after the completion of the examination.

The following summarizes the comments on the Office's proposal to increase trust examination fees and the Office's response.

General Comments

Many of the 42 comment letters discussed the practice of billing according to the amount of on-site and off-site time spent by trust examiners in the conduct of the examination, the definition of billable time, and the methods and procedures used in scheduling and conducting trust examinations.

The Office, at this time, is not proposing to change practices currently in effect. However, the Office seeks new ideas which might lead to increased efficiency and better implementation of its statutory responsibilities. The comments containing such ideas are welcome and the Trust Examinations Division is reviewing them.

One point, however, regarding what constitutes billable hours needs clarification because of a misunderstanding by several commenters. Hours spent by examiners on travel time do not constitute billable hours. Charges levied are based only on hours spent by examiners at the bank and on the number of hours spent by examiners working on the examination report while outside of the bank. No change in this policy has been instituted.

Size of Increase

Numerous commenters focused on the size of the proposed increase. Several complimented the Office for basing the fees on the cost of the examination. Several others thought that the proposed fee is reasonable and is justified by the facts presented in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

Most, however, were critical of the size of the increase and suggested methods to hold the increase down or delay its effectiveness. Four commenters suggested that it be phased in over a period of up to five years. The Office had considered, but rejected that possibility prior to publishing its Notice of Proposed Rulemaking because of the large deficits incurred by the Office's trust division. As stated, if fees are not increased, the 1981 deficit is projected to be about $4.9 million. To delay full implementation of the fee schedule would not be consistent with the statutory requirement that banks exercising fiduciary power shall be assessed a fee adequate to cover the cost of their examination, as required by 12 U.S.C. 482, and would force all banks, through the semiannual assessment, to provide a multimillion dollar annual subsidy to banks with trust departments.

None of the comments suggesting the phase-in of the fees presented arguments showing a need to delay full implementation of the schedule. As one commenter wrote, "* * * such an approach [delayed implementation] would be a benefit to those of us in the field who are under the dual constraints of budget and profitability goals." However, this does not justify shifting part of that burden to other banks, which do not have trust departments, but have their own budget and profitability goals.

Five banks questioned the Office's statutory authority to assess trust departments for not only the direct, but the indirect or overhead costs of examinations. Those overhead costs, as set forth in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, include supervision of trust examiners and the portion of expenses incurred for operations and administrative functions in Washington D.C. and the regions, and the portion of rent in Washington, D.C., attributable to the trust examination functions of the Office. The statutory history of 12 U.S.C. 482 makes clear that the Office has authority to charge for overhead expenses. S. Rep. No. 400, 84th Cong. (1956); H.R. Rep. No. 1816, 84th Cong. (1956). See also 102 Cong. Rec., 6549 (April 18, 1956) (remarks of Rep. Brown). Consequently, the Office, as proposed, will recover its overhead expenses attributable to its trust functions through its trust assessment.

Three commenters thought that well-run trust departments should be charged a reduced fee. The Office believes that basing the total charge on the number of hours required to conduct an examination results in a smaller fee for a well-run trust department than for a similarly sized trust department that is not well run. One commenter suggested that increasing complexity of trust examinations, one of the reasons cited by the Office in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking for the increase, was largely caused by this Office. However, as the Notice made clear, much of the complexity has resulted from enactment by Congress of various statutes including the Employee Retirement Income Security Act in 1974, the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975, and various consumer laws in the 1970s. Another commenter suggested that increased costs of trust examinations resulting from new laws should be paid from "general revenues."

The Office has no "general revenues." Trust examination costs are paid through trust fees; corporate application costs are paid through application and related fees; and costs associated with maintaining the safety and soundness of the national banking system through the general examination process and other supervisory activities are paid through the semiannual assessment. Another commenter thought that overhead expenses related to trust examinations should be recovered from general tax revenue. As stated, the Office receives no such revenue.

Effect on Small Banks

Five commenters were concerned with the effect that the increasing costs could have on the profitability of small banks. However, considering the small number of comments on the issue and the failure of any of those that were received to indicate that the fees would force them to seriously reconsider providing trust services, the Office perceives no reason to attempt to fashion a fee structure in derogation of the statutory mandate regarding the assessment of fees.

A commenter representing a small bank thought the new fee would lead to the assignment of lesser experienced personnel to perform examinations in small banks. No such change in policy regarding assignment of personnel is contemplated.

Flat Fee

Seventeen commenters opposed the change by the Office from a two-level fee structure to a flat fee. The present structure sets a fee for the examiner-in-charge and a lesser fee for assisting examiners. The proposed fee is a flat rate for every examiner.

Many commenters questioned whether a less experienced examiner should be billed at the same rate as an examiner with several years of experience. Some thought the fee should be based on each examiner's salary increased by a factor to cover the Office's overhead expenses. Some thought the fee should vary according to the experience of the examiner.

There are two problems with either approach. First, those approaches assume that an examiner's speed varies with that individual's experience or salary level. If this assumption is incorrect, then high hourly fees would not be offset by reduced hours. Experience, thoroughness and competence do not necessarily translate into speed. Further, since the rule now being adopted by the Office relates overhead costs to direct costs, those proposals assume that a more highly paid examiner utilizes more in the way of overhead costs per hour than a lower paid examiner. This is not a supportable assumption.

Further, the end result of suggestions proposed by the commenters and the Office are the same. The Office must recover its expenses from examinations. In forming examination teams, a mix of different levels of experience is usually sought to assure that newer examiners receive essential experience while each examination is conducted under proper supervision. If fees for less experienced examiners were reduced, fees for more experienced examiners would have to rise to enable the Office to recover all trust examination expenses through trust examination fees. Further, variance in fees among examiners could have an unnecessarily harsh impact on banks with small trust departments requiring examination by only one or two examiners. While one commenter representing a small bank thought that less experienced examiners could be assigned to examine that bank's trust department at a smaller hourly fee, the Office believes that at least one experienced examiner generally is required at an examination. This results in a higher proportion of less experienced examiners conducting examinations of small trust departments. Consequently, the average hourly fee for small banks would be significantly larger than for a large trust department with a greater proportion of less experienced examiners conducting the examination. The small bank paying the greater hourly fee will have no assurance that it would be offset by a reduction in the amount of time necessary to conduct the examination.

Another commenter suggested that the Office establish a "retainer" for each trust department to include all normal and expected charges for a given year, based on the size and complexity of a client's needs. However, the task of establishing a retainer with more than 1,700 banks on an individual basis would increase administrative time and expense and hence, trust examination fees.

The Office recognizes that the contribution of new examiners is below that of more experienced personnel. Consequently, the Office has decided to waive the charge for time spent by examiners with under six months of experience. As is the current practice, no charge will be assessed for time spent by examiners hired on a temporary basis.

Retroactivity

Three commenters opposed the Office's proposal to apply the new schedule to all trust examinations begun after December 31, 1980. One of the commenters stated without elaboration that this would work a hardship on banks which had already established budgets for 1981. The other two commenters gave no reason for their position. The only other commenter to address the question of the effective date supported the action proposed by the Office.

Based on the comments the Office believes there is no reason to alter its proposal. A January 1, 1981, effective date is necessary to avoid major trust-related shortfalls to the Office in 1981. Announcement of the proposal was not made until December 24, 1981, in order that the Office could calculate its fees based on the latest available data. Further, as demonstrated in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, future annual changes in fees should not be drastic and banks are now on notice that they may occur annually, if needed. Thus, banks may take such a possibility into consideration when planning their future budgets.

Rebates/Surcharges

As stated in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, the proposed hourly fee is based on projections. Consequently, there is not absolute certainty that the hourly fee will equal hourly expenses. In anticipation of such variations, the Notice requested comments on whether compensation should be made for deviations through surcharges or rebates when actual expenses are known. Only two commenters responded to this question and both opposed the suggestion. The Office has decided not to provided for rebates or surcharges.

For the reasons set out in the preamble, Part 8 of Chapter I of Title 12 of the Code of Federal Regulations is revised as set forth below:

1. The authority citation for Part 8 is amended as set forth below:

Authority: R.S. 5240, as amended, 12 U.S.C. 482, 12 U.S.C. 3103, and in Section 3, 47 Stat. 1566, 26 D.C. Code 102.

2. Section 8.7 is revised to read as follows:

§ 8.7 Hourly rate for trust examinations.

(a) The assessment contained in this subpart is made pursuant to authority contained in R.S. 5240, as amended, 12 U.S.C. 482 and in section 3, 47 Stat. 1566, 26 D.C. Code 102. Those statutes provide that the Comptroller assess fees adequate to cover the cost of each trust examination.

(b) To assure continued compliance with the statutory requirement, national banks and other entities with trust departments examined by this Office are assessed a fee which recovers the total direct and overhead expenses of the examination. This fee will be reviewed annually according to the method set forth in paragraph (d) of this section to determine whether changes in such expenses require a revision of the fee.

(c) The hourly fee for trust examinations commenced after December 31, 1980, is $32.44. The total fee for a trust examination is the hourly fee multiplied by the number of hours examiners spend at the bank and the number of hours spent by examiners working on the examination report while outside of the bank. The Office will waive the fee for time spent by examiners with less than six months of experience and for those hired on a temporary basis.

(d) The hourly rate set forth in paragraph (c) of this section represents the total expenses of conducting trust examinations as set forth in the budget for the year in which the hourly fee is applicable, divided by the projected number of billable hours for that year.

(1) Total expenses of trust examinations include direct expenses and overhead expenses..

(i) Direct expenses of the examination include travel expenses and trust examiner's salaries and benefits.

(ii) Overhead expenses include:

(A) Regional office overhead expenses related to trust examinations. Those are calculated by determining the ratio of the number of field trust examiners to total field examiners and applying it to total budgeted Regional office overhead expenses.

(B) Expenses of Washington, D.C. operations and administrative functions which are related to trust examinations. Those are calculated by determining the ratio of the number of trust positions to total Office positions and applying it to administrative expenses budgeted for the operations and administrative units under the supervision of the Senior Deputy Comptroller for Operations.

(C) Expenses budgeted for the Washington Office Trust Examination Division, which supervises the field examination and 50 percent of the expenses budgeted for the Deputy Comptroller for Specialized Examinations, who supervises the Washington Office Trust Examination Division, among other functions.

(D) Rental expenses for the Washington Office related to trust examinations. Those are determined by calculating the ratio of Washington Office trust personnel to total Washington Office personnel and applying the ratio to total budgeted Washington rent.

(2) Projected number of billable hours is the total number of hours projected to be spent by trust department examiners in connection with examinations during the year for which the hourly fee is being set. That is determined by adjusting the number of hours worked in the previous year according to the average annual change in billable hours since 1976. This growth rate will be reviewed annually to take into account current trends.

[Docket No. 21022; Amdt. No. 91-175]

Use of FDC Notices to Airmen To Communicate Emergency Regulatory Information and Actions Relating to FAA's Ability To Operate the Air Traffic System

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment updates and clarifies the air traffic flight rules. It adds a new section to expressly provide that FAA Notices to Airmen (NOTAMs) are an authorized means of advising pilots and aircraft operators of the issuance of certain emergency rules and regulations, which have been adopted in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, when such rules and regulations are needed to ensure the FAA's ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System. The existing regulatory provisions authorizing use of NOTAMs to communicate regulatorily significant information are limited to specific situations (such as §§ 91.91, 91.102, and 91.104 of the Federal Aviation Regulations). This amendment clarifies the current process of the FAA by providing that, when emergency conditions relating to the FAA's ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System exist and are not adequately covered by the existing rules and regulations, the FAA may use regulatory ("FDC" coded) NOTAMs to advise pilots and aircraft operators of air traffic rules which have been adopted by the Administrator. FDC NOTAMs provide a timely means for communicating the existence of immediately effective rules from shortly after those rules have been issued until the FAA is able to publish them in the Federal Register. Those emergency rules (including, as appropriate, air traffic requirements, restrictions, or conditions) remain in effect as specified in the rule for the duration of the emergency unless sooner modified or revoked by the Administrator. This amendment does not address the issues raised by FAA Notice No. 80-19, which are being deferred pending further consideration.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Regulatory History

On November 13, 1980, the FAA published Notice No. 80-19 proposing to provide in the air traffic flight rules a new section expressly indicating the current FAA process of issuing "regulatory" Notices to Airmen (FDC NOTAMs) to communicate information of regulatory significance to those directly affected (45 FR 75096). While the proposal dealt primarily with internal FAA procedure and management and did not itself propose to establish any new requirement or burden on pilots or aircraft operators, it was published in notice form to receive public comment on the matter in conjunction with the potential use of FDC NOTAMs in certain situations. Under the proposal in Notice No. 80-19, FDC NOTAMs would be used, for example, if the Administrator finds it necessary to activate the National Air Traffic Control Contingency Plan (which was also published in draft form for public comment at 45 FR 75100). The basic objective of the Contingency Plan is to maximize the number of aircraft, people, and cargo that can be safely accommodated with the reduced air traffic control work force. If the Contingency Plan is activated, in whole or part, the FAA will be making every effort to ensure the continued movement of aircraft to the fullest extent practicable consistent with maintaining flight safety in light of available resources to staff the Air Traffic Control System. However, the proposed rule was independent of the draft contingency plan and addressed other situations in which the adoption of immediately effective flight rules or critical flight information must be promptly communicated to pilots and aircraft operators in the interest of flight safety. Contrary to the views of many commenters, it did not propose to expand the authority of the Administrator in fulfilling the statutory responsibility to provide for the safe and efficient use of the navigable airspace and navigation facilities. The intent of the proposal was to update and clarify the current practice and procedure for using FDC NOTAMs as an effective means of immediately communicating legally adopted emergency rules and regulations. FDC NOTAMs are used when the publication of the emergency rules in the Federal Register as a condition precedent to their becoming effective would unreasonably delay the effectivity of a safety requirement. The FDC NOTAMs are not themselves regulations; they merely communicate information, including essential information concerning regulations already adopted by competent FAA authority. However, in response to public comment on the notice and based on further consideration of the proposal, the FAA has concluded that the instant rule should be limited to emergency actions relating to the FAA's ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System safely and efficiently when existing rules are inadequate to respond to emergency conditions.

Discussion of the Rule in Light of Comments on Notice No. 80-19

For a better understanding of this rule, the following discussion summarizes a number of concerns expressed in response to Notice No. 80-19. Forty-nine public comments were received. The FAA's preliminary review of those comments identified considerable objection to the perceived nature and effect of the use of NOTAMs to advise the public of emergency rules. Those views and resulting suggestions indicate they may be based upon a misunderstanding of the intent and purpose of the proposal. Thus, they will require further review and evaluation to provide adequate and responsible disposition of them. Since the potential exists for disruption of the FAA's ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System at current levels, however, the FAA must be prepared to respond to conditions which might develop with appropriate administrative and regulatory action. Accordingly, it has been determined necessary to adopt a regulation to ensure that pilots and aircraft operators are provided timely notice of any emergency air traffic rules or regulations that may be issued in response to those conditions.

Almost all commenters felt that the FAA already has adequate authority to act in an emergency thereby making the proposed rule unnecessary. The FAA agrees that it has broad authority to respond to an emergency affecting flight safety; however, the adoption of regulatory provisions indicating how the FAA's authority will be exercised and how it will communicate its emergency actions to affected persons is necessary. This amendment does not create or confer on the FAA any new substantive regulatory authority; instead, this amendment deals with process. That is, this amendment codifies in the air traffic rules a principal means by which the necessary regulatory actions are communicated to affected persons pending publication of the rules involved in the Federal Register. Any emergency procedures and resulting actions taken by the FAA will comply fully with the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (the "FA Act"), and the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 551–553). The FA Act gives the FAA Administrator the authority to respond to an emergency and to issue appropriate rules. The authority to prescribe air traffic rules and to designate that airspace in which those rules apply is governed by § 307 of the FA Act which also requires compliance with the Administrative Procedure Act in promulgating those rules. Notice No. 80–19 did not propose to deviate from the FAA's lawful process but simply proposed to codify in the regulations a means by which the FAA communicates emergency, immediately effective, regulatory requirements that will have already been issued by the Administrator. The NOTAM is not the regulation but its message would provide official notice of the adoption of an immediately effective, emergency rule or regulation and the essential information concerning the content of the regulation involved. Telegrams and telephone calls and other forms of nonregulatory communciation may also be used to effect that communication; the proposal in Notice No. 80–19 and this rule concern only the NOTAM system of communication because it is used consistently, though not exclusively, by the FAA in emergencies under the current rules. Thus, any emergency rules so issued would, owing to the need for flexibility and for wide, reliable, and timely distribution, be communicated through the NOTAM system, in the manner currently described in Paragraph 294 of the current Airman's Information Manual (AIM).

The instant rule indicates the FAA's use of FDC NOTAMs as discussed in the AIM. Therefore, the FAA is not expanding its authority but is merely clarifying the regulatory status of FDC NOTAMs for the purposes covered by the rule and the distinction between them and other "informational" but nonregulatory NOTAMs carried in the NOTAM system. The rule is similar to the FAA's other expressed provisions for regulatory NOTAMs concerning certain air traffic rules, such as §§ 91.91, 91.102, and 91.104 of the Federal Aviation Regulations.

Any NOTAM issued pursuant to § 91.100 will reference that section and provide information concerning the effect of the emergency regulation. Persons with knowledge of the regulatory requirements would be required to comply as provided by law. Subsequent publication of the regulation in the Federal Register. will provide constructive legal notice of the emergency regulation to all persons who may not have received the NOTAM or otherwise have legal notice of the adoption of that regulation.

Most commenters expressed concern about potential abuse of the proposed rule in its future application. They felt that the proposed rule could facilitate circumvention of the normal rulemaking process and its safeguards. As previously indicated, however, the FAA will comply fully with the FA Act and Administrative Procedure Act in taking the regulatory actions under the stated emergency conditions. Of course, notice and public procedure would not precede emergency actions because of the time needed to complete that process and because one or more of the exceptions to the requirement to propose rules for public comment before their adoption do not apply to such emergency rulemaking. With regard to the instant rule, it is the FAA's intent only to ensure the integrity of the operation of the Air Traffic Control System during emergency conditions. Thus, the commenters' concerns do not apply to it. However, to eliminate any misunderstanding concerning the purpose of the rule and its scope, it has been written to expressly limit its application to emergency conditions relating to the FAA's ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System and to clarify the effect of the NOTAM. The broader aspects of the rule proposed in Notice No. 80–19 will be considered in the disposition of that notice. Accordingly, the rule being issued herein as a Federal Aviation Regulation is narrower in scope than that originally proposed in Notice No. 80–19. The instant rule also reflects the recommendation of commenters who advocated disassociation of the proposal in the notice from the National Air Traffic Control Contingency Plan.

Some commenters objected to the proposal on the basis that there is no documented need for such a rule. However, a specific emergency condition need not have previously occurred and be documented before rules are developed relating to how the FAA will respond to such an emergency. A failure to anticipate the potential need for emergency actions would not be responsive to the FAA's responsibility to provide flight safety and operate the Air Traffic Control System. A need for contingency planning and providing the means for implementing those plans when necessary is clear. This amendment responds to that part of the need when the Administrator has cause to issue emergency rules concerning the FAA's ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System and, in accordance with the established practice and the proposed rule, communicates them through the NOTAM system. As with other rules providing for regulatory NOTAMs, the proposal recognizes the potential for unusual conditions or events wherein the existing rules do not provide adequate levels of safety in air transportation. In such events (or emergencies), the regulatory significance of such NOTAMs should be expressly provided in the rules.

Some commenters objected to the proposal in Notice No. 80–19 on the basis that the FAA's NOTAM system, to varying degrees, is either ineffective or inappropriate for conveying information of regulatory significance to affected persons. There may well be room for improving the effectiveness of the NOTAM system in particular situations but deficiencies have not been identified of a magnitude that render the system unusable for its intended purposes. Several commenters offered to work with the FAA to improve the NOTAM system's effectiveness for immediately disseminating regulatory information that requires timely, reliable, and wide distribution. However, as noted, the FAA will be reviewing the methods of communicating information of regulatory significance and how to provide the most expeditious and effective means to ensure that information is provided to those affected by it. If found appropriate, additional rulemaking proceedings will be initiated to ensure a thorough public discussion of the subjects and issues involved.

One commenter agreed with the stated intent of the rule proposed in the notice but offered recommended modifications to §§ 91.100 (b) and (c), and on procedural matters. That commenter recommended that proposed § 91.100(b) be revised by deleting reference to the "efficient" use of the navigable airspace because efficiency can be preserved by the normal rulemaking processes and does not warrant emergency action. While improving efficiency does not by itself normally justify emergency action, ignoring efficiency under § 91.100 emergency rules would leave safety as the sole, not just a principal, objective of any rule or regulation issued pursuant to the new section. For example, the measures available to achieve simply the safety objectives could unnecessarily reduce efficiency in the Air Traffic Control System. However, safety, coupled with efficiency, promotes the most prudent and reasonable use of the airspace.

The commenter further recommended that § 91.100(c) be expanded to provide for annotation of NOTAMs issued under this section to reflect their authority. NOTAMs issued pursuant to § 91.100 will be identified as having been issued under that section. Under established practice, each rule, including rules communicated by NOTAM, provides a statement of its legal basis, However, the various means of communicating rules, such as NOTAMs, do not contain the authority statement published in the emergency rule. It is inappropriate to require that procedural matter in the instant § 91.100 rule.

The commenter also recommended publication of a NOTAM's substance as a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) in the Federal Register within five working days after issuance of the NOTAM in order that it would be subjected to the normal rulemaking processes. As previously indicated, an FDC NOTAM is not a rule. It provides notice that a rule has been adopted. The FAA will publish the emergency rules, not an NPRM, in the Federal Register, as soon as practicable after their adoption. However, the FAA will not delay the issuance of a regulatory NOTAM under § 91.100 pending that publication. Under established procedures, the preamble to each rule not preceded by notice requests public comment on the rule and, to the extent practicable, the FAA will consider comments received in evaluating whether the rule should be modified. Further, the regulation will be published for public information even if the emergency conditions have ended and the NOTAM is cancelled before the rule is published. The timeliness of its publication must be reasonable as dictated by the prevailing conditions and publishing constraints which cannot be specified for all cases in new § 91.100. Accordingly, it would not be useful to submit to the "normal" rulemaking process an "emergency" rule that has been properly established under the unusual conditions anticipated by the laws and in accordance with those laws.

The commenter suggested the FAA publish a statement of its responsibilities and liabilities for its actions taken under § 91.100, including any losses sustained during the emergency under the rule. Any NOTAM issued under § 91.100 would simply communciate emergency air traffic rules that have been established in accordance with the FA Act and the Administrative Procedures Act. Those rules will have been issued pursuant to those Acts in response to conditions which those Acts contemplated would necessitate foregoing prior notice and public participation and other routine processes suitable for nonemergency action. In such instances, the FAA, nonetheless, remains responsible for its action under established principles of law which the FAA cannot modify.

The commenter also recommended that the FAA take extraordinary measures to acquaint pilots and aircraft operators with the existence and content of § 91.100 NOTAMs. As relates to the instant rule, the FAA will make every reasonable effort to ensure availability for those FDC NOTAMs issued under the rule. The nature and extent of that effort will be tailored to the existing conditions but will not relieve pilots of their responsibilities prescribed under §§ 91.3, 91.5, and other applicable regulations.

Several commenters took exception to the FAA's determination that the proposal in Notice No. 80-19 was not significant under Executive Order 12044. The FAA continues to stand by that determination even though the Executive Order has since been revoked. It was made in accordance with established procedures and criteria to evaluate regulatory actions. The proposed action in Notice No. 80-19 involves agency procedure for communicating regulatory decisions when an emergency is found to exist. It was not an evaluation of the potential regulatory actions that may be taken in response to those emergency conditions, but an evaluation of the proposed rule which concerns one means by which emergency regulations would be communicated to those affected. Thus, the FAA considered the anticipated impact as so minimal that it did not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation under the Executive Order or implementing guidelines.

Synopsis of the Rule

This amendment establishes a new § 91.100 under the air traffic rules of Part 91, Subpart B. The rule does not itself create any new requirement for pilots or aircraft operators but establishes the FAA procedure for issuing regulatory (FDC) Notices to Airmen to provide information of regulatory significance relating to its ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System during an emergency. The new section, like §§ 91.91, 91.102, and 91.104, is limited to particular situations. It concerns the possible situations where the Administrator determines that an emergency exists, or will exist, relating to the FAA's ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System (including the possible activation of the National Air Traffic Control Contingency Plan). It addresses those situations in which normal flight operations under existing rules and regulations cannot be conducted at the required levels of safety and efficiency. Whenever that occurs, the Administrator, pursuant to statutory authority, may prescribe appropriate rules and regulations that govern flight operations, the use of navigational facilities, and the designation of that airspace in which the rules and regulations apply. If those regulatory requirements must be given effect before they can be published in the Federal Register, the Administrator, or his designee (the Director of the Air Traffic Service), issues a regulatory (FDC) NOTAM to immediately advise pilots and aircraft operators of the existence and import of those requirements that have been issued in the emergency rule. The NOTAMs themselves are not regulations but are the means for immediately communicating to those affected the regulatory requirements already issued under competent authority. As soon as practicable, the Administrator publishes the emergency rules in the Federal Register to achieve the constructive legal notice provided by that publication. In some cases, however, the emergency may have concluded and the rules may have been rescinded before they can be published; in that case publication will simply provide public notice of the action previously taken. The final paragraph of § 91.100 indicates that, because of the regulatory requirements already adopted by competent authority in a regulation before issuance of the FDC NOTAM, no person may operate an aircraft, or other device subject to the regulation, except in accordance with the authorizations, terms, and conditions prescribed in the regulation communicated by the NOTAM. As previously noted, a further discussion of the FDC NOTAM is contained in paragraph 294 of the Airman's Information Manual (AIM); NOTAMs are also covered by FAA Order 7930.2.

Postponement/Effective Date

This amendment to FAR Part 91 involves a matter relating to agency procedure and management of its programs and is needed to clarify the means for communicating certain emergency information of regulatory significance, including that needed in the event of the potential activation of the National Air Traffic Control Contingency Plan. Accordingly, I find that good cause exists for making it effective in less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register and that it is excepted from postponement under the provisions of the President's Memorandum of January 29, 1981 (46 FR 11227; Feb. 6, 1981) for matters related to agency organization, management, or personnel and to emergency situations.

Adoption of the Amendment

Accordingly, Subpart B of Part 91 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 91) is amended effective March 13, 1981, by adding a new § 91.100 to read as follows:

§ 91.100 Emergency air traffic rules.

(a) This section prescribes a process for utilizing Notices to Airmen (NOTAM) to advise of the issuance and operations under emergency air traffic rules and regulations and designates the official who is authorized to issue NOTAMs on behalf of the Administrator in certain matters under this section.

(b) Whenever the Administrator determines that an emergency condition exists, or will exist, relating to the FAA's ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System and during which normal flight operations under this chapter cannot be conducted consistent with the required levels of safety and efficiency—

(1) The Administrator issues an immediately effective Air Traffic rule or regulation in response to that emergency condition, and

(2) The Administrator, or the Director, Air Traffic Service, may utilize the Notice to Airmen (NOTAMs) system to provide notification of the issuance of the rule or regulation.

Those NOTAMs communicate information concerning the rules and regulations that govern flight operations, the use of navigation facilities, and designation of that airspace in which the rules and regulations apply.

(c) When a NOTAM has been issued under this section, no person may operate an aircraft, or other device governed by the regulation concerned, within the designated airspace, except in accordance with the authorizations, terms, and conditions prescribed in the regulation covered by the NOTAM.

(Secs. 307, 313(a), 601, 603, 902, 1110, and 1202, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1348, 1354(a), 1421, 1442, 1443, 1472, 1510, and 1522); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Note.—The FAA has determined that this document involves an emergency regulation which is not significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979). Further, in light of the potential disruption of the FAA's ability to operate the Air Traffic Control System, this amendment provides the procedural basis for timely communicating certain regulatory information and actions in the event of activation of the National Air Traffic Control Contingency Plan or the adoption of similar regulatory actions, which require immediate action. Thus, it is an emergency nonmajor regulation under Executive Order 12291 and the President's Memorandum of January 29, 1981. There are no cost impacts associated with this regulation since it is only procedural. Regulations which are distributed in accordance with the procedures in this amendment will be evaluated individually, as appropriate, to determine whether they have cost impacts.

Issued in Washington, DC, on March 9, 1981.

Charles E. Weithoner,

Acting Administrator.

International Trade Administration

15 CFR Part 386

Destination Control Statements; Diversion of Exports to U.S.S.R.

AGENCY: Office of Export Administration, International Trade Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Section 386.6 of the Export Administration Regulations requires entry of a destination control statement on documentation covering certain exports from the United States; such a statement warns against diversion of the exports to unauthorized destinations. This rule amends 15 CFR Part 386 by inserting new language to provide a clearer warning against diversion of exports to the U.S.S.R. The rule neither expands nor limits the provisions of the Regulations, but is necessary to conform the CFR with the Department of Commerce's Export Administration Regulations.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 13, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Archie Andrews, Director, Exporters' Service Staff, Office of Export Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230 (Telephone: (202) 377–5247 or 377–4811).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Rulemaking Requirements

Section 13(a) of the Export Administration Act of 1979 (Pub. L. 96–72, 50 U.S.C. app. 2401 et seq.) ("the Act") exempts regulations promulgated under the Act from the public participation in rulemaking procedures of the Administrative Procedure Act. Therefore, these regulations are issued in final form. Although there is no formal comment period, public comments on the Regulations are welcome on a continuing basis.

Because this regulation relates to a foreign affairs function of the United States, it is not subject to the 60-day postponement of new regulations imposed by the Presidential memorandum of January 29, 1981, "Postponement of Pending Regulations," nor to Executive Order 12291 (46 FR 13193, February 19, 1981), "Federal Regulation." This rule does not impose a burden under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

This regulation will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small business entities because this rule neither expands nor limits regulatory provisions, but only conforms the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) with the Export Administration Regulations.

Accordingly, Part 386 of the Export Administration Regulations is amended as follows:

1. Section 386.6(a)(1)(iii)(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 386.6 Destination control statements.

Option and Option-Related Transactions During Underwritten Offerings

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Notice of staff positions under statutes and rules.

SUMMARY: The Commission has authorized the issuance of letters setting forth the interpretative and enforcement positions of its Divisions of Market Regulation and Corporation Finance regarding the application of Sections 2(11) and 5 of the Securities Act of 1933, 15 U.S.C. 77b(11), 77e (1976), and Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78j (1976), and Rule 10b–6 thereunder, 17 CFR 240.10b–6 (1980), to certain transactions involving exchange-traded options, and recommendations thereof, by participants in an underwriting of the security underlying such option.

Romeo, Division of Corporation Finance, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, (202) 272–2573. With respect to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") positions, contact: Kenneth S. Spirer, Division of Market Regulation, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, (202) 272–2844 or M. Blair Corkran, Jr., Division of Market Regulation, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, (202) 272–2853.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In 1977, the Securities Industry Association ("SIA") submitted a letter requesting a "clarification of the applicability of certain provisions of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934" to certain call option transactions by broker-dealers who are participating in a distribution of the common stock underlying those options. The staff deferred consideration of the issues raised by the SIA at that time in view of the initiation of the Commission's Special Study of the Options Markets in October 1977.*

In view of the continuing growth of the listed options markets, and in particular the number of underlying stocks on which listed call options are or will be traded, the Commission believes that the issues raised by the SIA in its 1977 letter, as supplemented by letters dated August 3, 1979 and August 14, 1980, are important and that the staff responses will provide guidance to underwriters and their counsel on the issues presented. In addition, while the SIA letters did not address put options, the staff has included in its response references, where appropriate, to put option transactions, in view of the recent expansion of put option listings.

The Commission authorized the Divisions of Market Regulation and Corporation Finance to issue the following letters:

Joseph McLaughlin, Esq., Chairman, Federal Regulation Committee, Securities Industry Association, 20 Broad Street, New York, New York 10005.

Dear Mr. McLaughlin: By letter dated June 28, 1977, as supplemented by letters dated August 3, 1979 and August 4, 1980, and telephone conversations with the staff, the Securities Industry Association (the "SIA") has requested that the staff take a "no-action" position with regard to the application of Rule 10b–6 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act") to certain transactions involving exchange-traded call options by participants in an underwriting of the common stock underlying such options. Although your request did not extend to transactions in exchange-traded put options, our response addresses, where applicable, transactions in both put and call options by participants in an offering of the underlying stock.

The SIA has asked that the staff permit participants in a distribution of securities underlying listed options to effect the following transactions in the related call options or underlying stock during a distribution:

1. Purchase call options in closing transactions to cover a proprietary short call position that was established before becoming a participant in a distribution;

2. Purchase the underlying stock in open market transactions to satisfy an exercise notice assigned against a proprietary short call position that was established before becoming a participant in the distribution; and

3. Exercise call options that were acquired before becoming a participant in the distribution.

The SIA has also requested similar relief to permit a participant in a distribution of the underlying securities to recommend that customers effect the transactions listed above. We discuss each question and set forth our response below. We discuss also the application of Rule 10b–6 to transactions effected for accounts as to which a participant in the distribution or an associated person of a participant exercises investment discretion ("managed accounts").

A. Whether, under Rule 10b–6, an underwriter or a prospective underwriter can purchase call options to close out a short call position or sell put options to close out a long put position where such positions existed before it became an underwriter.

As a preliminary matter, this question raises the issue of whether an exchange-traded call option is, for purposes of Rule 10b–6, a "right to purchase" the security that is the subject of the distribution. Although, as noted in the SIA's June 28, 1977 letter, the reference in Rule 10b–6 to a "right to purchase" may have been initially intended for subscription rights issued to existing shareholders, the staff has not so limited its interpretation of the rule. We have applied the term "right to purchase" to other securities whenever it has appeared that the purchase of those securities was likely to have the direct effect of lessening or eliminating selling pressure on (or attracting buyers to) a related security that was the subject of a distribution. Thus, warrants, convertible securities, and target securities in exchange offers and mergers have been deemed rights to purchase the security that is the subject of the distribution. As a preliminary matter, therefore, the staff concludes that an exchange-traded call option should also be regarded as a "right to purchase" as that term is used in Rule 10b–6.[1]

The staff also takes the view that Rule 10b–6 applies with respect to the writing of an exchange-traded put option. During the life of the option, the seller of a put has an obligation, contingent upon assignment of an exercise notice, to purchase the underlying stock at the exercise price. Thus, until the put option expires, the seller may be viewed as making a continuing bid for the underlying securities at the exercise price of the option. Rule 10b–6, which makes it unlawful for a participant in a distribution "to bid for . . . any security which is the subject of such distribution," would therefore be applicable.

Finally, it appears that under certain circumstances transactions in exchange-traded put and call options can have a short-term impact upon the market price of the underlying stock. The impact results from the inter-relationship between the options market and the market for the underlying security, and is transmitted through arbitrage transactions based upon the equivalency of certain options positions and the underlying stock, hedging strategies that depend on the relative pricing of an option and its underlying stock, and substitution effects that may occur when the relative pricing of these securities diverges.

Your first question is whether a participant in an underwriting can purchase call options in closing transactions to cover a pre-existing proprietary short position in the option related to the underlying offered equity security. In an analogous situation involving a short stock position, the staff requires a broker-dealer either to cover that short position before agreeing to participate in the underwriting or to maintain the position until it has completed its participation. For the reasons set forth below, however, we believe that a departure from that strict application of Rule 10b–6 is justifiable with respect to covering proprietary short call and long put positions. While the market effects of a given volume of purchases of the stock are direct and somewhat predictable, purchases of the related call options and sales of the related put options have indirect and often indeterminate effects on the underlying stock. Another reason for a departure from Rule 10b–6's prohibitions for options transactions is the operation of the listing standards and position limit rules of the options exchanges.[2]

In response to your request, the Division of Market Regulation will not recommend that the Commission take enforcement action under Rule 10b–6 if a participant in an underwriting with a short call or a long put position that was established before it became a participant in the underwriting effects closing call option purchases or closing put option sales, provided that such transactions are effected before the five business days prior to the proposed commencement of the offering of the underlying stock or such shorter time as the person has been a participant. The offering will be deemed to have commenced at the effective date of the registration statement. The Division of Market Regulation also will not recommend that the Commission take enforcement action under Rule 10b–6 if a participant in an underwriting effects such transactions for its managed accounts, subject to the same five business day provision.[3]

You have also asked whether a participant in an underwriting can recommend that its customers cover pre-existing short call positions during the underwriting of the related common stock. The staff will not recommend that the Commission take enforcement action under Rule 10b–6 if a broker-dealer who is a participant in an offering of an underlying stock recommends and effects closing call option purchases or put option sales, provided that such transactions are effected before the five business days prior to the proposed commencement of the offering of the underlying stock or such shorter time as the person has been a participant. This "no-action" position is limited to short call and long put customer positions that existed before the broker-dealer became a participant in the offering.

B. Whether, under Rule 10b–6, an underwriter or a prospective underwriter may purchase stock in the open market upon receipt of an exercise notice or recommend such transactions to customers.

You have also requested that the staff take a "no-action" position under Rule 10b–6 to permit underwriters and prospective underwriters, during their participation in a distribution of an underlying security, to make open market purchases of that security in order to satisfy an exercise notice assigned against a proprietary short call position related to the underlying security. You have noted that the decision to exercise is not made by the participant in the offering but rather by the holder of a long option position and that exercise notices are randomly allocated in accordance with procedures of the Options Clearing Corporation. Nevertheless, the prophylactic restrictions of Rule 10b–6 apply to conduct that, in many cases, will have manipulative effects regardless of any subjective intent on the part of the purchaser. In addition, while the decision to exercise an option and the assignment of exercise notices are beyond the direct control of the participant, the circumstances under which exercise notices are likely to be received are often highly predictable and participants in an underwriting could attempt to take advantage of such information in scheduling their offerings.

If a participant in an underwriting is assigned an exercise notice against its proprietary option position, it usually does not need to make open market purchases to satisfy the exercise notice. Instead, it normally can borrow stock without undue hardship to fulfill its delivery obligations. Accordingly, the staff declines to take a "no-action" position under Rule 10b–6 to permit a participant in an underwriting to purchase shares of stock in the open market upon receipt of an exercise notice. Inasmuch as a broker-dealer has full discretion over its managed accounts, we would view transactions for such accounts in the same manner as proprietary transactions.

You have also asked whether a participant in an underwriting can recommend that its customers who have been assigned an option exercise notice purchase stock in the open market to satisfy their delivery obligations. Once a writer of a call option receives an exercise notice he must deliver stock, usually within two or three days of the receipt of the notice. Delivery may be effected by purchasing or borrowing the underlying stock, or by utilizing shares which he already owns. In the absence of advice from their brokers, many call writers who receive exercise notices would elect to purchase the underlying shares in the open market (and may have made this decision when the option was written). In these circumstances, it does not appear likely that permitting an underwriter to recommend such purchases when the exercise notice is assigned would substantially increase the amount of open market purchases. Furthermore, it is desirable as a matter of policy that customers receive advice on the alternatives available to them in these circumstances. For these reasons, the Division of Market Regulation will not recommend that the Commission take enforcement action under Rule 10b–6 if a participant in an underwriting recommends that customers who receive exercise notices on short call options positions make open market purchases of that stock, and the participant effects those purchases, provided that the short option positions were established before the firm became a participant in the underwriting of the underlying stock.

C. Whether, under Rule 10b–6, an underwriter or prospective underwriter can exercise a long call position during an underwriting of the underlying stock or recommend such exercise to customers.

Finally, you have asked whether a participant in an underwriting can exercise a proprietary long call position that existed before it became a participant. You state your opinion that the exercise of a long call position should be permitted under exception (vii) of Rule 10b–6, which excludes "the exercise of any right or conversion privilege to acquire any security." The staff, however, has limited the application of this exception to the exercise of a subscription right or convertible security through which the new security would be obtained from the issuer without market impact. By contrast, the exercise of listed options and the purchase of the underlying stock may have a significant market impact upon the underlying security.

[1] Nevertheless, as indicated at page six, infra, we do not interpret the term "right" in exception (vii) to Rule 10b–6(a) to be applicable to exchange-traded call options.

[2] The position limit rules of the options exchanges were recently amended to permit positions of up to 2,000 contracts on the same side of the market. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 17237 (October 22, 1980). Any substantial increase in the position limit rules or a substantial relaxation in listing standards may cause the staff to reconsider the views expressed in this letter.

[3] Since the limitations imposed on the account manager's investment decisions through this condition and the others discussed below would be short-term and minor, we would not anticipate that they would be inconsistent with the account manager's obligations to manage accounts in the interests of the beneficiaries.

Of course, the magnitude of that impact will depend upon the extent to which those who are assigned exercise notices purchase the underlying stock in the open market instead of delivering portfolio or borrowed securities. The staff believes that prohibiting proprietary call option exercises during an underwriting would have a de minimus impact upon the proprietary trading of participants while assuring that the market for the underlying security will not be affected by purchase activity resulting from such exercises. Accordingly, the Division of Market Regulation declines to take a "no-action" position under Rule 10b–6 on this portion of your request. Our position would also apply to the exercise of an option pursuant to the automatic exercise procedures of the Options Clearing Corporation. To avoid the exercise of a long call position, a participant may override these procedures in accordance with OCC Rule 805(f). Finally, inasmuch as a broker-dealer has full discretion over its managed accounts, we would view transactions for such accounts in the same manner as proprietary transactions.

With respect to your request that participants be allowed to recommend that customers exercise their related call options, somewhat different considerations apply. Because options are complex, short-term, wasting assets, the staff deems it desirable, as a matter of policy, to permit a broker-dealer to give continuing advice until the option position expires or is closed.

Accordingly, the Division of Market Regulation will not recommend that the Commission take enforcement action under Rule 10b–6 if a participant in an underwriting of the underlying stock recommends that its customers exercise long call option positions, and effects such transactions, where the options were acquired before the firm became a participant.

The foregoing "no-action" positions are limited to the application of Rule 10b–6. They represent only the position of the staff on enforcement action and do not represent any legal conclusions with respect to the issues discussed. In addition, your attention is directed to the antifraud and anti-manipulative provisions of the Exchange Act, particularly Section 9(a)(2), and Section 10(b) and Rule 10b–5 thereunder. Responsibility for compliance with these and any other applicable provisions of the federal securities laws must rest with those broker-dealers who are relying on this "no-action" position.

If you have any questions with respect to the issues addressed by this letter, please contact Roger D. Blanc, Kenneth S. Spirer, or M. Blair Corkran of this Division.

We understand that the Division of Corporation Finance has responded by separate letter to the questions you have presented under the Securities Act of 1933.

Very truly yours,

Douglas Scarff,

Director.

Joseph McLaughlin, Esq., Chairman, Federal Regulation Committee, Securities Industry Association, 20 Broad Street, New York, New York 10005.

Dear Mr. McLaughlin: By letter dated June 28, 1977, as supplemented by letters dated August 3, 1979 and August 4, 1980, as well as a number of telephone conversations with the staff, the Securities Industry Association has requested that the staff address two issues under the Securities Act of 1933 (the "Securities Act") relating to options transactions. First, you ask that the staff conclude that an investor who purchases securities pursuant to a registered public offering and, at the same time, writes a substantial number of call options on those underlying securities, is not an "underwriter" within the meaning of Section 2(11) of the Securities Act. Second, you seek a determination that it does not violate Section 5 of the Securities Act for an underwriter in a registered public offering to recommend the writing of call options on securities of the same class as those subject to a registration statement that has not become effective by customers who have indicated an interest in purchasing such securities in the offering. In our response which follows, we have limited our comments solely to call options which are traded on a national securities exchange, and we have also included references to exchange-traded put options, where appropriate.

A. Is a person who writes call options or purchases put options on securities that are the subject of a registered public offering an underwriter within the meaning of Section 2(11) of the Securities Act?

Ordinarily, persons writing exchange-traded call options or purchasing exchange-traded put options on securities of the same class as those being sold in a registered public offering are not using the options for the purpose of selling the underlying securities. This is generally so, whether or not the investor already holds the underlying securities (the investor can cover later by an option closing transaction or by a purchase), and is the case if the investor is purchasing the securities either in the open market or in the registered public offering. Investors generally write call options in order to reduce the risk of a price decline in underlying securities which they already hold or are purchasing and to increase their income through receipt of the option premiums. Investors generally purchase put options with respect to securities they hold or are acquiring in order to protect themselves against a price decline in the underlying securities. Moreover, an investor can be distinguished from an underwriter by virtue of the fact that the latter typically has an express or implied agreement with the issuer to aid in the distribution of the securities involved in the offering and to receive compensation for his selling efforts. When an investor writes call options or purchases put options, neither of these elements is usually present. The absence of an agreement or compensation would tend to indicate that the investor is not purchasing the underlying securities "from an issuer with a view to . . . the distribution of [such securities]" and therefore, should not be deemed to be an underwriter within the meaning of Section 2(11) of the Securities Act.

Accordingly, it is the view of the Division of Corporation Finance that a purchaser of securities in a registered public offering ordinarily would not be considered an underwriter merely because the purchaser writes exchange-traded call options or purchases exchange-traded put options on securities of the same class as those which are the subject of the offering. There are situations, however, where the activities of an investor may raise a question as to whether the investor should be considered an underwriter.

The most obvious situation would be one in which a purchaser of securities in an offering has an agreement or understanding, express or implied, with the issuer or underwriter to write or buy options for the purpose of facilitating the distribution of securities under the offering. In such circumstances, as well as the situation in which the purchaser receives compensation for engaging in such activities, the purchaser would appear to be an underwriter.

Another situation that may raise a question would involve an investor who purchases a significant portion of an offering (for example, more than 5%) and writes a large number of call options or buys a large number of put options close to the effective date of the offering. In such a situation, all of the surrounding circumstances, including whether the options were in-the-money when written or purchased and the number of options subsequently exercised, would have to be examined in order to determine whether the investor effected the options transactions with a view to distributing the securities in the offering and was therefore an underwriter.

B. Is an underwriter which recommends writing call options before the effective date of a registration statement engaged in "gun-jumping" in violation of Section 5 of the Securities Act?

In the view of the Division of Corporation Finance, a broker acting as an underwriter or selected dealer or otherwise participating in a registered public offering would not be engaged in gun-jumping in violation of Section 5 merely because, before the registration statement became effective, some of the broker's customers engaged in transactions on an exchange in options on securites of the same class as those being distributed. A broker participating in the distribution would be free during the pre-effective period to discuss with customers potential option strategies and transactions which might pertain to securities of the class to be distributed. Section 5 would not preclude such a broker from recommending or effecting any covered option transactions during the pre-effective period. Further, it appears that Section 5 would generally not prohibit a broker participating in a registered public offering, during the pre-effective period, from recommending or effecting, with respect to securities of the class to be distributed, uncovered call-writing or put-buying transactions on an options exchange for the broker's customers who have neither been solicited nor expressed interest in the securities being distributed.

There could be situations, however, in which the options activities of a broker participating in a registered public offering, during the pre-effective period, might constitute gun-jumping in violation of Section

5. For example, if the broker recommended that a customer engage in a combination of activities involving the writing of uncovered call options prior to the effective date of the registration statement and the purchasing of shares in the registered distribution, the conduct of the broker could be regarded as tantamount to the obtaining of a pre-effective commitment from the customer to buy the securities to be distributed, in violation of Section 5. Accordingly, we are unable to take a position regarding the propriety of this form of option activity by a broker during a distribution in which the broker is a participant. In such circumstances, the determination of whether such actions constitute gun-jumping in violation of Section 5 would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case.

* * * * *

It should be noted that the views expressed in this letter relate generally to the activities in connection with exchange-traded options on securities of the same class as those to be distributed in a registered public offering. These views would not necessarily extend to facts and circumstances not referred to herein. Also, the views expressed herein pertain exclusively to Section 2(11) and Section 5 of the Securities Act, and do not purport to address issues under any other provisions of law or regulations.

We understand that the Division of Market Regulation has responded in a separate letter to the questions you have presented under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Sincerely,

Edward F. Greene,

Director.

Accordingly, 17 CFR Parts 231 and 241 are amended by adding thereto reference to this release.

By the Commission.

George A. Fitzsimmons,

Secretary.

Adoption of Permanent Rules Exempting Business Development Companies and Certain of Their Affiliates From Provisions of the Investment Company Act

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Adoption of permanent rules.

SUMMARY: The Commission is adopting, on a permanent basis, two rules under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as recently amended by the Small Business Investment Incentive Act of 1980. Rule 57b–1 permits certain transactions between a business development company and a company controlled by it or certain affiliated persons of such controlled company without requiring prior approval of the Commission. Rule 60a–1 permits a business development company to acquire the securities of and operate a wholly-owned small business investment company. These rules correct inadvertent results of recent amendments to the Investment Company Act. They are substantially the same as the interim rules on which the Commission sought public comment in Investment Company Act Release No. 11493 (December 16, 1980).

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Marsha Gilman, Esq. (202–272–3036), Division of Investment Management, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Commission is adopting, on a permanent basis, two rules under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Act") [15 U.S.C. 80a–1 et seq.] as recently amended by the Small Business Investment Incentive Act of 1980 (the "1980 Amendments") [Pub. L. No. 96–477]. These rules were proposed as interim rules by the Commission on December 16, 1980,[1] at which time public comment was sought on whether they should be adopted as permanent rules. The reasons for the Commission's proposal of these rules were discussed thoroughly at that time. Persons interested in a more detailed discussion of the rules should refer to the Commission's prior release.

In response to its request for comments on the subject of permanent adoption of the interim rules, the Commission received three letters. Each commentator supported the interim rules and urged permanent adoption. Two commentators, however, suggested that interim rule 60a–1 [17 CFR 270.60a–1] contains a technical error. As discussed more fully below, the Commission agrees with this position and, accordingly, corrects rule 60a–1 as permanently adopted. Interim rule 57b–1 [17 CFR 270.57b–1] is adopted permanently as originally proposed.

Rule 57b–1 exempts from the prohibition of section 57 of the Act [15 U.S.C. 80a–56] certain transactions between a business development company and a controlled downstream portfolio affiliate or certain affiliated persons of such affiliate. The rule corrects the consequence of an inadvertent drafting error in section 57(b)(2) of the Act [15 U.S.C. 80a–56(b)(2)], added by the 1980 Amendments. As the legislative history of the 1980 Amendments indicates,[2] the result which the rule effects was clearly intended by Congress.

Rule 60a–1

Rule 60a–1, as adopted on an interim basis, permits a business development company to acquire the outstanding voting securities of and operate a wholly-owned small business investment company ("SBIC"). This rule was intended to correct the inadvertent result of the application of section 12(d)(1) of the Act [15 U.S.C. 80a–12(d)(1)] to business development companies by section 60 [15 U.S.C. 80a–59], added by the 1980 Amendments.[3] Section 12(d)(1) generally limits the acquisition by an investment company of securities issued by other investment companies. However, if the acquiring company meets certain criteria, it is not restricted as to the type (e.g. voting or non-voting) of securities which it may acquire.[4] Thus, the limitation which interim rule 60a–1 places on the acquisition of the securities of an SBIC by a business development company—that only the acquisition of an SBIC's outstanding voting securities is permitted—is not appropriate. In rule 60a–1 adopted on a permanent basis today, the Commission is removing that limitation.

Indirect Food Additives; Adhesive Coatings and Components; Poly (Acrylamide-[2-Acrylamide-2-Methylpropylsulfonate]-Dimethyldiallyl Ammonium Chloride) Sodium Salt

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) amends the food additive regulations to provide for the safe use of poly(acrylamide-[2-acrylamide-2-methylpropylsulfonate]-dimethyldiallyl ammonium chloride) sodium salt as a component of adhesives used in articles intended for food-contact use. This action responds to a food additive petition filed by Calgon Corp.

DATES: Effective March 13, 1981; objections by April 13, 1981.

ADDRESS: Written objections to the Dockets Management Branch (formerly the Hearing Clerk's office) (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4-62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In a notice published in the Federal Register of October 24, 1980 (45 FR 70573), FDA announced that a petition (FAP 9B3474) had been filed by Calgon Corp., Calgon Center, P.O. Box 1346, Pittsburgh, PA 15230, proposing to amend § 175.105 Adhesives (21 CFR 175.105) to provide for the safe use of poly(acrylamide-[2-acrylamide-2-methylpropylsulfonate]-dimethyldiallyl ammonium chloride) as a component of adhesives used in articles intended for food-contact use.

FDA has evaluated data in the petition and other relevant information and concludes that the correct chemical name of the additive is poly(acrylamide-[2-acrylamide-2-methylpropylsulfonate]-dimethyldiallyl ammonium chloride) sodium salt and that § 175.105 should be amended as set forth below to include the petitioned additive.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 201(s), 409, 72 Stat. 1784-1788 as amended (21 U.S.C. 321(s), 348)) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 5.1), Part 175 is amended in § 175.105(c)(5) by adding alphabetically a new item in the list of substances to read as follows:

Each objection shall be separately numbered and each numbered objection shall specify with particularity the provision of the regulation to which objection is made. Each numbered objection on which a hearing is requested shall specifically so state; failure to request a hearing for any particular objection shall constitute a waiver of the right to a hearing on that objection. Each numbered objection for which a hearing is requested shall include a detailed description and analysis of the specific factual information intended to be presented in support of the objection in the event that a hearing is held; failure to include such a description and analysis for any particular objection shall constitute a waiver of the right to a hearing on the objection. Increase in Antibiotic Certification Fees

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) amends the antibiotic drug regulations by increasing the fees for certifying antibiotic drugs for human and animal use. These increases are necessary because of a general increase in all costs of operating the certification program.

DATES: Effective April 13, 1981; comments, notices of participation, and requests for hearing by April 13, 1981; data, information and analyses to justify a hearing by May 12, 1981.

ADDRESS: Written comments, notices of participation, and requests for hearing to the Dockets Management Branch (formerly the Hearing Clerk's office) (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4-62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: David Petak, Office of the Associate Commissioner for Management and Operations (HFA-120), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301-443-1769.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: FDA is increasing the fees for certifying antibiotic drugs for human and animal use now provided for in the regulations. These increases are necessary because of a general increase in all costs of operating the certification program.

Unlike human and animal drugs (other than insulin), antibiotics are subject to individual batch certification before marketing. The statutory schemes for certification, which are found at section 507(b) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act for human drugs (21 U.S.C. 357(b)), and at section 512(n) for veterinary drugs (21 U.S.C. 360b(n)), provide for the establishment of such fees by regulation as are necessary to provide, equip, and maintain an adequate certification service. The fees are paid by the manufacturers whose products are certified. The current fee schedule specified in the regulations for antibiotic drugs became effective on May 3, 1976. Since that time there has been a general increase in employees' salaries and in the cost of operating laboratories. The certification program incurred an operating deficit of $617,000 during fiscal year 1980. Although retained earnings from earlier years had been used to offset this deficit, they will not cover the anticipated deficit for fiscal year 1982, which is expected to be at least $600,000 during fiscal year 1981.

The current fee schedule has, therefore, become insufficient to maintain an adequate certification service, and an immediate increase is necessary.

Test fees in the revised schedule published in this regulation are based, as they are in the existing schedule, solely on the cost of the tests performed. This method of establishing fees was adopted in the 1976 revision, replacing the earlier method in which fees were based on all costs of the certification program, including costs for reviewing data and issuing certificates, for carrying out research, and for conducting establishment inspections associated with certification. The fee for each batch of drugs submitted, which will be $114 upon the effective date of this regulation, is intended to cover these other costs.

Some of the individual test fees have been increased, others are reduced, and some remain the same. The fee for facsimile transmission has been deleted. The cost of this service is recaptured in the fee per batch of $114.00.

A copy of the agency study supporting the changes is available for review at the Dockets Management Branch at the address and hours given at the end of this document.

The agency has determined pursuant to 21 CFR 25.24(b)(22) (proposed December 11, 1979; 44 FR 71742), that this action is of a type that does not individually or cumulatively have a significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, neither an environmental assessment nor an environmental impact statement is required. Because this provision is issued as a final rule without being preceded by general notice of proposed rulemaking, a final regulatory analysis as required by section 604 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980, 94 Stat. 1167, is unnecessary. Amendment to FDA's antibiotic regulations issued under sections 507(f) and 512(n) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 357(f), 360b(n)) and section 701 (f) and (g) of the act (21 U.S.C. 371 (f) and (g)) are considered to be subject to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 556 and 557 and need not comply with the directives of Executive Order 12291 (February 17, 1981). For the same reason, these regulations are not subject to the President's memorandum dated January 29, 1981, imposing a freeze on issuance of most regulations.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 507, 512(n), 701 (f) and (g), 52 Stat. 1055–1056 as amended, 59 Stat. 463 as amended, 82 Stat. 350–351 (21 U.S.C 357, 360b(n), 371 (f) and (g))) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 5.1), Part 431 is amended in § 431.53 by revising the introductory text of paragraph (b), revising paragraph (b)(1), and removing paragraph (b)(3), as follows:

(b) The fee for such services with respect to each batch of a drug, certification of which is provided by the regulations in this chapter, shall be $114 for each batch submitted, plus the sum of the fees for all individual tests required for certification of each batch. The minimum tests for each batch shall be those prescribed in the section relating specifically to such drug.

The amendments established by this regulation are necessary to maintain an adequate antibiotic drug certification service and, accordingly, are indispensable to maintaining a market supply of these drugs. Public health considerations dictate, therefore, that notice and public procedure be dispensed with as contrary to the public interest. Therefore, the amendments will become effective 30 days after the date of publication in the Federal Register. However, interested persons may, on or before April 13, 1981, submit to the Dockets Management Branch (HFA–305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4–62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, written comments on this regulation. Four copies of any comments are to be submitted, except that individuals may submit one copy. Comments are to be identified with the docket number found in brackets in the heading of this document. Received comments may be seen in the office above between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Any person who will be adversely affected by this regulation may file objections to it, request a hearing, and show reasonable grounds for the hearing. Any person who decides to seek a hearing must file (1) on or before April 13, 1981, a written notice of participation and request for hearing, and (2) on or before May 12, 1981, the data, information, and analyses on which the person relies to justify a hearing, as specified in 21 CFR 430.20. A request for a hearing may not rest upon mere allegations or denials, but must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine and substantial issue of fact that requires a hearing. If it conclusively appears from the face of the data, information, and factual analyses in the request for hearing that no genuine and substantial issue of fact precludes the action taken by this order, or if a request for hearing is not made in the required format or with the required analyses, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs will enter summary judgment against the person(s) who request(s) the hearing, making findings and conclusions and denying a hearing.

The procedures and requirements governing this order, a notice of participation and request for hearing, a submission of data, information, and analyses to justify a hearing, other comments, and grant or denial of a hearing are contained in 21 CFR 430.20.

All submissions under this order must be filed in four copies, identified with the docket number appearing in the heading of this order and filed with the Dockets Management Branch (HFA–305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4–62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

All submissions under this order, except for data and information prohibited from public disclosure under 21 U.S.C. 331(j) or 18 U.S.C. 1905, may be seen in the Dockets Management Branch, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Effective date. This regulation shall be effective April 13, 1981.

21 CFR Parts 436 and 452

[Docket No. 81N-0015]

Erythromycin Capsules

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) amends the antibiotic drug regulations to provide for the certification of a new dosage form of erythromycin, erythromycin capsules. The manufacturer has supplied sufficient data and information to establish its safety and efficacy.

DATES: Effective March 13, 1981; comments, notice of participation, and request for hearing by April 13, 1981; data, information, and analyses to justify a hearing by May 12, 1981.

ADDRESS: Written comments to the Dockets Management Branch (formerly the Hearing Clerk's office) (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4-62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Joan Eckert, Bureau of Drugs (HFD-140), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301-443-4290.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: FDA has evaluated data submitted in accordance with regulations promulgated under section 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 357), as amended, with respect to providing for the certification of a new dosage form of erythromycin, erythromycin capsules. The agency concludes that the data supplied by the manufacturer concerning this antibiotic drug are adequate to establish its safety and efficacy when the drug is used as directed in the labeling and that the regulations should be amended in Parts 436 and 452 (21 CFR Parts 436 and 452) to provide for its certification.

The agency has determined pursuant to 21 CFR 25.24(b)(22) (proposed December 11, 1979; 44 FR 71742), that this action is of a type that does not individually or cumulatively have a significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, neither an environmental assessment nor an environmental impact statement is required.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463 as amended (21 U.S.C. 357)) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 5.1), Parts 436 and 452 are amended as follows:

PART 436—TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY OF ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS

1. Part 436 is amended by adding new § 436.542 to Subpart H, to read as follows:

§ 436.542 Acid resistance/dissolution test for enteric-coated erythromycin pellets.

(a) Equipment. Use Apparatus 1 as described in the United States Pharmacopeia XX dissolution test.

(b) Immersion fluids. All immersion fluids may be degassed by heating immediately prior to use.

(1) Acid resistance medium. Use 0.06*N* hydrochloric acid, pH 1.2.

(2) Dissolution medium. Dissolve 6.8 grams of monobasic potassium phosphate in 250 milliliters of water. Add 190 milliliters of 0.2*N* sodium hydroxide and 400 milliliters of water and adjust the resulting solution with 0.2*N* sodium hydroxide to a pH of 7.5 ± 0.1. Dilute to 1 liter.

(c) Procedure. Warm the immersion fluids to a temperature of 37° ± 5.0° C. Place the contents of one capsule into the basket. Lower the basket into 900 milliliters of acid resistance medium contained in the beaker. Ensure that all air is displaced from the immersed basket and that the pellets remain in the basket. Rotate the basket at the speed of 50 revolutions per minute for an accurately timed period of 1 hour. Remove the basket from the fluid and immediately lower the basket into 900 milliliters of dissolution medium contained in the beaker. Again ensure that all air is displaced from the immersed basket and that the pellets remain in the basket. Rotate the basket at 50 revolutions per minute for an accurately timed dissolution period of 1 hour. Withdraw a 25-milliliter sample of the dissolution medium from a point midway between the stirring shaft and the wall of the vessel and approximately midway in depth. Filter the sample through a Whatman 541 filter paper or equivalent, discarding the first 2 milliliters. Assay for erythromycin using the filtrate as the test solution as directed in § 436.105. Repeat the test on five additional capsules.

(d) Evaluation. Use the interpretation described in the United States Pharmacopeia XX dissolution test.

PART 452—MACROLIDE ANTIBIOTIC DRUGS

2. Part 452 is amended by adding new § 452.110c to Subpart B, to read as follows:

§ 452.110c Erythromycin capsules.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Erythromycin capsules are capsules containing enteric-coated erythromycin pellets, suitable and harmless buffer substances, diluents, binders, lubricants, and colorings. Each capsule contains 250 milligrams of erythromycin. Its potency is satisfactory if it is not less than 90 percent and not more than 115 percent of the number of milligrams of erythromycin that it is represented to contain. The moisture content is not more than 7.5 percent. It passes the acid resistance/dissolution test. The erythromycin used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 452.10(a)(1), except heavy metals.

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 432.5 of this chapter.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 431.1 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on:

(a) The erythromycin used in making the batch for potency, safety, moisture, pH, residue on ignition, identity, and crystallinity.

(b) The batch for potency, moisture, and acid resistance/dissolution.

(ii) Samples required:

(a) The erythromycin used in making the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately 500 milligrams.

(b) The batch: A minimum of 100 capsules.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 436.105 of this Chapter, preparing the sample for assay as follows: Place a representative number of capsules into a high-speed glass blender jar containing 200 milliliters of methyl alcohol. Blend for 2 to 3 minutes. Add 300 milliliters of 0.1*M* potassium phosphate buffer, pH 8.0 (solution 3), and blend again for 2 to 3 minutes. Further dilute an aliquot with solution 3 to the reference concentration of 1.0 microgram of erythromycin base per milliliter (estimated).

(2) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 436.201 of this chapter.

(3) Acid resistance/dissolution. Proceed as directed in § 436.542 of this chapter. The quantity Q (the amount of erythromycin dissolved) is 80 percent at 60 minutes.

This regulation announces standards that FDA has accepted in a request for approval of an antibiotic drug. In accordance with the conditions for certification in section 507 of the act (21 U.S.C. 357), FDA permits the manufacturer to market this drug on a "release" status pending the regulation's becoming effective. Because this regulation is not controversial and because when effective it provides notice of accepted standards and permits earlier certification of regulated products, notice and comment procedure and delayed effective date are found to be unnecessary and not in the public interest. The amendment, therefore, is effective March 13, 1981. However, interested persons may, on or before April 13, 1981, submit to the Dockets Management Branch (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4-62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, written comments on this rule. Four copies of any comments are to be submitted, except that individuals may submit one copy. Comments are to be identified with the docket number found in brackets in the heading of this document. Received comments may be seen in the Dockets Management Branch between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Any person who will be adversely affected by this regulation may file objections to it, request a hearing, and show reasonable grounds for the hearing. Any person who decides to seek a hearing must file (1) on or before April 13, 1981, a written notice of participation and request for hearing, and (2) on or before May 12, 1981, the data, information, and analyses on which the person relies to justify a hearing, as specified in 21 CFR 430.20. A request for a hearing may not rest upon mere allegations or denials, but must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine and substantial issue of fact that requires a hearing. If it conclusively appears from the face of the data, information, and factual analyses in the request for hearing that no genuine and substantial issue of fact precludes the action taken by this order, or if a request for hearing is not made in the required format or with the required analyses, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs will enter summary judgment against the person(s) who request(s) the hearing, making findings and conclusions and denying a hearing.

The procedures and requirements governing this order, a notice of participation and request for hearing, a submission of data, information, and analyses to justify a hearing, other comments, and grant or denial of a hearing are contained in 21 CFR 430.20.

All submissions under this order must be filed in four copies, identified with the docket number appearing in the heading of this order, with the Dockets Management Branch (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4-62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

All submissions under this order, except for data and information prohibited from public disclosure under 21 U.S.C. 331(j) or 18 U.S.C. 1905, may be seen in the Dockets Management Branch, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Effective date. This regulation shall be effective March 13, 1981.

Cepha Antibiotic Drugs; Cefadroxil Monohydrate for Oral Suspension

AGENCY: Food and drug Administration.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) amends the antibiotic drug regulations to provide for the certification of a new dosage form of cefadroxil monohydrate, cefadroxil monohydrate for oral suspension. The manufacturer has supplied sufficient data and information to establish the drug's safety and efficacy.

DATES: Effective March 13, 1981; comments, written notice of participation, and request for hearing by April 13, 1981; data, information, and analyses to justify a hearing by May 12, 1981.

ADDRESS: Written comments to the Dockets Management Branch (formerly the Hearing Clerk's office) (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4-62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Joan Eckert, Bureau of Drugs (HFD-140), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301-443-4290.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: FDA has evaluated data submitted in accordance with regulations promulgated under section 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 357), as amended, with respect to providing for the certification of a new dosage form of cefadroxil monohydrate, cefadroxil monohydrate for oral suspension. The agency concludes that the data supplied by the manufacturer concerning this antibiotic drug are adequate to establish its safety and efficacy when the drug is used as directed in the labeling and that the regulations should be amended in Part 442 (21 CFR Part 442) to provide for its certification.

The agency has determined pursuant to 21 CFR 25.24(b)(22) (proposed December 11, 1979; 44 FR 71742) that this action is of a type that does not individually or cumulatively have a significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, neither an environmental assessment nor an environmental impact statement is required.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463 as amended (21 U.S.C. 357)) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 5.1), Part 442 is amended in Subpart B by adding new § 442.106c, to read as follows:

§ 442.106c Cefadroxil monohydrate for oral suspension.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Cefadroxil monohydrate for oral suspension is cefadroxil monohydrate with one or more suitable and harmless preservatives, suspending agents, surfactants, binders, and flavorings. When reconstituted as directed in the labeling, each milliliter contains cefadroxil monohydrate equivalent to either 25, 50, or 100 milligrams of cefadroxil. Its potency is satisfactory if it is not less than 90 percent and not more than 120 percent of the number of milligrams of cefadroxil that it is represented to contain. Its moisture content is not more than 2.0 percent. When reconstituted as directed in the labeling, its pH is not less than 4.5 and not more than 6.0. The cefadroxil monohydrate used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 442.6(a)(1).

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 432.5 of this chapter.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 431.1 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on:

(a) The cefadroxil monohydrate used in making the batch for potency, safety, moisture, pH, absorptivity, identity, and crystallinity.

(b) The batch for potency, moisture, and pH.

(ii) Samples required:

(a) The cefadroxil monohydrate used in making the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams.

(b) The batch: A minimum of six immediate containers.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency. Use either of the following methods; however, the results obtained from the hydroxylamine colorimetric assay shall be conclusive.

(i) Microbiological agar diffusion assay. Proceed as directed in § 436.105 of this chapter, preparing the sample for assay as follows: Reconstitute the sample as directed in the labeling. Transfer an accurately measured representative portion of the suspension into an appropriate-sized volumetric flask and dilute to volume with 1 percent potassium phosphate buffer, pH 6.0 (solution 1). Further dilute an aliquot of this solution with solution 1 to the reference concentration of 20.0 micrograms of cefadroxil per milliliter (estimated).

(ii) Hydroxylamine colorimetric assay. Proceed as directed in § 442.40(b)(1)(ii) of this chapter, except prepare the working standard and sample solutions and calculate the cefadroxil content as follows:

(a) Preparation of working standard solution. Dissolve and dilute an accurately weighed portion of the cefadroxil working standard in sufficient distilled water to a final concentration of 1 milligram of cefadroxil per milliliter.

(b) Preparation of sample solution. Reconstitute the sample as directed in the labeling. Transfer an accurately measured representative portion to a volumetric flask and bring to volume with distilled water to give a stock solution of convenient concentration. Further dilute an aliquot of this solution with distilled water to a concentration of 1 milligram of cefadroxil per milliliter (estimated).

(c) Calculations. Calculate the cefadroxil content as follows:

$$\text{Milligrams per dose} = \frac{A_u \times P_s \times d}{A_s \times 1{,}000}$$

Where:
A_u = Absorbance of sample solution;
P_s = Potency of working standard in micrograms per milligram;
d = Dilution factor for sample;
A_s = Absorbance of working standard solution.

(2) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 436.201 of this chapter.

(3) pH. Proceed as directed in § 436.202 of this chapter, using the drug reconstituted as directed in the labeling.

This regulation announces standards that FDA has accepted in a request for approval of an antibiotic drug. In accordance with the conditions for certification in section 507 of the act (21 U.S.C. 357), FDA permits the manufacturer to market this drug on a "release" status pending the regulation's becoming effective. [Docket No. 81N-0019]

Tobramycin Ophthalmic Solution

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) amends the antibiotic drug regulations to provide for the certification of a new dosage form of tobramycin, tobramycin ophthalmic solution. The manufacturer has supplied sufficient data and information to establish the drug's safety and efficacy.

DATES: Effective March 13, 1981; comments, written notice of participation, and request for hearing by April 13, 1981; data, information and analyses to justify a hearing by May 12, 1981.

ADDRESS: Written comments to the Dockets Management Branch (formerly the Hearing Clerk's office) (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4–62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Joan Eckert, Bureau of Drugs (HFD-140), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301–443–4290.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: FDA has evaluated data submitted in accordance with regulations promulgated under section 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 357), as amended, with respect to providing for the certification of a new dosage form of tobramycin, tobramycin ophthalmic solution. The agency concludes that the data supplied by the manufacturer concerning this antibiotic drug are adequate to establish its safety and efficacy when the drug is used as directed in the labeling and that the regulations should be amended in Part 444 (21 CFR Part 444) to provide for its certification.

The agency has determined pursuant to 21 CFR 25.24(b)(22) (proposed December 11, 1979; 44 FR 71742), that this action is of a type that does not individually or cumulatively have a significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, neither an environmental assessment nor an environmental impact statement is required.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463 as amended (21 U.S.C 357)) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 5.1), Part 444 is amended in Subpart D by adding new § 444.380 to read as follows:

§ 444.380 Tobramycin ophthalmic solution.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Tobramycin ophthalmic solution contains in each milliliter 3.0 milligrams of tobramycin in a suitable and harmless aqueous vehicle. It may or may not contain one or more suitable and harmless dispersants, preservatives, buffers, and tonicity agents. Its potency is satisfactory if it is not less than 90 percent and not more than 120 percent of the number of milligrams of tobramycin that it is represented to contain. It is sterile. Its pH is not less than 7.0 and not more than 8.0. The tobramycin used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 444.80(a)(1), except heavy metals.

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 432.5 of this chapter.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 431.1 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on:

(a) The tobramycin used in making the batch for potency, safety, moisture, pH, identity, and residue on ignition.

(b) The batch for potency, sterility, and pH.

(ii) Samples required:

(a) The tobramycin used in making the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately 500 milligrams.

(b) The batch:

(1) For all tests except sterility: A minimum of five immediate containers.

(2) For sterility testing: 20 immediate containers, collected at regular intervals throughout each filling operation.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 436.105 of this chapter, preparing the sample for assay as follows: Dilute an accurately measured representative portion of the sample with sufficient distilled water to obtain a stock solution of convenient concentration. Further dilute an aliquot of the stock solution with distilled water to the reference concentration of 2.5 micrograms of tobramycin per milliliter (estimated).

(2) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 436.20 of this chapter, using the method described in paragraph (e)(1) of that section.

(3) pH. Proceed as directed in § 436.202 of this chapter, using the undiluted solution.

This regulation announces standards that FDA has accepted in a request for approval of an antibiotic drug. In accordance with the conditions for certification in section 507 of the act (21 U.S.C. 357), FDA permits the manufacturer to market this drug on a "release" status pending the regulation's becoming effective. Because this regulation is not controversial and because when effective it provides notice of accepted standards and permits earlier certification of regulated products, notice and comment procedure and delayed effective date are found to be unnecessary and not in the public interest. The amendment, therefore, is effective March 13, 1981. However, interested persons may, on or before April 13, 1981, submit to the Dockets Management Branch (HFA–305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4–62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, written comments on this rule. Four copies of any comments are to be submitted, except that individuals may submit one copy. Comments are to be identified with the docket number found in brackets in the heading of this document. Received comments may be seen in the Dockets Management Branch between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Any person who will be adversely affected by this regulation may file objections to it, request a hearing, and show reasonable grounds for the hearing. Any person who decides to seek a hearing must file (1) on or before April 13, 1981, a written notice of participation and request for hearing, and (2) on or before May 12, 1981, the data, information, and analyses on which the person relies to justify a hearing, as specified in 21 CFR 430.20. A request for a hearing may not rest upon mere allegations or denials, but must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine and substantial issue of fact that requires a hearing. If it conclusively appears from the face of the data, information, and factual analyses in the request for hearing that no genuine and substantial issue of fact precludes the action taken by this order, or if a request for hearing is not made in the required format or with the required analyses, the Commissioner of Foods and Drugs will enter summary judgment against the person(s) who request(s) the hearing, making findings and conclusions and denying a hearing.

The procedures and requirements governing this order, a notice of participation and request for hearing, a submission of data, information, and analyses to justify a hearing, other comments, and grant or denial of a hearing are contained in 21 CFR 430.20.

All submissions under this order must be filed in four copies, identified with the docket number appearing in the heading of this order, with the Dockets Management Branch (HFA–305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4–62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

All submissions under this order, except for data and information prohibited from public disclosure under 21 U.S.C. 331(j) or 18 U.S.C. 1905, may be seen in the Dockets Management Branch, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Effective date. This regulation shall be effective April 13, 1981.

Antibiotic Drugs; Updating and Technical Changes

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) amends the antibiotic regulations by making corrections, updatings, and minor noncontroversial technical changes in the regulations providing for the certification of antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs for human use. These changes will result in more accurate and usable regulations that reflect current certification practices.

DATES: Effective March 13, 1981; comments, notice of participation, and request for hearing by April 13, 1981; data, information and analyses to justify a hearing by May 12, 1981.

ADDRESS: Written comments to the Dockets Management Branch (formerly the Hearing Clerk's office) (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4-62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Joan Eckert, Bureau of Drugs (HFD-140), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301-443-4290.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: FDA is amending the antibiotic drug regulations by making corrections, updatings, and minor noncontroversial technical changes in several antibiotic drug regulations that provide for certification of antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs intended for human use. In one instance, the need for a change was called to FDA's attention by an industry representative. To aid in understanding the types of changes included in this document, the changes have been grouped for discussion in this preamble into three general classes: monograph corrections, updatings, and minor noncontroversial technical changes.

Monograph Corrections

1. In § 440.3(b)(5) (i) and (ii), a new sentence is added for clarification, and the calculations for amoxicillin content are corrected.

2. In §§ 440.5 and 440.7, in paragraphs (b)(5) (i) and (ii), the calculations for ampicillin content are corrected.

3. In § 440.7a(b)(7) (i) and (ii), the calculations for ampicillin content are corrected.

4. In § 440.9a(b)(7), the calculations for ampicillin content are corrected.

5. In § 440.41(a)(1)(vi), the figure "82.7 percent" is corrected to read "82.0 percent."

6. In § 444.220(a)(1), the word "is" is corrected to read "it" in the third sentence, and in paragraph (b)(4) the word "milliliters" is corrected to read "milligrams."

7. In § 446.15(b)(5), the figure "280" is corrected to read "380" in the fourth sentence.

8. In § 449.40(b)(4), the word "mix" is corrected to read "solvent" in the fourth and fifth sentence, and the word "solvent" is added in the sixth sentence.

Updatings

1. Sections 448.30a, 448.930a, and 448.930b are updated by making the following changes:

a. The words "nontoxic" and "toxicity" are changed to read "safety" wherever they appear to be consistent with current nomenclature.

b. The word "moisture" is changed to "loss on drying" wherever it appears, to correctly reflect the method used.

c. The requirements for tests and methods are revised to refer to the general methods in Part 436 rather than to individual monographs for bulk drugs or dosage forms.

d. The potency limits are transferred from paragraph (b) to paragraph (a) in § 448.30a.

e. A requirement for testing the bulk for loss on drying is added to § 448.930b to conform with all other monographs providing for dosage forms.

2. Sections 448.30a(a)(2), 448.930a (a)(2) and (a)(3), 448.930b(a)(3)(ii)(c), and 452.30a(a)(2) are removed and reserved. These requirements are provided for in general regulations in Parts 431 and 432 and should not be included in the individual sections.

3. Section 452.230 is added. When a bulk drug is packaged for dispensing, a corresponding monograph is included in the subpart for injectable dosage forms to maintain the scheme of the regulations.

Technical Changes

1. In §§ 436.105(a) and 436.106(b), the specific incubation temperatures for the microorganisms listed in the tables have been replaced by a temperature range. It is impractical to assume that an incubation oven used for the microbiological agar diffusion assay or a water bath used for the microbiological turbidimetric assay are exact enough to limit the temperature to a specific figure.

2. In § 440.9a(b)(1)(i), distilled water is replaced by 1 percent potassium phosphate buffer, pH 6.0 (solution 1), as the sample preparation diluent for the iodometric and hydroxylamine colorimetric assays. Buffer is necessary for use in these assays. For consistency, in paragraph (b)(1)(ii)(b), the reference to distilled water has been removed.

3. In § 449.4(b)(2) (i) and (v), the nystatin working standard has replaced the amphotericin A standard in the determination of amphotericin A content of amphotericin B. The firm that supplies the amphotericin A standard has exhausted its supply and considers the cost of producing more material to be used exclusively in assay determination prohibitive. The nystatin working standard can be used satisfactorily in place of amphotericin A.

4. In § 450.220(a)(1), the upper pH limit has been raised from 7.0 to 7.5. The present limit is too restrictive.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended (21 U.S.C. 357)) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 5.1), Subchapter D is amended as follows:

Then add approximately 100 milliliters of an acid-alcohol solvent (0.1 percent glacial acetic acid in methyl alcohol) and stir or shake mechanically in the dark until solution is complete. Dilute to volume with the acid-alcohol solvent. Transfer 2.0 milliliters of this solution to a 100-milliliter volumetric flask and dilute to volume with the acid-alcohol solvent. Using a suitable spectrophotometer with 1-centimeter cells and the acid-alcohol solvent as a blank, record the ultraviolet absorption spectrum from 215 to 330 nanometers. The spectrum compares qualitatively to that of the natamycin working standard similarly treated.

* * * * *

PART 452—MACROLIDE ANTIBIOTIC DRUGS

8. Part 452 is amended:

b. By adding new § 452.230 to Subpart C, to read as follows:

§ 452.230 Sterile erythromycin gluceptate.

The requirements for certification and the tests and methods of assay for sterile erythromycin gluceptate packaged for dispensing are described in § 452.30a.

These amendments institute changes that are corrective, editorial, or of a minor substantive nature. Because the amendments are not controversial and because when effective they provide notice of accepted standards, FDA finds that notice and public procedure and delayed effective date are unnecessary and not in the public interest. The amendments, therefore, may become effective upon the date of publication in the Federal Register. However, interested persons may, on or before April 13, 1981, submit to the Dockets Management Branch (HFA–305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4–62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, written comments on this regulation. Four copies of any comments are to be submitted, except that individuals may submit one copy. Comments are to be identified with the docket number found in brackets in the heading of this document. Received comments may be seen in the office above between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Any person who will be adversely affected by this regulation may file objections to it, request a hearing, and show reasonable grounds for the hearing. Any person who decides to seek a hearing must file (1) on or before April 13, 1981, a written notice of participation and request for hearing, and (2) on or before May 12, 1981, the data, information, and analyses on which the person relies to justify a hearing, as specified in 21 CFR 430.20. A request for a hearing may not rest upon mere allegations or denials, but must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine and substantial issue of fact that requires a hearing. If it conclusively appears from the face of the data, information, and factual analyses in the request for hearing that no genuine and substantial issue of fact precludes the action taken by this order, or if a request for hearing is not made in the required format or with the required analyses, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs will enter summary judgment against the person(s) who request(s) the hearing, making findings and conclusions and denying a hearing.

The procedures and requirements governing this order, a notice of participation and request for hearing, a submission of data, information, and analyses to justify a hearing, other comments, and grant or denial of a hearing are contained in 21 CFR 430.20.

All submissions under this order must be filed in four copies, identified with the docket number appearing in the heading of this order, with the Dockets Management Branch (HFA–305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4–62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

All submissions under this order, except for data and information prohibited from public disclosure under 21 U.S.C. 331(j) or 18 U.S.C. 1905, may be seen in the office of the Dockets Management Branch, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Effective date. This regulation shall be effective March 13, 1981.

BILLING CODE 4110-03-M

PENSION BENEFIT GUARANTY CORPORATION

29 CFR Part 2610

Interim Regulation on Valuation of Plan Benefits; Amendment Adopting Additional PBGC Rates

AGENCY: Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

ACTION: Amendment to the interim regulation.

SUMMARY: This amendment to the interim regulation on Valuation of Plan Benefits contains the interest rates and factors for the period beginning April 1, 1981. The interest rates and factors are to be used to value benefits provided under terminating non-multiemployer pension plans covered by Title IV of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, 29 U.S.C. 1001 et seq. (1976), as amended by the Multiemployer Pension Plan Amendments Act of 1980, Pub. L. No. 96–364, 94 Stat. 1208 (the "Act").

The valuation of plan benefits is necessary because under section 4041 of the Act, the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation ("PBGC") and the plan administrator must determine whether a terminating pension plan has sufficient assets to pay all guaranteed benefits provided under the plan. If the assets are insufficient, the PBGC will pay the guaranteed benefits under the plan termination insurance program established under Title IV.

The interest rates and factors set forth in the Valuation of Plan Benefits regulation are adjusted periodically to reflect changes in financial and annuity markets. This amendment adopts the rates and factors applicable to plans that terminate on or after April 1, 1981, and enables the PBGC to value the benefits provided under those plans. These rates and factors will remain in effect until PBGC publishes a notice revising them.

EFFECTIVE DATE: April 1, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Nina R. Hawes, Staff Attorney, Office of the General Counsel, Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporaton, 2020 K Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20006, 202–254–3010.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On November 3, 1976, the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (the "PBGC") issued an interim regulation establishing the methods for valuing plan benefits of terminating non-multiemployer plans covered under Title IV of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, (amended by Pub. L. No. 96–364 (1980))

(41 FR 48484 et seq.). That regulation contains a number of formulas for valuing different types of benefits. In addition, Appendix B of the regulation sets forth the various interest rates and factors that are to be used in the formulas. Because these rates and factors are intended to reflect current conditions in the financial and annuity markets, it is necessary to update the rates and factors periodically.

When first published, Appendix B contained interest rates and factors to be used to value benefits in plans that terminated on or after September 2, 1974, but before October 1, 1975. Subsequently, the PBGC adopted additional rates and factors for valuing benefits in plans that terminated on or after October 1, 1975, but before February 1, 1981. (29 CFR Part 2610 (1980), 45 FR 64907, 45 FR 75658, 45 FR 75209, 45 FR 82172).

On January 15, 1981, the PBGC published rates for plans that terminate on or after February 1, 1981 (46 FR 3510) and before the effective date of the next PBGC change in rates. Accordingly, since this notice changes the rates effective April 1, 1981, plans that terminate on or after February 1, 1981 and before April 1, 1981 will use the rates effective on February 1, 1981.

Appendix B is amended by this document to add a set of interest rates and factors for plans that terminate on or after April 1, 1981. These rates and factors will remain in effect until such time as PBGC publishes another notice which changes the rates.

On January 28, 1981, the PBGC issued a regulation which would make this interim regulation final (46 FR 9492 et seq.). On February 19, 1981, a notice was published in the Federal Register which deferred the effective date of that rule for one month until April 1, 1981 (46 FR 12970). When the final regulation becomes effective, the rates set forth in this amendment will be made applicable to the final regulation by a conforming technical amendment. If the effective date of the final rule is further postponed, the rates in this amendment are to be used with the formulas in the interim regulation.

As a rule, the rates will be in effect for at least one month. If the rates are to be changed, PBGC will publish a notice in the Federal Register, normally by the 15th of the month prior to the month for which the new rates will be effective. If no change is to be made, no notice will be published, and the current rates will remain in effect until further notice.

Because the Multiemployer Pension Plan Amendments Act of 1980 established a new insurance program for multiemployer plans, we note that the rates and factors added by this publication are applicable to non-multiemployer plans only.

The PBGC has determined that notice and public comment on this amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest. This determination is based on the need to determine and issue new interest rates and factors promptly, so that the rates can reflect, as accurately as possible, current market conditions. The PBGC has found that the public interest is best served by issuing the rates and factors on a prospective basis so that plans may be able to calculate the value of plan benefits before submitting a notice of intent to terminate. Also, plans will be able to predict employer liability more accurately prior to plan termination. Moreover, because of the need to provide immediate guidance for the valuation of benefits under plans that will terminate on or after April 1, 1981, and because no adjustment by ongoing plans is required by this amendment, the PBGC finds that good cause exists for making the rates set forth in this amendment to the interim regulation effective less than 30 days after publication.

The PBGC has determined that this is not a "major rule" under the criteria set forth in Executive Order 12291, February 17, 1981, (46 FR 13193) because it will not result in an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more, a major increase in costs for consumers or individual industries, or significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation or competition.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 2610 of Chapter XXVI Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, is hereby amended by revising the heading of Table XXIII and by adding a new Table XXIV to Appendix B, as follows:

Appendix B—Interest Rates and Quantities Used To Value Benefits

* * * * *

XXIII. The following interest rates and quantities used to value benefits shall be effective for plans that terminate on or after February 1, 1981 and before April 1, 1981.

* * * * *

XXIV. The following interest rates and quantities used to value benefits shall be effective for plans that terminate on or after April 1, 1981.

I. Interest rate for valuing immediate annuities.

An interest rate of 10 percent shall be used to value immediate annuities, to compute the quantity "C," for deferred annuities and to value both portions of a cash refund annuity.

II. Interest rate for valuing death benefits.

An interest rate of 5 percent shall be used to value death benefits other than the decreasing term insurance portion of a cash refund annuity.

III. Interest rates and quantities used for valuing deferred annuities.

The following factors shall be used to value deferred annuities:

(1) $k_1 = 1.0825$
(2) $k_2 = 1.08$
(3) $k_3 = 1.04$
(4) $n_1 = 7$
(5) $n_2 = 8$

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

38 CFR Part 36

Increase in Maximum Permissible Interest Rate on New Guaranteed, Insured and Direct Loans for; Homes and Condominiums

AGENCY: Veterans Administration.

ACTION: Final regulations.

SUMMARY: The VA (Veterans Administration) is increasing the maximum interest rate on guaranteed, insured and direct loans for homes and condominiums. The maximum interest rate is increased because the former interest rate was not sufficiently competitive to induce private sector lenders to make VA guaranteed or insured loans without imposing substantial discounts. The increase in the interest rate will assure a continuing supply of funds for home mortgages.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. George D. Moerman, Loan Guaranty Service (264), Department of Veterans Benefits, Veterans Administration, 810 Vermont Ave. NW., Washington, D.C. 20420 (202-389-3042).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Administrator is required to establish a maximum interest rate for home and condominium loans guaranteed, insured or made by the Veterans Administration as he finds the mortgage money market demands. Recent market indicators—including the rate of discount charged by lenders on VA and Federal Housing Administration loans, the general increase in interest rates charged by lenders on conventional loans, and the results of the bi-weekly Federal National Mortgage Association auctions—have shown that the mortgage money market has become more restrictive. The maximum rate in effect for VA guaranteed home and condominium loans has not been sufficiently competitive to induce private sector lenders to make this type of VA guaranteed or insured loans without imposing substantial discounts. To assure a continuing supply of funds for home mortgages through the VA loan guaranty program, it has been determined that an increase in the maximum permissible rate applicable to home loans is necessary. The increased return to the lender will make VA loans competitive with other available investments and assure a continuing supply of funds for guaranteed and insured mortgages.

The increase in the maximum interest rate is accomplished by amending §§ 36.4311(a) and 36.4503(a) of Title 38, Code of Federal Regulations. Compliance with the procedure for publication of proposed regulations prior to final adoption is waived because compliance would create an acute shortage of mortgage funds pending the final date which would necessarily be more than 30 days after publication in proposed form.

Approved: March 6, 1981.

Rufus H. Wilson,

Acting Administrator.

1. In § 36.4311, paragraph (a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 36.4311 Interest rates.

(a) Excepting loans guaranteed or insured pursuant to guaranty or insurance commitments issued by the Veterans Administration which specify an interest rate in excess of 14 per centum per annum, effective March 9, 1981, the interest rate on any home or condominium loan guaranteed or insured wholly or in part on or after such date may not exceed 14 per centum per annum on the unpaid principal balance. (38 U.S.C. 1803(c)(1))

* * * * *

2. In § 36.4503, paragraph (a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 36.4503 Amount and amortization.

(a) The original principal amount of any loan made on or after October 1, 1978, shall not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to $33,000 as the amount of the guaranty to which the veteran is entitled under 38 U.S.C. 1810 at the time the loan is made bears to $25,000. This limitation shall not preclude the making of advances, otherwise proper, subsequent to the making of the loan pursuant to the provisions of § 36.4511. Except as to home improvement loans, loans made by the Veterans Administration shall bear interest at the rate of 14 percent per annum. Loans solely for the purpose of energy conservation improvements or other alterations, improvements, or repairs shall bear interest at the rate of 16 percent per annum. [A-6-FRL 1777-4]

Colorado; Approval and Promulgation of State Implementation Plans

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Final rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) today is approving Colorado's Regulation No. 7, "Control of Volatile Organic Compounds (VOC)" since it requires reasonably available control technology (RACT) for sources specified under EPA's Group I Control Technique Guidelines (CTG). Approval of Regulation No. 7 removes EPA's conditional approval of the regulation (45 FR 7802, February 5, 1980). EPA proposed to approve Regulation No. 7 on August 20, 1980, and solicited comments. No comments were received during the comment period.

EFFECTIVE DATE: April 13, 1981.

ADDRESSES: Copies of the materials submitted by the Governor of Colorado may be examined during normal business:

Environmental Protection Agency, Air Programs Branch, Region VIII, Suite 200, 1860 Lincoln Street, Denver, Colorado 80295

The Office of the Federal Register, 1100 L Street NW., Room 8401, Washington, D.C. 20460.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Robert R. DeSpain, Chief, Air Programs Branch, Environmental Protection Agency, 1860 Lincoln Street, Denver, Colorado 80295, (303) 837-3471.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 172(b) (2) and (3) of the Clean Air Act requires the application of reasonably available control technology (RACT) to stationary sources of volatile organic compounds (VOC) in areas in the State of Colorado which have not attained the national ambient air quality standard for ozone. A 1979 SIP revision was required to include RACT on those categories of sources for which EPA had published Control Technique Guidelines (CTGs) prior to January 1978. See 44 FR 20376 (April 4, 1979), 44 FR 30583 (July 2, 1979), 44 FR 50371 (August 28, 1979), 44 FR 53761 (September 17, 1979), and 44 FR 67182 (November 23, 1979).

In EPA's October 5, 1979, final rulemaking (44 FR 57405), EPA conditionally approved the portion of the Colorado SIP related to VOC source control (Regulation No. 7). EPA noted the following minor deficiencies:

1. VOC was defined as having vapor pressure of 0.1 pounds per square inch, which is considerably less restrictive than EPA's definition of 0.1 millimeter of mercury or ASTM test method D2369-73.

2. The controls for surface coating, cutback asphalt and degreasing did not represent RACT, since they were not equivalent to control measures supported by the technical information in EPA's Control Technique Guidelines (CTG) for VOC.

3. The requirement for an approved balanced vapor-recovery system did not specifically refer to the Colorado RACT design criteria.

4. The regulation provided an exemption for barometric-type condensors in use at petroleum refineries.

On July 18, 1979, in a letter to EPA, the Commission committed to revising Regulation No. 7 by July 1, 1980. On October 5, 1979, EPA conditionally approved Regulation No. 7 and proposed (44 FR 57428) that the State correct these deficiencies on a more expeditious schedule:

October 1, 1979—Draft regulations submitted to EPA
November 1, 1979—Notice of Public hearing
January 1, 1980—Public Hearing
March 1, 1980—Adopt new regulation

EPA solicited comment on the acceptability of this schedule and the State pointed out that their administrative requirements made the March 1, 1980, deadline unattainable. EPA extended the deadline to April 10, 1980 (45 FR 7802, February 5, 1980) because the State indicated that they could meet this expedited schedule rather than the July 1, 1980, deadline.

On June 5, 1980, the Governor of Colorado submitted to EPA the following amended rules:

Repeal and Repromulgation of Regulation No. 7 "A Regulation Control Emissions of Volatile Organic Compounds" and Revisions to Common Provisions Regulation as they relate to changes in Regulation No. 7.

The 15 source categories covered by the revised regulation are:

1. Section VI—Tank truck loading terminals.
2. Section VI—Bulk gasoline plants.
3. Section VI—Gasoline service stations—Group I control.
4. Section VI—Petroleum storage tanks.
5. Section VIII—Petroleum processing and refining.
6. Section IX—Can coating.
7. Section IX—Metal coil coating.
8. Section IX—Fabric coating.
9. Section IX—Paper products coating.
10. Section IX—Automobile coating.
11. Section IX—Metal furniture coating.
12. Section IX—Magnet wire coating.
13. Section IX—Large appliance coating.
14. Section X—Solvent metal cleaning.
15. Section XI—Cutback asphalt.

On August 26, 1980, (45 FR 56847) EPA proposed to approve Regulation No. 7 since it remedies the deficiencies identified in our October 5, 1979, rulemaking, except for the provision which exempts wastewater separators which utilize VOC with a vapor pressure less than 1.5 pounds per square inch absolute from RACT requirements. EPA requested specific comments on this exemption. In an October 10, 1980, letter the State clarified that only one wastewater separator in the nonattainment area would fall under this exemption and that this particular wastewater separator was not subject to the regulations anyway.

The CTG's provide information on available control techniques, and contain recommendations of what EPA calls the "presumptive norm" for RACT. Based on the information in the CTGs, EPA believes the revised Regulation No. 7 represents RACT for Group I CTG sources.

Under Section 307(b)(1) of the Clean Air Act, judicial review of this final rulemaking is available only by the filing of a petition for review in the United States Court of Appeals for the appropriate circuit by May 12, 1981. Under Section 307(b)(2) of the Clean Air Act, the requirements which are the subject of today's notice may not be challenged later in the civil or criminal proceedings brought by EPA to enforce these requirements.

The Office of Management and Budget has exempted this regulation from the OMB review requirements of Executive Order 12291 pursuant to Section 8(b) of that Order.

This notice of final rulemaking is issued under the authority of Section 11u of the Clean Air Act as amended (42 U.S.C. 7410).

Dated: January 27, 1981.

[Docket No. AO-178-A37]

Milk in the Upper Midwest Marketing Area; Hearing on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreement and Order

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Notice of public hearing on proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: This hearing is being held to consider proposals submitted by cooperative associations and handlers to amend certain provisions of the Upper Midwest milk marketing order. The proposals would change the pooling provisions for reserve supply plants, revise certain price zones within the marketing area, modify the handler provisions with respect to cooperative associations and revise the provisions concerning payments to individual producers. Proponents say that the requested order changes are needed to reflect changed marketing conditions and to insure orderly marketing in the area.

DATE: The hearing will begin on April 14, 1981.

ADDRESS: The hearing will be held at Radisson South Hotel, 7800 Normandale Boulevard, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55435.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Martin J. Dunn, Marketing Specialist, Dairy Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, 202-447-7311.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This action is exempt from the requirements set forth in Executive Order 12291.

Notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held at Radisson South Hotel, 7800 Normandale Boulevard, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55435, beginning at 9:00 a.m. local time, on Tuesday, April 14, 1981, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Upper Midwest marketing area.

The hearing is called pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practices and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Part 900).

The purpose of the hearing is to receive evidence with respect to the economic and marketing conditions which relate to the proposed amendments hereinafter set forth and any appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order.

Beginning January 1, 1981, actions under the Federal milk order program became subject to the "Regulatory Flexibility Act" (Pub. L. 96-354). This act seeks to ensure that, within the statutory authority of a program, the regulatory and information requirements are tailored to the size and nature of small business. For the purpose of the Federal order program, a small business will be considered as one which is independently owned and operated and which is not dominant in its field of operation. Most parties subject to a milk order are considered as a small business. Accordingly, interested parties are invited to present evidence on the probable regulatory and informational impact of the hearing proposals on small businesses. Also, parties may suggest modifications of these proposals for the purpose of tailoring their applicability to small businesses.

The proposed amendments, set forth below, have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Proposed by Land O' Lakes, Inc.

Proposal No. 1

Revise § 1068.7(d)(4) (ii)(a) and (iii) to read as follows:

(iii) Failure of a handler to comply with any announced shipping requirement, including making any significant change in his marketing operations that the market administrator determines has the effect of evading the announcement, shall result in immediate loss of pool status for all reserve supply plants of that handler. Any plant that loses pool status in this manner or that requests nonpool status may not qualify as a reserve supply plant for a period of one year from the date on which pool status was last held.

7 CFR Part 1139

Milk in the Lake Mead Marketing Area; Proposed Suspension of Certain Provisions

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Proposed suspension of rule.

SUMMARY: This notice invites written comments on a proposal to suspend certain order provisions relating to how much milk not needed for fluid (bottling) use may be moved directly from farms to manufacturing plants and still be priced under the order. The suspension was requested by a cooperative association to assure the efficient disposition of milk not needed for fluid use and still maintain producer status under the order for its dairy farmer members regularly associated with the market. The proposed suspension would remove the limit on such movements of milk during the months of March 1981 through July 1981.

DATE: Comments are due not later than March 20, 1981.

ADDRESS: Comments (two copies) should be filed with the Hearing Clerk, Room 1077, South Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Maurice M. Martin, Marketing Specialist, Dairy Division, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, (202) 447-7183.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This proposed action has been reviewed under USDA procedures established to implement Executive Order 12291 and has been classified "not significant" and, therefore, not a major action.

It also has been determined that any need for suspending certain provisions of the order on an emergency basis precludes following certain review procedures set forth in Executive Order 12291. Such procedures would require that this document be submitted for review to the Office of Management and Budget at least 10 days prior to its publication in the Federal Register. However, this would not permit the completion of the required suspension procedures and the inclusion of March 1981 in the required suspension period if this is found necessary.

William T. Manley, Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, has determined that this proposed action would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Such action would lessen the regulatory impact of the order on certain milk handlers and would tend to ensure that dairy farmers would continue to have their milk priced under the order and thereby receive the benefits that accrue from such pricing.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), the suspension of the following provisions of the order regulating the handling of milk in the Lake Mead marketing area is being considered for March 1981 through July 1981:

§ 1139.13 [Amended]

1. In § 1139.13(d)(2), the sentence "The total quantity of milk so diverted may not exceed 30 percent in the months of March through July and 20 percent in other months of the producer milk which the association causes to be delivered to pool plants during the month."

2. In § 1139.13(d)(3), the sentence "The total quantity of milk so diverted may not exceed 30 percent in the months of March through July and 20 percent in other months of the milk received at such pool plant from producers and for which the operator of such plant is the handler during the month."

All persons who want to sent written data, views, or arguments about the proposed suspension should send two copies of them to the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than March 20, 1981.

The period for filing comments is limited to 7 days because a longer period would not provide the time needed to complete the required procedures and include March 1981 in the suspension period.

The comments that are sent will be made available for public inspection in the Hearing Clerk's office during normal business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Statement of Consideration

The proposed action would remove the limit on the amount of producer milk that a cooperative association or other handlers may divert from pool plants to nonpool plants during the months of March through July 1981. The order now provides that a cooperative association may divert up to 30 percent of its total member milk received at all pool plants or diverted therefrom during the months of March through July and 20 percent during all other months. Similarly, the operator of a pool plant may divert up to 30 percent of its receipts of producer milk (for which the operator of such plant is the handler during the month) during the months of March through July and 20 percent during all other months.

The suspension was requested by a cooperative association that supplies the market with a substantial part of its fluid needs and handles all of the market's reserve milk supplies. The basis for the request is that in February the cooperative association disposed of its pool distributing plant. It thus no longer operates a pool plant at which it may receive milk from its members and through which it can balance the market's fluid milk needs. The cooperative indicated that in February several loads of milk had to be depooled since the current diversion limitations did not accommodate its new operating situation. Moreover, in view of the impending flush period, the cooperative expects that more of its reserve milk will have to be moved directly from farms to nonpool manufacturing plants.

Because of current marketing conditions, the cooperative expects its reserve milk supplies during March through July 1981 to exceed the quantity of producer milk that may be diverted from pool plants of other handlers to nonpool manufacturing plants under the order's present diversion limitations. The cooperative claims that without the suspension it will not be able to maintain producer status during this period for a number of its members who have regularly supplies the fluid milk needs of the market. The cooperative also states that the suspension will provide the necessary time to adjust its marketing operations.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on March 9, 1981.

William T. Manley,

Deputy Administrator, Marketing Program Operations.

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

17 CFR Part 1

Minimum Financial and Related Reporting Requirements for Futures Commission Merchants; Extension of Comment Period

AGENCY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

ACTION: Proposed rule; extension of comment period.

SUMMARY: On December 1, 1980, the Federal Register published the Commission's proposed amendments to the minimum financial and related reporting requirements for futures commission merchants ("FCMs") (45 FR 79498). The Commission allowed ninety days for comment thereon, and the comment period expired on March 2, 1981.

Requests for a sixty-day extension of the comment period have been made by the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, the Board of Trade Clearing Corporation, and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. The Commmission does not believe that an extension of the comment period for an additional sixty days will unduly delay the rulemaking proceeding, and expects that the additional time will permit interested persons to develop further comments and data which will assist the Commission in making findings respecting the necessity for the proposed regulations.

DATE: Accordingly, notice is hereby given that all comments on the Commission's proposed amendments to the minimum financial and related reporting requirements for FCMs (45 FR 79498, December 1, 1980) must be submitted by May 1, 1981.

ADDRESS: Send comments to: Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 30581. Attention: Secretariat.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

44 CFR Part 60

[Docket No. FEMA-8]

Criteria for Land Management and Use in the National Flood Insurance Program

AGENCY: Federal Insurance Administration, Federal Emergency Management Agency.

ACTION: Withdrawal of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: On August 3, 1979 (44 FR 45652) a proposed rule was published by the Federal Insurance Administration that would have allowed construction of dry floodproofed basements in all communities. The Federal Insurance Administration has reevaluated this proposal for consistency with the requirements of Executive Order 11988 and in the context of a number of flooding situations. Based on this evaluation, FIA withdraws the proposed rule.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 13, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Gary D. Johnson, Federal Insurance Administration, Washington, D.C. 20472, (202) 755-5581.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The National Flood Insurance Program's flood plain management criteria, set forth at 44 CFR 60.3, previously 24 CFR 1910.3, presently require that the lowest floor (including basement floor) of residential structures be elevated to or above the 100-year flood (i.e., base flood) elevation. Thus, the construction of residential basements is prohibited below the base flood elevation unless the community is granted an exception from that prohibition by the Administrator.

On August 3, 1979 (44 CFR 151) a proposed rule was published that would have allowed construction of dry floodproofed basements in all communities. The proposed rule was based on the results of a study prepared for the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Manual for the Construction of Residential Basements in Non-Coastal Flood Environs, prepared by the National Association of Home Builders Research Foundation, Washington, D.C. (U.S. Government Printing Office, March 1978) concluded that dry floodproofed residential basements can be safe and not inordinately expensive. Copies of the manual are available upon written request to the Federal Emergency Management Agency, Office of Federal Insurance Administration, 1725 I Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20472.

This change was based on the premise that basements could be built safely and economically in all situation under a variety of physical conditions. The Federal Insurance Administration has reevaluated this proposal for consistency with the requirements of Executive Order 11988 and in the context of a number of flooding situations. It was determined that the proposed rule probably minimized risk to loss of property, but did not adequately minimize threats to public safety. No restrictions were placed on the use of floodproofed basements, possibly leading to the widespread use of basements in floodprone areas as sleeping rooms or for recreation or working space. In flash flood areas, in particular, lives could be lost due to the failure of improperly designed or constructed basements or due to the overtopping of the floodproofing measures by flash floods of greater than a one percent annual chance flood. Allowing either situation to develop would be in direct conflict with sound flood plain management practices and with the mandates of Executive Order 11988.

Under the existing regulation, few exceptions have been granted. The primary reason for this has been general confusion over what types of data would have to be included in a request for a community exception along with an absence of clear standards that would provide a basis for determining whether or not granting an exception was warranted. FIA will provide specific guidance to communities requesting an exception to eliminate this confusion as to the information required and the standards to be applied.

In consideration of the foregoing, the proposed rule published in the Federal Register (44 FR 45652) on August 3, 1979, is hereby withdrawn.

Comments Sought on Changes in Provisions of the Safety of Life at Sea Convention

The Commission is seeking comments from the public on changes in the provisions of the Safety of Life at Sea (SOLAS) Convention recommended by the Subcommittee on Radiocommunications and its Working Group on Operational Standards.

At the Subcommittee's September 29–October 3, 1980, meeting it reviewed and approved a number of amendments to the SOLAS convention. The FCC said while the Subcommittee's recommendations were not mandatory, it felt it should be guided by these operational standards for future rulemakings.

Therefore, it asked for comments on this matter.

The Subcommittee also recommended a "Requirements of the Future Global Maritime Distress and Safety System." It aimed to implement this system by 1990.

The Commission asked for comments on this proposal, particularly on the transition plan, shipboard equipment, carriage requirements, details on planned future equipment tests and drafting a new Chapter IV of the 1974 SOLAS Convention.

The Commission noted that comments received on both items would be used to aid the members of the U.S. Delegation to prepare for the Subcommittee's meeting tentatively scheduled for this April in London.

Comments are due by May 1, 1981, and replies by June 1, 1981.

Action by the Commission February 25, 1981, by Sixth Notice of Inquiry (FCC 81-72). Commissioners Lee (Acting Chairman), Quello, Washburn, Fogarty and Jones, with Chairman Ferris not participating.

Associated Electric Cooperative, Inc., Finding of No Significant Impact

The Associated Electric Cooperative, Inc., (Associated) of Springfield, Missouri, is arranging for Pollution Control Revenue Bond (PCRB) financing for the installation of additional electrostatic precipitators for Units 1 and 2 at the New Madrid generating plant. REA financing assistance in the form of a lien accommodation has been requested in this connection.

The plan to add additional precipitators to reduce particulate emissions was chosen after economic, engineering and environmental evaluations of various alternatives were considered. The alternatives included no action and a variety of modifications to the existing precipitators. The alternatives could not economically achieve the 99.6 percent particulate removal required by the State of Missouri.

The chosen alternative (additional precipitators) would meet the Missouri requirements. Arrangements for, and the schedule of the installation of the precipitators was negotiated by Associated and Missouri.

Associated prepared a Borrower's Environmental Report (BER) on the proposed precipitator installation. REA prepared an Environmental Assessment (EA) of the installation.

After a review of the BER and EA, REA concluded that the lien accommodation will not have a significant impact on the quality of the human environment and prepared this "Finding of No Significant Impact" (FONSI). This FONSI can be reviewed in the office of the Director (Room 5168, South Agriculture Building), Power Supply Division, Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D.C. 20250 and at the office of the cooperative, Associated Electric Cooperative, Inc., 2814 South Golden, Springfield, Missouri 65801.

This program is listed in the catalog of the Federal Domestic Assistance, 10.850 Rural Electrification Loans and Loan Guarantees.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 4th day of March, 1981.

Leather Wearing Apparel From Argentina; Suspension of Investigation

AGENCY: Department of Commerce, International Trade Administration.

ACTION: Suspension of Countervailing Duty Investigation.

SUMMARY: The Department of Commerce has decided to suspend the countervailing duty investigation involving leather wearing apparel from Argentina.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 13, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Vince Kane, Import Administration Specialist, Office of Investigations, International Trade Administration, Department of Commerce, Washington, DC 20230 (202) 377-5414.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Procedural Background

On January 15, 1981, the Department of Commerce (the Department) issued an affirmative preliminary countervailing duty determination in its countervailing duty investigation involving leather wearing apparel from Argentina. (46 FR 3582). In that determination, the Department preliminarily determined that reembolso export payments and a pre-export financing program constituted "bounties or grants" (subsidies).

On February 5, 1981, the Department published a "Notice of Proposal Concerning Suspension of Investigation" (46 FR 10972) which informed the public that based on actions taken by the Government of Argentina, which were described in that notice, the Department was proposing that the countervailing duty investigation be suspended under section 704(b) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended. (19 U.S.C. 1671c(b).

Scope of the Investigation

The merchandise covered by this investigation is leather wearing apparel currently classified in item number 791.76 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States. These products include leather coats and jackets for men, boys, women, girls and infants and other leather wearing apparel products including leather vests, pants and shorts. Number 791.76 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States also includes outer leather shells and parts and pieces of leather wearing apparel as designated in the tariff number.

Suspension of Investigation

In accordance with section 704(e) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (hereinafter "the Act"), the petitioner was informed of, and consulted with concerning, the agreement upon which the proposed suspension was based, and was provided an explanation of how the agreement will be carried out and enforced and why the Department felt it would meet the criteria for suspension. The petitioner was also given an opportunity to comment. Other parties to the investigation were notified of the proposed agreement and were permitted to submit comments.

The Department has considered the comments submitted with respect to the proposed suspension. We have determined that the criteria for suspension of an investigation have been satisfied.

We are satisfied that the agreement completely eliminates any subsidy on exports to the United States, can be monitored effectively and is in the public interest. The terms and conditions of the agreement are set out in Annex 1 to this notice.

Pursuant to section 704(f)(2)(A) of the Act, the liquidation of entries of leather wearing apparel suspended effective January 15, 1981, as directed in the Preliminary Affirmative Countervailing Duty Determination is terminated. Any cash deposits on entries of leather wearing apparel from Argentina pursuant to that suspension of liquidation shall be refunded and any bonds or other security shall be released.

The Department intends to conduct an administrative review within twelve months of the publication of this suspension as provided in section 751 of the Act.

Notwithstanding the suspension agreement, The Government of Argentina has requested that the investigation be continued for purposes of having the Commerce Department reach a final determination as to whether the programs involved are subsidies within the meaning of the countervailing duty law. The Department shall issue a final determination on this question no later than March 24, 1981.

This notice is published pursuant to section 704(f)(1)(A) of the Act.

Dated: March 10, 1981.

John D. Greenwald,

Deputy Assistant Secretary for Import Administration.

Annex 1, Agreement

A. Product Coverage

Merchandise Affected: Leather wearing apparel currently provided for in item number 791.76 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States. These products include leather coats and jackets for men, boys, women, girls and infants and other leather wearing apparel products including leather vests, pants and shorts. Outer leather shells and pants and pieces of leather wearing apparel are also covered.

B. Basis for the Agreement

1. Pursuant to Resolution ME No. 91/81 dated January 28, 1981, no shipments of Argentine leather wearing apparel to the United States on or after January 28, 1981 will benefit directly or indirectly from any reembolso payment constituting a subsidy.

2. The Government of Argentina, through its Central Bank, will not provide directly or indirectly the preferential pre-export financing program found to be a subsidy in the Commerce Department's preliminary determination on any shipments of leather wearing apparel to the United States on or after January 28, 1981.

3. The Government of Argentina also certifies that no new or equivalent program will be provided as a substitute for the program eliminated by virtue of the actions described above.

C. Monitoring

The Government of Argentina agrees to:

1. Notify the Department if it contemplates, or decides to change its position with respect to any of the terms of the Agreement; and

2. Permit such verification and data collection as is requested by the Department in order to monitor the Agreement. The Department shall request such information and perform such verifications periodically pursuant to annual reviews conducted under section 751 of the Act.

D. Reopening of Investigation

The Department shall reopen the investigation with respect to leather wearing apparel that are subject to this Agreement if the Department determines that the Government of Argentina has not honored its obligations under the Agreement. Additionally, the Department will reopen the investigation if it determines that the suspension is no longer in the public interest or that effective monitoring is no longer practicable.

E. Other Provisions

The Government of Argentina requests that the Department complete its investigation as soon as possible and issue a final determination notwithstanding this Agreement to suspend the investigation. The right to request the continuation of the investigation is provided for in section 704(g) of the Act. The Government of Argentina is requesting this continuation so that the Commerce Department may fully analyze all data supplied in support of the Argentine position that the reembolso is a bona fide non-excessive rebate of allowable indirect taxes and more precisely calculate the actual level of utilization and incidence of the pre-export financing program.

Signed on this twenty eighth day of January 1981.

Government of Argentina,

By Santiago Murray.

I have determined that the provisions of paragraph B eliminate the possibility of any unfair trade practices which were the subject of this investigation, and that the provisions of paragraph C ensure that this Agreement can be monitored effectively. Therefore, I have determined that this Agreement to suspend this investigation meets the requirements of section 704(b) of the Act and is in the public interest as required in section 704(d) of the Act.

U.S. Department of Commerce.

Deputy Assistant Secretary for Import Administration.

Deployment alternatives within the states of Nevada, Utah, Texas, and New Mexico are compared to determine relative environmental considerations which may influence selection of an area or areas for deployment of the M–X system.

Principal elements of the system include two operating bases, 4,600 shelters, approximately 8,500 miles of roads, and support facilities, operated and maintained by about 13,000 persons. The first ten missiles are to be operational by mid-1986 and the system is to be fully operational by the end of 1989.

The Draft EIS was filed with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) on December 23, 1980. Copies were placed in nearly 200 libraries in the four states for public review. Also the Draft EIS has been available by request from: Ballistic Missile Office, AFRCE–MX/DEV, Box EIS, Norton AFB, California 92409, (714) 382–4891.

The Air Force will conduct the hearings in a manner to insure that all interested citizens will have an opportunity to comment and ask questions about the M–X Draft EIS. The following procedures will be followed at each hearing:

- An Air Force judge will preside and moderate the proceedings.
- A court recorder will transcribe the proceedings.
- All persons desiring to make a statement will be asked to register prior to the start of each meeting. Registration forms will be available at the door.
- Representatives of a group will be permitted five minutes for comments.
- Individuals will be permitted three minutes for comments.
- The speaking order of representatives of organizations and individuals will be determined by a random drawing of registration cards.
- Written comments will be accepted and entered as part of the public hearing record.
- There will be no relinquishing of time by one speaker to another.

The presiding officer at the public hearings will be: Colonel Allan C. Smith, AF/JAJT, 1900 Half Street, SW., Washington, DC 20324, (202) 693–5810.

Persons not able to participate in the public hearings have until May 1, 1981 to submit their written comments to AFRCE–MX/DEV at the address given above.

[ERA Docket No. 81–CERT–004]

Long Island Lighting Co.; Certification of Eligible Use of Natural Gas To Displace Fuel Oil; Long Island Lighting Co.

On January 28, 1981, Long Island Lighting Company (LILC), 250 Old Country Road, Mineola, New York 11501, filed with the Administrator of the Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) pursuant to 10 CFR Part 595 an application for certification of an eligible use of up to 3,500,000 dekatherms

(approximately 3,500,000 Mcf) of natural gas. This gas is estimated to displace the use of approximately 402,000 barrels of residual fuel oil (1.5 percent sulfur) and 9,000 barrels of No. 2 fuel oil (0.3 percent sulfur) at the E. F. Barrett Electric Plant in Island Park, New York, and 164,000 barrels of residual fuel oil (1.0 percent sulfur) at the Glenwood Plant in Glenwood Landing, New York, during the period March 1, 1981, to October 31, 1981. The eligible seller of the natural gas is City of Danville, Virginia and the natural gas will be transported by the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation. Notice of that application was published in the Federal Register (46 FR 13563, February 23, 1981), and an opportunity for public comment was provided for a period of ten (10) calendar days from the date of publication. No comments were received.

The ERA has carefully reviewed LILCO's application in accordance with 10 CFR Part 595 and the policy considerations expressed in the Final Rulemaking Regarding Procedures for Certification of the Use of Natural Gas to Displace Fuel Oil (44 FR 47920, August 16, 1979). The ERA has determined that LILCO's application satisfies the criteria enumerated in 10 CFR Part 595, and, therefore, has granted the certification and transmitted that certification to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. More detailed information, including a copy of the application, transmittal letter, and the actual certification are available for public inspection at the ERA, Division of Natural Gas Docket Room, Room 7108, RG–55, 2000 M Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20461, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays.

Issued in Washington, D.C., March 6, 1981.

Recertification of Eligible Use of Natural Gas To Displace Fuel Oil; Nebraska Municipal Power Pool

On January 12, 1981, Nebraska Municipal Power Pool (NMPP), 1335 L Street, Lincoln, Nebraska 68508, acting on behalf of seven of its members, the Board of Public Works of the City of Auburn, Nebraska (Auburn); the Board of Public Works of the City of Fairbury, Nebraska (Fairbury); the City Utilities Department of the City of Wahoo, Nebraska (Wahoo); the City Utilities Department of the City of West Point, Nebraska (West Point); the City Utilities Department of the City of Crete, Nebraska (Crete); the City Utilities Department of the City of Tecumseh, Nebraska (Tecumseh); and the Village Board of Trustees of the Village of Pender, Nebraska (Pender), filed an application with the Administrator of the Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) pursuant to 10 CFR Part 595 for recertification of an eligible use of approximately 7,080 Mcf per day of natural gas. This natural gas is estimated to displace the use of 10,050 gallons (239 barrels) per day of No. 6 fuel oil (0.5 percent sulfur) at the Fairbury facility and 35,000 gallons (833 barrels) of No. 2 fuel oil (0.3 percent sulfur) per day at the six remaining municipal generating facilities. The eligible seller of the natural gas is Esperanza Transmission Company (Esperanza) and the gas will be transported by the Northern Natural Gas Company, an interstate pipeline, and local distribution companies will make deliveries to all seven facilities. Notice of that application was published in the Federal Register (46 FR 13564, February 23, 1981) and an opportunity for public comment was provided for a period of ten (10) calendar days from the date of publication. No comments were received.

On March 26, 1980, NMPP received the original certification (ERA Docket No. 80–CERT–010) of an eligible use of natural gas purchased from Esperanza for use by the seven members for a period of one year. The original certificate expires on March 25, 1981. This recertification is being made effective on March 26, 1981, in order to provide continuity with the original certificate.

The ERA has carefully reviewed NMPP's application for recertification in accordance with 10 CFR Part 595 and the policy considerations expressed in the Final Rulemaking Regarding Procedures for Certification of the Use of Natural Gas to Displace Fuel Oil (44 FR 47920, August 16, 1979). The ERA has determined that NMPP's application satisfies the criteria enumerated in 10 CFR Part 595, and, therefore, has granted the recertification and transmitted that recertification to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. More detailed information including a copy of the application, transmittal letter, and the actual recertification are available for public inspection at the ERA, Division of Natural Gas Docket Room, Room 7108, RG–55, 2000 M Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20461, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 pm., Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays.

Issued in Washington, D.C. on March 6, 1981.

[ERA Case No. 51996-2322-08-22; Docket No. ERA-FC-80-038]

Nevada Power Co.; Availability of Tentative Staff Analysis; Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use.

AGENCY: Economic Regulatory Administration Department of Energy.

ACTION: Notice of Availability of Tentative Staff Analysis.

SUMMARY: On October 27, 1980, Nevada Power Company (Nevada Power) petitioned the Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) of the Department of Energy (DOE) for a permanent peakload powerplant exemption from the provisions of the Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act of 1978, 42 U.S.C. 8301 et seq. (FUA or the Act) which prohibit the use of petroleum or natural gas in new powerplants.

Nevada Power plans to install an 86,506 KW natural gas/oil-fired combustion turbine unit to be known as Clark Unit No. 8 in Clark County, Nevada. Nevada Power certifies that the unit will be operated solely as a peakload powerplant and will be operated only to meet peakload demand for the life of the plant.

ERA accepted the petition pursuant to 10 CFR 501.3 and 501.63 on December 10, 1980, and published notice of its acceptance in the Federal Register, on December 17, 1980 (45 FR 82992). Publication of the notice of acceptance commenced a 45–day public comment period pursuant to section 701 of FUA and 10 CFR 501.31 and 501.33, during which time interested persons were also afforded an opportunity to file comments and to request a public hearing on the petition. The comment period ended February 2, 1981. No comments or requests for a public hearing were received.

DATES: Written comments on the Tentative Staff Analysis and requests for a public hearing are due on or before March 27, 1981.

ADDRESSES: Fifteen copies of written comments, and any requests for a public hearing should be submitted to: Department of Energy, Case Control Unit, Box 4629, Room 3214, 2000 M Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20461. Docket Number ERA–FC–80–038 should be printed clearly on the outside of the envelope and on the document contained therein.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Jack C. Vanderberg, Office of Public Information, Economic Regulatory Administration, Department of Energy, 2000 M Street NW., Room B–110, Washington, D.C. 20461, Phone (202) 653–4055;

Louis T. Krezanosky, Economic Regulatory Administration, Department of Energy, Room 3012B, 2000 M Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20461, Phone (202) 653–4208;

Marilyn Ross, Office of General Counsel, Department of Energy, 1000 Independence Avenue SW., Room 6B–178, Washington, D.C. 20585, Phone (202) 252–2967.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Nevada Power plans to install an 86,566 KW natural gas/oil-fired combustion turbine to be known as Clark Unit No. 8 in Clark County, Nevada.

Nevada Power submitted a sworn statement with its petition, signed by Mr. J. H. Zornes, Vice President, Generation, as required by 10 CFR 503.41(b)(1). In his statement, Mr. Zornes certified that the unit will be operated solely as a peakload powerplant and will be operated only to meet peakload demand for the life of the plant. He also certified that the maximum design capacity of the unit is 86,566 KW; and that the maximum generation that the unit will be allowed during any 12-month period is the design capacity times 1,500 hours or 129,849,000 Kwh.

Under the requirements of 10 CFR 503.41(b)(1)(ii), if a petitioner proposes to use natural gas, or to construct a powerplant to use natural gas in lieu of an alternate fuel as a primary energy source, it must obtain an air quality certification from the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency or the Director of the appropriate state air pollution control agency. However, since ERA has determined that there are no presently available alternate fuels which may be used in the proposed powerplants, no such certification can be made. The certification requirement is therefore waived with respect to this petition.

Tentative Staff Analysis

On the basis of Nevada Power's sworn statements and information provided, the staff recommends that ERA grant the requested peakload powerplant exemptions.

On August 11, 1980, DOE published in the Federal Register (45 FR 53199) a notice of proposed amendments to the guidelines for compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA). Pursuant to the guidelines, the granting or denial of certain FUA permanent exemptions, including the permanent exemption by certification for a peakload powerplant, was identified as an action which normally does not require an Environmental Impact Statement or an Environmental Assessment pursuant to NEPA (categorical exclusion).

This classification raises a rebuttable presumption that the granting or denial of the exemption will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment. Nevada Power has certified that it will secure all applicable permits and approvals prior to commencement of operation of the new unit under exemption. The Environmental Checklist, completed and certified to by Nevada Power pursuant to 10 CFR 503.15(b), has been reviewed by DOE's Office of Environment in consultation with the Office of the General Counsel. It has been determined that Nevada Power's response to the questions therein indicate that the operation of the peakload powerplant will have no impact on those areas regulated by specified laws that impose consultation requirements on DOE, and otherwise affirms the applicability of the categorical exclusion to this FUA action. Therefore, no additional environmental review is deemed to be required.

This Tentative Staff Analysis does not constitute a decision by ERA to grant the requested exemption. Such a decision will be made in accordance with 10 CFR 501.68 on the basis of the entire record of this proceeding, including any comments received on the Tentative Staff Analysis.

Terms and Conditions

Section 214(a) of the Act gives ERA the authority to attach terms and conditions to any order granting an exemption. Based upon the information submitted by Nevada Power and upon the results of the staff analysis, the staff of ERA recommends that any order granting the requested peakload powerplant exemption should, pursuant to section 214(a) of the Act, be subject to the following terms and conditions:

A. Nevada Power shall not produce more than 129,849,000 Kwh during any 12-month period with Clark Unit No. 8. Nevada Power shall provide annual estimates of the expected periods (hours during specific months) of operation of the unit for peakload purposes (e.g., 6:00–10:00 a.m. and 3:00–6:00 p.m. during the June–September period, etc.). Estimates of the hours in which Nevada Power expects to operate Clark Unit No. 8 during the first 12-month period shall be furnished within 30 days from the date of this order.

B. Nevada Power shall comply with the reporting requirements set forth in 10 CFR 503.41(d).

C. The quality of any petroleum to be burned in the unit will be the lowest grade available which is technically feasible and capable of being burned consistent with applicable environmental requirements.

D. Nevada Power shall comply with the terms and conditions which may be imposed pursuant to the environmental requirements set forth at 10 CFR 503.15(b).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on March 6, 1981.

Robert L. Davies,

Assistant Administrator, Office of Fuels Conversion, Economic Regulatory Administration.

Issuance of an Order Granting Temporary Public Interest Exemptions Pursuant to Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act

The Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) of the Department of Energy hereby gives notice of its issuance of an Order granting temporary public interest exemptions, pursuant to the authorities granted it by section 311(e) of the Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act of 1978, 42 U.S.C. 8301 et seq., (FUA or the Act), and the implementing regulations thereunder (10 CFR § 501.68 and 10 CFR Part 508, from the natural gas use prohibitions of section 301(a) (2) and (3) of the Act to the following powerplants in order to displace high sulfur residual fuel oil:

Docket No.	Petitioner	Generating station	Powerplant identification No.
50484-2480-01-41	Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp	Danskammer	1
53370-2067-02-41	Public Service Commission of Yazoo City	Yazoo City Steam Plant	2
53370-2067-03-41	do	do	3
53370-2067-04-41	do	do	4

The Order is set forth following this Notice and has been sent by certified mail to the Petitioners.

The petitioners filed for these temporary public interest exemptions pursuant to 10 CFR Part 508 (Exemption for Use of Natural Gas by Existing Powerplants Under the Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act of 1978, April 9, 1979, 44 FR 21230, hereafter referred to as the Special Rule). A notice of the petitions and proposed order granting these temporary exemptions were published in the October 16, 1980, Federal Register (45 FR 68704) presenting an opportunity for public comments and for interested persons to request a hearing relating to the petitions and the proposed order. All comments that referred to specific petitions were supportive of them.

The Process Gas Consumers Group, the American Iron and Steel Institute and the Georgia Industrial Group (hereafter referred to collectively as the Group) requested a hearing. The Group has previously requested a hearing regarding previously filed similar petitions for exemption under the Special Rule. The Group's first request for a hearing was on the petitions for exemption and proposed order noticed at 45 FR 18423, published on March 21, 1980. The hearing which was convened pursuant to the Group's request was dismissed upon the ground that the Group had failed to demonstrate the requisite interest as interested persons (see, section 701 of FUA and 10 CFR 501.33 and 501.34). ERA denied the Group's request for a hearing on petitions for exemption and proposed order noticed at 45 FR 46684, published on July 21, 1980. The Group's latest request for a hearing regarding petitions for exemption and proposed order noticed at 45 FR 68705, published on October 16, 1980, contained nothing additional or new as compared with the Group's two previous requests. Consequently, ERA decided to deny the Group's request for a public hearing on these petitions.

Laclede Gas Company (Laclede) also requested a hearing on the petitions and proposed order noticed at 45 FR 68705, published on October 16, 1980. ERA concluded that the issues raised by Laclede were substantially the same as those presented by the Group, and that Laclede's request appeared to seek a generic review of the Special Rule. ERA determined that Laclede's request for a hearing on these petitions did not raise material issues of disputed fact respecting the qualification of a petitioner under the eligibility criteria cited in the Special Rule, or any factual issues which could support limiting application of the Special Rule under 10 CFR § 508.4. Consequently, ERA denied Laclede Gas Company's request for a public hearing on these petitions.

Based on the information provided by the petitioners, the powerplants listed above are either prohibited by section 301(a)(2) of FUA from using natural gas as a primary energy source or are prohibited from using natural gas as a primary energy source in excess of the average base year proportion allowed in section 301(a)(3) of the Act. These temporary exemptions will allow these units to burn natural gas, notwithstanding the prohibitions of section 301(a) (2) and (3) of FUA, to displace consumption of high sulfur residual fuel oil.

Statement of Reasons

Because world oil supplies continue to be unstable, there is an urgent need to use these natural resources wisely.

To the extent that the near-term choice of fuels for certain existing powerplants is limited to petroleum or natural gas, the use of natural gas is preferred over petroleum. The use of natural gas in these powerplants will be a significant step toward reducing our short-term oil consumption and will help the United States reduce its dependence on imported petroleum. This increased use of natural gas will also protect the Nation from the effects of any oil shortages, and will cushion the impact of increasing world oil prices, which have a detrimental effect on the Nation's balance of payments, and demestic inflation rate.

To the extent that increased use of natural gas will acccomplish these goals, it will reduce the importation of petroleum and further the goal of national energy self-sufficiency.

The petitioners have demonstrated that these powerplants, for which they are requesting temporary exemptions, are existing units that are either prohibited from using natural gas as a primary energy source by section 301(a)(2) of FUA, or prohibited from using natural gas in excess of the average base year proportion allowed in section 301(a)(3) of FUA. The petitioners have also shown that the proposed use of natural gas as a primary energy source, to the extent that such use would be prohibited by section 301(a) (2) and (3) of FUAS, will displace consumption of high sulfur residual fuel oil, and will not displace the use of coal or any other alternate fuel in any facility of the petitioners' utility systems, including the powerplants for which these temporary exemptions are issued.

By establishing these facts, the petitioners have met the eligibility criteria set out in 10 CFR 508.2. Since the increased use of natural gas is in keeping with the purposes of FUA and is in the public interest, and since the petitioners have demonstrated that they have met the eligibility criteria, ERA is granting these temporary exemptions.

Copies of all comments received during the public comment period will be available for public inspection and copying in the Public Information Office located in Room B–110, 2000 M Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20461.

Any questions regarding these temporary exemptions should be directed to Mr. James W. Workman, Director, Powerplants Conversion Division, Office of Fuels Conversion, Economic Regulatory Administration, Department of Energy, Room 3112D, 2000 M Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20461, (202) 653–4268.

Decision and Order

The Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) of the Department of Energy hereby issues this Decision and Order granting temporary public interest exemptions from the prohibitions of section 301(a) (2) and (3) of the Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act of 1978, 42 U.S.C. 8301 et seq., (FUA or the Act). This Decision and Order is issued pursuant to section 311(e) of FUA, 10 CFR 501.68 and 10 CFR Part 508 to the petitioners who own or operate the powerplant listed in the table below.

Docket No.	Petitioner	Generating station	Powerplant identification No.

53370-2067-04-41	do	do	4

Duration of Temporary Exemptions

ERA grants these temporary public interest exemptions until December 7, 1981. Upon the request of the petitioners, these exemptions may be extended for an additional period at the discretion of

ERA. However, a temporary public interest exemption, including all extensions and the period during which the petitioners were allowed to burn natural gas while their petitions were pending, may not exceed the maximum 5-year period authorized by the Act, or extend beyond June 30, 1985. All requests for extensions must be filed with ERA by September 7, 1981. The temporary exemptions are subject to termination by ERA, upon six months written notice, if ERA determines such termination to be in the public interest.

Effective Date of Decision and Order

This Decision and Order shall become effective May 12, 1981. However, in accordance with the policy set forth in the notice implementing this Special Rule (44 FR 21230, April 9, 1979), ERA will take no action with respect to any natural gas used by the exempted powerplants during the pendency period prior to the date this Decision and Order becomes effective.

Terms and Conditions

Pursuant to section 314 of FUA and 10 CFR 508.6, the temporary exemptions granted under this Decision and Order are conditioned upon, and shall remain in effect, so long as each petitioner, its successors and assigns, complies with the following terms and conditions:

(1) Petitioner will report to ERA for the period during which the petition was pending, and for each subsequent six-month period thereafter (periods ending June 30 and December 31), the actual monthly volumes of natural gas consumed in each exempted powerplant, and an estimate of the number of barrels of each type of fuel oil displaced. The report must be submitted within thirty days of the end of each six-month period.

(2) Petitioner will submit to ERA , within one year after the date this Decision and Order is issued, a system-wide fuel conservation plan to include the period covered by these temporary exemptions, including the means by which the petitioner will measure progress in implementing this plan. If the petitioner has received temporary public interest exemptions under previous orders, the first granted exemption order establishes the due date for the system-wide conservation plan.

(3) If the petitioner seeks to have the exemptions extended, the fuel conservation plan must cover both the initial period covered by these temporary exemptions and the additional period, including the means by which the petitioner will measure progress in implementing this plan.

(4) Petitioner will submit annually to ERA, commencing with the calendar year ending December 31, 1982, a report on progress achieved in implementing the pertinent fuel conservation plan, if the petitioner's exemptions are extended beyond December 7, 1981.

ERA's grant of these temporary public interest exemptions does not relieve an existing powerplant from compliance with any rules or regulations concerning the acquisition or the distribution of natural gas that are administered by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission or any State regulatory agency or from any obligations the utility may have to its customers.

Issued in Washington, D.C. on March 5, 1981.

[Docket No. SA81-13]

Agrico Chemical Co.; Application

March 9, 1981.

Take notice that on January 30, 1981, Agrico Chemical Company (Applicant), P.O. Box 3166, Tulsa, Oklahoma 74101 filed with the Commission in Docket No. SA81-13 an application pursuant to Section 502(c) of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 (NGPA) for the issuance of an adjustment to the provisions of Part 281 of the Commission's Regulations (18 CFR, Part 281), which provide for implementation of the essential agricultural priority provided by Section 401 of the NGPA.

Applicant, a domestic manufacturer of natural gas-based fertilizer states that it is supplied at its Blytheville, Arkansas, ammonia and urea manufacturing facility by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company (Arkla), an interstate pipeline within the meaning of Section 2(15) of the NGPA. Over 98 percent (up to 44.5 MMcf per day) of the total quantity of gas that Applicant is contractually entitled to receive from Arkla is said to be included within Arkla's "essential agricultural" curtailment priority. The remainder of the contracted-for gas, although allegedly required for "essential agricultural use", has been downgraded from the "essential agricultural" priority by operation of Part 281 of the Commission's Regulations with respect to the ability to use an alternative fuel to satisfy essential agricultural requirements.

It is the position of Applicant that, notwithstanding the fact that Applicant has been deemed by operation of Part 281 of the Commission's Regulations (18 CFR, Part 281) to have the present "ability to use" an "alternative fuel" in order to meet such requirements, it allegedly no longer has a practical "ability to use" any "alternative fuel" to meet those "essential agricultural" requirements which have been downgraded to Priority 6. Therefore, Applicant requests the Commission to grant it an adjustment to these Regulations.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before April 3, 1981, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

[Docket No. SA81-18-000]

Crosby Chemicals, Inc.; Application for Adjustment

Issued: March 9, 1981.

On January 7, 1981, Crosby Chemicals, Inc. (Crosby) filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) an Application for Adjustment under section 502(c) of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 (NGPA), 15 U.S.C. §§ 3301–3432 (Supp. II 1978). Crosby seeks relief from § 282.203(b) of the Commission's regulations, which sets forth the standards under which certain industrial boiler fuel, facilities may be exempted from incremental pricing under Title II of the NGPA.

In Order No. 96, issued July 29, 1980 in Docket No. RM79-48 (effective September 23, 1980), the Commission expanded the list of available incremental pricing exemptions to include, inter alia, facilities which have reduced their boiler fuel use below the 300 Mcf per day small boiler threshold since 1977. Section 282.203(b) provides that facilities qualifying under this category must not have used over an average of 300 Mcf per day in any of the 12 months preceeding the filing of an exemption affidavit.

Crosby exceeded the 300 Mcf per day average in January, March and September of 1980. Crosby asserts, however, that certain operations resulting in those averages have been discontinued and will remain inactive for the immediate future. Crosby thus seeks relief from the 12 month requirement and requests exemption from incremental pricing as of the month following discontinuation of these operations. Crosby contends that denial of this adjustment will put it in a less competitive position and will dictate that it burn fuel oil instead of gas for steam generation.

Section 1.41 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.41) governs the procedures applicable to this adjustment. Any person desiring to participate in this proceeding shall file a petition to intervene in accordance with § 1.41. All such petitions must be on file on or before March 30, 1981.

Applicant states that it commenced the transportation of gas for United on July 16, 1979, and pursuant to a long-term transportation agreement with United now proposes to transport gas for a term of twenty years from July 16, 1981. It is stated that the total and daily volumes of natural gas to be transported during the twenty-year period are currently estimated at 180,000,000 Mcf and 22,000 Mcf, respectively, but that this estimate may change as additional gas reserves are developed and acquired by United and as existing gas reserves are depleted.

Applicant asserts that the rates to be charged United for such transportation service are 31.0 cents, 30.0 cents and 20.0 cents per million Btu depending on the location of the gas reserves and the point of delivery.

SONAT Exploration Company (Successor in Interest to The Offshore Company and Southern Natural Resources, Inc.); Redesignation

March 9, 1981.

Take notice that on February 24, 1981, SONAT Exploration Company ("SONAT") of P.O. Box 1513, Houston, Texas 77001, as assignee of certain properties from The Offshore Company ("TOC") by means of a dividend to Southern Natural Resources, Inc., ("SNR") and a capital contribution from SNR to SONAT, filed a Joint Application for Certificates Of Public Convenience and Necessity and for Temporary Certificates authorizing the continuation of sales of natural gas produced in various fields in Offshore Louisiana and Texas and requesting that "The Offshore Company's" rate schedules be redesignated as the rate schedules of SONAT Exploration Company.

TOC, an independent producer as that term is defined by The Natural Gas Act, has transferred to SNR and SNR has contemporaneously transferred to SONAT all of TOC's interest in properties and fields in Offshore Louisiana and Offshore Texas.

The properties were transferred to SONAT on the basis of the net book value of the properties as carried on TOC's books as of the date of transfer. The transfer was accomplished by the means of a dividend to TOC's parent, SNR and a corresponding capital contribution by SNR to SONAT.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before March 16, 1981, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions to intervene or protests in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission by Sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on all applications in which no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein if the Commission on its own review of the matter believes that a grant of the certificates or the authorization for the proposed abandonment is required by the public convenience and necessity. [Docket No. CP81-201-000]

Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp.; Application

March 9, 1981.

Take notice that on February 20, 1981, Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation (Applicant), P.O. Box 1396, Houston, Texas 77001, filed in Docket No. CP81-201-000 an application pursuant to Section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of certain pipeline facilities located offshore Texas, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

In order to attach new gas supplies to its system from Block 223, Galveston area, offshore Texas, Applicant proposes to construct and operate approximately 4.26 miles of 6-inch pipeline extending from the "JA" Platform of Shell Oil Company in Galveston Block 223 to a subsea tie-in with an existing 12-inch segment of Applicant's North High Island System in Galveston Block 240 together with metering, regulating and other appurtenant facilities located on the platform. Applicant states that based upon the single well presently completed in Block 223 reserves, are estimated at up to 9,000,000 Mcf with deliverability of up to 10,000 Mcf per day. It is further stated that construction of the proposed facilities is scheduled to begin in June 1981 for completion the following August.

Applicant estimates the cost of the proposed facilities to be $2,480,000 which would be financed through short term loans and available cash with permanent financing being undertaken as a part of an overall long-term financing program at a later date. Applicant further asserts that no new sale or service is proposed and that the construction of the proposed facilities would not increase the delivery capacity of Applicant's main transmission system.

It is asserted that these facilities are required in order to attach available gas supplies to Applicant's system.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before April 3, 1981, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission by Sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission or its designee on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Project No. 4146-000]

Twin Valleys Public Power District; Application for Preliminary Permit

March 9, 1981.

Take notice that Twin Valleys Public Power District (Applicant) filed on February 9, 1981, an application for preliminary permit [pursuant to the Federal Power Act, 16 U.S.C. §§ 791(a)-825(r)] for proposed Project No. 4146 to be known as Harlan County Dam located on the Republican River in Harlan County, Nebraska. The application is on file with the Commission and is available for public inspection. Correspondence with the Applicant should be directed to: Mr. Paul J. Liess, General Manager, Twin Valleys Public Power District, Cambridge, Nebraska 69022. Any person who wishes to file a response to this notice should read the entire notice and must comply with the requirements specified for the particular kind of response that person wishes to file.

Project Description—The proposed project would utilize an existing U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' dam and reservoir. Project No. 4146 would consist of: (1) a proposed 9-foot in diameter, 350-foot long penstock; (2) a proposed powerhouse located on the south bank of the river; (3) transmission lines; and (4) appurtenant facilities. Applicant estimates the capacity of the proposed project to be 4.85 MW, and the annual energy output to be 4,200,000 KWh.

Purpose of Project—The purpose of the project is to develop energy that would be utilized within the Applicant's system.

Proposed Scope and Cost of Studies under Permit—Applicant has requested a 36 month permit to prepare a definitive project report, including initial inventory and data collecting, hydrologic studies, project development, project costs, power production, power marketing, financial alternatives, benefit-cost evaluation and socioeconomic and environmental impacts. The cost of the aforementioned activities is estimated by the Applicant to be in the range of $35,000 to $40,000.

Purpose of Preliminary Permit—A preliminary permit does not authorize construction. A permit, if issued, gives the Permittee, during the term of the permit, the right of priority of application for license while the Permittee undertakes the necessary studies and examinations to determine the engineering, economic, and environmental feasibility of the proposed project, the market for power, and all other information necessary for inclusion in an application for a license.

Agency Comments—Federal, State, and local agencies that receive this notice through direct mailing from the Commission are invited to submit comments on the described application for preliminary permit. (A copy of the application may be obtained directly from the Applicant.) Comments should be confined to substantive issues relevant to the issuance of a permit and consistent with the purpose of a permit as described in this notice. No other formal requests for comments will be made. If an agency does not file comments within the time set below, it will be presumed to have no comments.

Competing Applications.—This application was filed as a competing application to Continental Hydro Corporation Project No. 3394 filed on August 27, 1980, under 18 CFR (1980), and, therefore, no further competing applications or notices of intent to file a competing application will be accepted for filing.

Comments, Protests, or Petitions to Intervene—Anyone desiring to be heard or to make any protests about this application should file a petition to intervene or a protest with the Commission, in accordance with the requirements of its Rules of Practice and Procedure, 18 CFR § 1.8 or § 1.10 (1980). Comments not in the nature of a protest may also be submitted by conforming to the procedures specified in § 1.10 for protests. In determining the appropriate action to take, the Commission will consider all protests or other comments filed, but a person who merely files a protest or comments does not become a party to the proceeding. To become a party, or to participate in any hearing, a person must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules. Any comments, protest, or petition to intervene must be received on or before April 2, 1981.

Filing and Service of Responsive Documents—Any comments, protests, or petitions to intervene must bear in all capital letters the title "COMMENTS", "PROTEST", or "PETITION TO INTERVENE", as applicable. Any of these filings must also state that it is made a response to this notice of application for preliminary permit for Project No. 4146. Any comments, protests, or petitions to intervene must be filed by providing the original and those copies required by the Commission's regulations to: Kenneth F. Plumb, Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426. An additional copy must be sent to: Fred E. Springer, Chief, Applications Branch, Division of Hydropower Licensing, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Room 208 RB Building, Washington, D.C. 20426. A copy of any petition to intervene must also be served upon each representative of the Applicant specified in the first paragraph of this notice.

BILLING CODE 6712-01-M

[BC Docket Nos. 81-130 and 81-131; File Nos. BPCT-800229KF and BPCT-791221KF]

Springfield Television of Washington, Inc., and JusDan, Inc.; Hearing Designation Order

Adopted: February 27, 1981.

Released: March 6, 1981.

By the Chief, Broadcast Bureau.

In re Applications of Springfield Television of Washington, Inc., Spokane, Washington, [BC Docket No. 81-130 File No. BPCT-800229KF]; JusDan, Inc., Spokane, Washington, [BC Docket No. 81-131 File No. BPCT-791221KF]; For a Construction Permit.

1. The Commission, by the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, acting pursuant to delegated authority, has before it the above-captioned mutually exclusive applications of Springfield Television of Washington, Inc. (STW) and JusDan, Inc. (JusDan) for a new commercial television station to operate on channel 28, Spokane, Washington.

Springfield Television of Washington, Inc.

2. Analysis of the financial data submitted by STW reveals that $1,182,205 will be required to construct the proposed station and operate it for three months, without revenue, itemized as follows:

Equipment down payment	$360,218
Equipment payments with interest (three months)	88,127
Additional equipment	375,000
Land	32,486
Building	50,000
Miscellaneous	78,000
Operating cost (three months)	198,372
Total	1,182,205

STW is a wholly owned subsidiary of Springfield Television Corporation (STC).[1] STW plans to finance construction and operation from the proceeds of $3,500,000 loan to its parent corporation from the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company. STW has failed to document STC's commitment to make any of its financial resources available to the applicant. Moreover, the letter from Massachusetts Mutual Life does not comply with the requirements of Question 4(e), Section III, FCC Form 301. For these reasons and the reasons set forth in footnote 1, the Commission cannot find that any funds are available to the applicant. An appropriate issue will be specified to determine whether the applicant has available to it the $1,182,205 needed for construction and operation costs.

JusDan, Inc.

3. Analysis of the financial data submitted by JusDan indicates that $259,671 will be required to construct the proposed station and operate it for three months, itemized as follows:

Equipment lease fee	$12,000
Legal costs	10,000
Engineering costs	3,000
Installation costs	10,000
Miscellaneous	10,000
Operating costs (three months)	214,671
Total	259,671

4. To finance construction and operation in the above amount, JusDan intends to rely upon funding commitments from its shareholders. The balance sheets of each of the shareholders show that each has insufficient liquid assets to meet his or her commitment (totalling $300,000).[2] An appropriate issue will be specified.

	Percent of current stock	Commitment	Net liquid assets
Robert Hamacher (w/wife Renate)	51	$153,000	$5,530
Regina Hamacher (Robert's mother)	19	57,000	42,850
David Gum (w/wife Nancy)	15	45,000	3,900
Richard Schalngold (w/wife Joan)	15	45,000	*13,900

*Assuming no current liabilities.

5. JusDan has only shown $3,534 in net liquid assets. While the applicant lists land purchased for $265,950 as an operational asset, land is not a liquid asset. Rose Broadcasting Co., 69 FCC 2d 1242, 43 RR 2d 1317 (1978). Accordingly, a financial issue concerning JusDan's ability to meet $259,671 in construction and operation costs will be specified.

6. JusDan has not submitted U.S.G.S. 7.5' topographic maps to enable the Commission to accurately determine the average terrain of the proposed service area as required by Question 13(a), Section V-C, Page 2, FCC Form 301 and Section 73.684(g) of the Rules. Accordingly, JusDan is directed to furnish the 7.5' topographic maps within 20 days of the release of this order.

7. Except as indicated by the issues specified below, the applicants are qualified to construct and operate as proposed. However, since the proposals are mutually exclusive, they must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding on the issues specified below.

8. Accordingly, It is ordered, That, pursuant to Section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, before an Administrative Law Judge, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent Order upon the following issues:

1. To determine, with respect to Springfield Television of Washington, Inc.:

(a) Whether the applicant has available to it $1,182,205 needed for construction and operation costs;

(b) Whether, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to (a), above, the applicant is financially qualified.

2. To determine, with respect to JusDan, Inc.:

(a) Whether the applicant has available to it $259,671 needed for construction and operation costs;

(b) Whether, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to (a), above, the applicant is financially qualified.

3. To determine which of the proposals would, on a comparative basis, better serve the public interest.

4. To determine, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which of the applications should be granted.

9. It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants herein shall, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's Rules, in person or by attorney within 20 days of the mailing of this Order, file with the Commission, in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for hearing and to present evidence on the issues specified in the Order.

[1] STW has not submitted a current balance sheet as required by Section III, Page 2, Question 2, FCC Form 301. STW has only submitted a balance sheet for the period ending September, 1979, for its parent, STC. STC's balance sheet is dated beyond the close of a month within 90 days of the date of the application and is therefore not current.

[2] The stockholders entered into agreements to lend JusDan money and/or to purchase stock:

10. It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to Section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 73.3594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing within the time and in the manner prescribed in such Rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of and notice as required by § 73.3594(g) of the Rules.

Federal Communications Commission.

Chief, Broadcast Bureau.

Centers for Disease Control

Grants for Health Education-Risk Reduction; Notification of Availability of Funds Based on the Fiscal Year 1981 Continuing Resolution

The Centers for Disease Control announces that State and local health authorities are requested to apply for fiscal year 1981 Health Education-Risk Reduction grants to assist them in developing and implementing health eduction programs for their populations. This grant program is authorized under Section 1703(a), Title XVII, of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 300u-2(a)) and Section 402(a)(2) of Pub. L. 95-626. The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance Number is 13.981.

The purpose of the Health Education-Risk Reduction program is to assist State and local health agencies to initiate, evaluate, strenghten, and deliver health education-risk reduction programs. The grants will encourage the organization of health education efforts by public, private, and voluntary agencies to reduce the risks of premature death and disability associated with smoking, alcohol use, obesity, hypertension, stress, and other preventable health conditions and chronic diseases affecting the health of the American people. Methods to determine the prevalence of risk factors related to preventable health conditions and chronic deseases will be established by the grantees for consistent monitoring of the status of risks within communities and for further refinement and development of future Health Education-Risk Reduction programs. Also included in the program are demonstration and evaluation, community or school-based projects designed to deter smoking and the use of alcoholic beverages among children and adolescents.

It is expected that $16 million will be available in fiscal year 1981. These funds will be sufficient to award approximately 54 continuation grants, with the average award expected to be $296,000 and ranging from $30,000 to $1,500,000. Continuation grants within the approved project period are made on the basis of satisfactory progress in meeting project objectives and will be funded for 11 months. The funding estimates outlined above may vary and are subject to change due to uncertainties in the appropriation process. No new applications and/or competitive supplements to the existing grants will be accepted for review, evaluation, and funding during fiscal year 1981. The deadline for submitting continuation applications in fiscal year 1981 is April 30, 1981. Continuation applications will be subject to review as governed by OMB circular A-95 and the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act, Pub. L. 93-641, as amended.

Program announcements, information on application and review procedures, the consequences of late submission, and other materials may be obtained from the Procurement and Grants Office, Centers for Disease Control, Atlanta, Georgia 30333, or the appropriate Department of Health and Human Services Regional Office as set forth below.

AGENCY: Administration for Children, Youth and Families Office of Human Development Services, DHHS.

SUBJECT: Announcement of Availability of Grant Funds for a regional Adoption Resource Center Demonstration Program in DHHS Region VIII.

SUMMARY: The Administration for Children, Youth and Families (ACYF) announces that applications are being accepted for a Regional Adoption Resource Center grant in DHHS Region VIII for Fiscal Years, 1981, 1982, 1983. This program is authorized under Public Law 95-266, the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment and Adoption Reform Act of 1978 (Title II, Adoption Opportunities, 42 U.S.C. 5113).

DATES: Closing date for receipt of applications is May 27, 1981.

Scope of This Announcement

The purpose of this announcement is to solicit a replacement grantee to carry out the objectives of the Adoption Resource Centers Demonstration Program for the final three years of the five year program. The current Region VIII ARC has been operating continuously since October 1, 1979 to the present. Workplans from the first and second year program activity will be provided as part of the application kit to give all potential applicants a description of the background and program activities of the Region VIII Adoption Resource Center from October 1, 1979 to the present.

The ACYF is announcing the availability of $283,568 for one grant to support a project which will be administered in the states of Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Program Purpose

The purpose of the Regional Adoption Resource Centers Demonstration Program is to provide assistance to public and private, voluntary agencies to improve the quality of their adoption services and to eliminate barriers to the adoption of special needs children, which includes minority, handicapped, sibling groups and older children.

Program Goals and Objectives

The goal of the overall demonstration program is to establish a Regional Adoption Resource Center in each of the ten (10) DHHS Regions. The network of Regional Adoption Resource Centers is intended to be a major component of DHHS's activities directed toward carrying out the provisions of Title II of Pub. L. 95–266.

Applications for the project should demonstrate that the proposed project is capable of achieving all of the following program objectives:

- Identify and assess the adoption resources and practices within the geographical boundaries of the DHHS Region in which it operates.
- Establish a Regional adoption information clearinghouse in DHHS Region VIII.
- Provide a regional resource to assist and facilitate the growth and development of a national adoption information exchange system and implement strategies which will result in effective exchange activities (state and regional within the region).
- Facilitate inter-State and intra-State communication and coordination of program innovations and adoption planning processes.
- Establish and/or improve adoption and adoption related training programs in the States and other agencies and organizations in the Region with direct or indirect involvement in adoption services.
- Assist states and local agencies and organizations within DHHS Region VIII to address Region-specific objectives for improving and expanding adoption services.
- Establish the necessary linkages between foster care and adoption services.
- Provide support and financial assistance to parent groups in the planning, improving, developing and carrying out of programs and activities related to adoption. (Applicants will be responsible for conducting a competitive grant award process and awarding sub-grants to parent groups.)
- Implement specific strategies which will increase the numbers of adoptions of minority children.

Program Performance Guidelines

The Region VIII Adoption Resource Center will be required to submit a quarterly report based on the Program Performance Guidelines (A copy will be included in the application kit.)

The purpose of these guidelines and the reporting system is to provide program accountability to the government and the Congress for the funds which have been allocated to these Resource Center grants.

The performance standards will be self-administered and the results will document the quality and quantity of the Resource Center's work with respect to each objective. The Steering Committee for each Regional Center will be responsible for reviewing and commenting on the report. The designated Government Project Officer and the assigned Regional Office staff person will be responsible for validating the report's findings.

Eligible Applicants

Public and private, nonprofit organizations, including institutions of higher learning may apply for a grant under this program announcement.

In order to be considered eligible the applicant must provide a written assurance that the applicant has been physically located in the DHHS Region VIII states it proposes to serve for a minimum of one year prior to the time the application is submitted. (Applications must include this assurance in order to be reviewed.)

Special Conditions for Funding

In order to be considered for review and funding, applicants must meet the following special conditions.

—The applicant must provide documentation that a fiscal audit has been completed by a CPA within the last two years, and that the audit shows that the agency has established an adequate accounting system with appropriate controls to safeguard assets, check the accuracy and reliability of accounting data and promote operating efficiency adequate to administer the project proposed under the program announcement.

—It is expected that substantive programmatic activities of the ARC will not be financed through a sub-grant or subcontract mechanism.

—It is expected that the management/administrative office will be located in close proximity to the program office in order to reduce overall management costs.

The project will be supported through September 29, 1984 and the initial grant will sustain the budget for the first 12 months of the project. Continuation funding will depend upon the satisfactory performance of the project and the availability of funds. The assessment of satisfactory performance will be performed by ACYF on at least an annual basis and will be a major factor in consideration of all funding requests subsequent to the initial grant award.

Grantee Share of the Project

There is no cost sharing or matching requirement for grants under this program.

Applicants should contact the appropriate State Clearinghouse (listed in 42 FR 2210, January 20, 1977) for information on how they can meet the A-95 requirement.

Application Consideration

The Commissioner for Children, Youth and Families determines the final action to be taken with respect to each grant application for this program. This grant will serve to enrich and augment the applicant's current involvement in the field of adoption. This must be demonstrated in the following ways:

(3) The applicant must demonstrate its capability to serve all parts of the Region including Indian reservations and military installations.

If the Commissioner has reached a decision to disapprove a competing grant application, the unsuccessful applicant is notified in writing.

Successful applicants are notified through the issuance of a Notice of Financial Assistance Awarded which sets forth the amount of funds granted, the terms and conditions of the grant, the budget period for which support is given, and the total period for which project support is comtemplated.

Criteria for Review and Evaluation of Applications

Competing grant applications will be reviewed and evaluated by a panel of reviewers against the following criteria:

1. The applicant demonstrates that the project objectives are capable of achieving the specific grant program objectives defined in this announcement including:

- a presentation of the methods for assisting state agencies in coordinating and/or improving their adoptive services and practices and in improving the regional adoption exchange techniques;
- a discussion of the project's expected impact in the Region;
- a discussion of the applicant's demonstrated ability to complete the project within the proposed time schedules;
- a presentation of the methods to establish a Steering Committee to provide leadership and consultation to the Resource Center; and
- the applicant's written assurance that the Regional Resource Center will cooperate with the tasks and activities of the contractor responsible for implementing the national information exchange system.

2. The applicant adequately describes the current available adoption services and resources in the states of the Region to be served and demonstrates an understanding of the major issues of adoption reform and of the need to improve adoption services and practices.

3. The applicant documents organizational capacity and plan for emphasis on program resources servicing racial and ethnic minority families, including specific capacity to employ professional and administrative level minority personnel.

4. The applicant demonstrates the adequacy of its facilities, resources and proposed organizational structure and documents the capability of the proposed staff and insures that the proposed project personnel are or will be well qualified in the field of child welfare services.

5. The estimated cost to the Government is reasonable considering the anticipated results and the applicant's written assurance of adequate fiscal management accountability and record keeping procedures. The budget shall provide sufficient funds for staff attendance at all required regional and national meetings.

BILLING CODE 4110-92-M

Social Security Administration

Privacy Act of 1974; Report of New System of Records

AGENCY: Social Security Administration (SSA), Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).

ACTION: Notification of New System of Records—Supplemental Security Income Operational Quality Maintenance System (OQMS), HHS/SSA/OA, 09-60-0212.

SUMMARY: In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(4), we are issuing public notice of our intent to establish a new system of records. We are proposing also to include statements of routine use with the system in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(11). We will use the proposed system for the purpose of identifying folders containing supporting documentation for claims for supplemental security income (SSI) benefits that have been selected on a sample basis for review.

We invite public comments on this proposal, including the routine use.

DATES: We filed a report of new system of records with the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Director, Office of Management and Budget on February 20, 1981. The system of records will become effective April 21, 1981. The proposed routine use will become effective April 21, 1981, unless we receive comments on or before that date which would result in a contrary determination.

ADDRESSES: Interested individuals may comment on this system of records by writing to the SSA Privacy Officer, Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235. We will make comments received available for public inspection in Room 4212, West High Rise Building, at the above address.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Frank Sinek, Director, Division of Assistance and Records Operations Quality, Office of Assessment, P.O. Box 17040, Baltimore, Maryland 21235, telephone (301) 594-7986.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: We are proposing to establish the OQMS system of records for the purpose of providing timely and detailed data on the quality of actions taken by social security field offices in processing claims and posteligibility factors involving benefits under the SSI program. This will include reviewing initial claims and redeterminations to decide continuing entitlement. In order to achieve this purpose, it is necessary that we review a statistically selected sample of folders to measure adherence to operating policy and procedures and then compile data reflecting discovered deficiencies. We will use data in this system of records to determine whether there is a deficiency in the reviewed folders, and if so, the nature and cause of such deficiency.

The Privacy Act permits us to disclose information without the consent of an individual for "routine uses," that is, disclosure for purposes which are compatible with the purpose for which we collect information. Our regulation 20 CFR Part 401 (Federal Register, 11-13-80, pp. 74906-74918) sets our the criteria under which we will disclose information under a "routine use." Accordingly, we are proposing a routine use which provides for disclosure of an individual's record in response to congressional inquiries made at the request of that individual.

This system of records will contain manual and automated records. We will maintain the manual records in locked file cabinets and restrict access to the records to employees who have a need for them in the performance of their official duties. We will maintain system security for the automated records in accordance with National Bureau of Standards guidelines and the HHS ADP System Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This will include maintaining the records in an enclosure attended by security guards and issuing speical badges to all personnel aukthorized to enter the enclosure. The Privacy Act prescribes specific penalties for unauthorized disclosure; penalty provisions will be explained to all individuals working the records.

Since we are proposing to establish this system of records in accordance with the requirements and principles of the Privacy Act, we do not anticipate that it will have an unfavorable effect on the privacy or other personal rights of individuals.

Dated: February 20, 1981.

Herbert R. Doggette, Jr.,

Acting Commissioner of Social Security.

Bureau of Land Management

Public Lands in Imperial County, Calif.; Realty Action; Sale

The following described land has been identified as suitable for disposal by sale under the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (90 Stat. 2743, 43 U.S.C. 1713), at no less than the fair market value shown:

Legal description: NE¼ and S½ Sec. 28, T. 9 S., R. 12 E., San Bernardino Meridian
Acreage: 480
Value: $39,000

Recent rain storm activity in Southern California has caused a rapid rise in the Salton Sea. This, coupled with the unusual climatic events of the last three years has caused the community of Bombay Beach, which is situated in the coastal hazard zone of the Salton Sea, to be left in the precarious position of inundation if it were not for a temporary dike constructed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The Corps of Engineers has warned the Bombay Beach Community Services District, as well as the Imperial County Board of Supervisors and the Office of Emergency Services, of the potential loss of property and possibly life should the existing deteriorated dike system fail. Therefore, the lands are being sold noncompetitively to the Bombay Beach Community Services District to assure equitable distribution amoung purchasers who are residents of Bombay Beach. The sale is consistent with the Bureau's planning for the land involved, and the public interest would be served by offering these lands for sale.

The terms and conditions applicable to the sale are:

1. All minerals in the land will be reserved to the United States in accordance with the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1719).

2. A right-of-way for ditches and canals will be reserved to the United States under 43 U.S.C. 945.

3. The lands will be sold subject to (a) those rights for highway purposes across the NE¼, W½SW¼, and NE¼SW¼ said Sec. 28 as have been granted to the State of California by permit number Los Angeles 052217, under the Act of November 9, 1921, as amended and supplemented (42 Stat. 212); (b) those rights for telephone line purposes across the NE¼, W½SW¼, and NE¼SW¼ said Sec. 28 as have been granted to The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, its successors or assigns, by permit number Los Angeles 0170375 under the Act of March 4, 1911, as amended (36 Stat. 1253, 43 U.S.C. 961); and (c) those rights for sewer and water pipeline purposes across the SW¼ said Sec. 28 as have been granted to the Coachella Valley County Water District, its successors or assigns, by permit number R 4458 under the Act of February 15, 1901 (31 Stat. 790, 43 U.S.C. 959).

4. Pursuant to the authority contained in Section 3(d) of Executive Order 11988 of May 24, 1977, and the Act of October 21, 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1716), the patent will be subject to a restriction which constitutes a covenant running with the land, that any land in the E½SE¼ and SW¼SE¼ said Sec. 28, below an elevation of 220 feet below mean sea level may not be used for residential buildings.

Detailed information concerning the sale is available for review at the El Cento Resource Area Office, 833 South Waterman Avenue, El Centro, California.

On or before April 27, 1981 interested parties may submit comments to the Secretary of the Interior, LLM 320, Washington, D.C. 20240. Any adverse comments will be evaluated by the Secretary who may vacate or modify this realty action and issue a final determination. In the absence of any action by the Secretary, this realty action will become the final determination of the Department.

Chief, Lands Section, Branch of Lands and Minerals Operation.

Oregon; Proposed Continuation of Withdrawal

The Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Department of the Interior, proposes that the existing land withdrawal made by Public Land Order No. 3530 of January 29, 1965, be continued in part as to the following described land for a 20-year period, pursuant to Section 204 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of October 21, 1976, 90 Stat. 2751, 43 U.S.C. 1714:

Willamette Meridian

Cherry Creek Research Natural Area

T. 27 S., R. 10 W.,
Sec. 17, W½W½SW¼;
Sec. 18, Lots 5, 6, 7, 12, N½ of Lot 8, S½NE¼, SE¼;
Sec. 19, N½ of Lot 1, SE¼ of Lot 1, N½NE¼;

Sec. 20, W½NW¼NW¼.

Containing 360.00 acres in Coos County, Oregon.

The purpose of the withdrawal, formerly known as the Douglas Fir area, is to protect the unique botanical, geological, or zoological characteristics and of irreplaceable scientific and recreation values. The land is currently segregated from operation of the public land laws generally, including the mining laws, but not the mineral leasing laws. No change is proposed in the purpose or segregative effect of the withdrawal.

Notice is hereby given that an opportunity for a public hearing is afforded in connection with the proposed withdrawal continuation. All interested persons who desire to be heard on the proposal must submit a written request for a hearing to the undersigned on or before April 20, 1981. Upon determination by the State Director, Bureau of Land Management, that a public hearing will be held, a notice will be published in the Federal Register giving the time and place of such hearing. In lieu of or in addition to attendance at a scheduled public hearing, written comments or objections to the proposed withdrawal continuation may be filed with the undersigned officer on or before April 20, 1981.

The authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management will undertake such investigations as are necessary to determine the existing and potential demand for the land and its resources. He will review the withdrawal rejustification to insure that continuation would be consistent with the statutory objectives of the programs for which the land is dedicated; the area involved is the minimum essential to meet the desired needs; the maximum concurrent utilization of the land is provided for; and an agreement is reached on the concurrent management of the land and its resources. He will also prepare a report for consideration by the Secretary of the Interior, the President, and Congress, who will determine whether or not the withdrawal will be continued and if so, for how long. The final determination on the continuation of the withdrawal will be published in the Federal Register. The existing withdrawal will continue until such final determination is made.

All communications in connection with this proposed withdrawal continuation should be addressed to the undersigned officer, Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Department of the Interior, P.O. Box 2965, Portland, Oregon 97208

Dated: March 5, 1981.

Motor Carrier Finance Applications

The following operating rights applications, filed on or after July 3, 1980, are filed in connection with pending finance applications under 49 U.S.C. 10926, 11343 or 11344. The applications are governed by Special Rule 255 of the Commission's General Rules of Practice (49 CFR 1100.252).

Persons wishing to oppose an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1100.252. Persons submitting protests to applications filed in connection with pending finance applications are requested to indicate across the front page of all documents and letters submitted that the involved proceeding is directly related to a finance application and the finance docket number should be provided. A copy of any application, together with applicant's supporting evidence, can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00.

Amendments to the request for authority are not allowed. However, the Commission may have modified the application to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

Findings

With the exceptions of those applications involving duly noted problems (e.g., unresolved common control, unresolved fitness questions, and jurisdictional problems) we find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated that its proposed service warrants a grant of the application under the governing section of the Interstate Commerce Act. Each applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform the service proposed and to conform to the requirements of Title 49, Subtitle IV, United States Code, and the Commission's regulations. Except where specifically noted, this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

In the absence of legally sufficient protests in the form of verified statements as to the finance application or to the following operating rights applications directly related thereto filed within within 45 days of publication of this decision-notice (or, if the application later becomes unopposed), appropriate authority will be issued to each applicant (except where the application involves duly noted problems) upon compliance with certain requirements which will be set forth in a notification of effectiveness of this decision-notice. Within 60 days after publication an applicant may file a verified statement in rebuttal to any statement in opposition.

Applicant(s) must comply with all conditions set forth in the grant or grants of authority within the time period specified in the notice by effectiveness of this decision-notice, or the application of a non-complying applicant shall stand denied.

To the extent that any of the authority granted may duplicate an applicant's other authority, the duplication shall be construed as conferring only a single operating right.

Dated: March 5, 1981.

[Volume No. OP1–064]

Application

The following applications, filed on or after July 3, 1980, seek approval to consolidate, purchase, merge, lease operating rights and properties, or acquire control of motor carriers pursuant to 49 U.S.C. 11343 or 11344. Also, applications directly related to these motor finance applications (such as conversions, gateway eliminations, and securities issuances) may be involved.

The applications are governed by Special Rule 240 of the Commission's Rules of Practice (49 CFR 1100.240). See Ex Parte 55 (Sub-No. 44), Rules Governing Applications Filed By Motor Carriers Under 49 U.S.C. 11344 and 11349, 363 ICC 740 (1981). These rules provide among other things, that opposition to the granting of an application must be filed with the Commission in the form of verified statements within 45 days after the date of notice of filing of the application is published in the Federal Register. Failure seasonably to oppose be will construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. If the protest includes a request for oral hearing, the request shall meet the requirements of Rule 242 of the special rules and shall include the certification required.

Persons wishing to oppose an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1100.241. A copy of any application, together with applicant's supporting evidence, can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00, in accordance with 49 CFR 1100.241(d).

Amendments to the request for authority will not be accepted after the date of this publication. However, the Commission may modify the operating authority involved in the application to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

We find, with the exception of those applications involving impediments (e.g., jurisdictional problems, unresolved fitness questions involving possible unlawful control, or improper divisions of operating rights) that each applicant has demonstrated, in accordance with the applicable provisions of 49 U.S.C. 11301, 11302, 11343, 11344, and 11349, and with the Commission's rules and regulations, that the proposed transaction should be authorized as stated below. Except where specifically noted this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor does it appear to qualify as a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

In the absence of legally sufficient protests as to the finance application or to any application directly related thereto filed within 45 days of publication (or, if the application later becomes unopposed), appropriate authority will be issued to each applicant (unless the application involves impediments) upon compliance with certain requirements which will be set forth in notification of effectiveness of this decision-notice. To the extent that the authority sought below may duplicate an applicant's existing authority, the duplication shall not be construed as conferring more than a single operating right.

Applicant(s) must comply with all conditions set forth in the grant or grants of authority within the time period specified in the notice of effectiveness of this decision-notice, or the application of a non-complying applicant shall stand denied.

By the Commission, Review Board Number 1. Members Parker, Chandler and Taylor.

MC–F–14576, filed February 10, 1981. SPECIAL CARRIERS, INC. (Special) (1500 Walnut St., 19th Floor South, Philadelphia, PA 19102)—continuance in control—customized transportation, inc. (Customized) (999 North Main St., Glen Ellyn, IL 60137). Representative: John C. Bradley, Suite 1301, 1600 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, VA 22209; and H. Beatty Chadwick, 1500 Walnut St., Philadelphia, PA 19102. Special seeks authority to continue in control of Customized upon the institution by Customized of operations, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a motor contract carrier. IU International Corporation, the sole stockholder of Special, seeks authority to acquire control of said rights and property through the transaction. Special is a newly formed corporation and holds no interstate operating rights, and has two continuance in control proceedings pending before the Commission in Gemini Trucking pursuant to MC–F–14509, and Pioneer Trucking, Inc. pursuant to MC–F–14546. IU International Corporation is a publicly held non-carrier corporation that controls IU Transportation Services, Inc., a holding company controlling Ryder Truck Lines, Inc. (MC 2900 and MC 151050), and Pacific Intermountain Express Co. (MC 730). Ryder Truck Lines, Inc., also controls Ryder Truck Lines, LTD, which has applied for authority to purchase operating authority from Reliable Transport (U.S.) Ltd., in MC-F-14429. Ryder Truck Lines Inc., also controls Ryder Forwarding, Inc., a freight forwarder (FF 341), and RTL Holdings, Inc., a property broker (MC 130636). Impediment: The continuance in control of Special by Customized upon the commencement by Special of regulated motor carrier (Special) by a non-carrier (Customized) which is under common control with a freight forwarder (Ryder Forwarding) in violation of 49 U.S.C. 11323(a). Final approval, therefore, will be withheld until applicant submits an acceptable plan for eliminating the unlawful aspects of the control of these entities.

Note.—Customized Transportation, Inc. has filed as a directly related application its initial contract carrier application, docketed MC 152820 (Sub-1), which is published in this same Federal Register issue.

Motor Carrier; Permanent Authority Decisions; Decision-Notice

The following applications, filed on or after July 3, 1980, are governed by Special Rule 247 of the Commission's Rules of Practice, see 49 CFR 1100.247. Special Rule 247 was published in the Federal Register of July 3, 1980, at 45 FR 45539. For compliance procedures, refer to the Federal Register issue of December 3, 1980, at 45 FR 80109.

Persons wishing to oppose an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1100.247(B). A copy of any application, together with applicant's supporting evidence, can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00.

Amendments to the request for authority are not allowed. Some of the applications may have been modified prior to publication to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

Findings

With the exception of those applications involving duly noted problems (e.g., unresolved common control, fitness, water carrier dual operations, or jurisdictional questions) we find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated its proposed service warrants a grant of the application under the governing section of the Interstate Commerce Act. Each applicant is fit, willing, and able to perform the service proposed, and to conform to the requirements of Title 49, Subtitle IV, United States Code, and the Commission's regulations. Except where noted, this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

In the absence of legally sufficient interest in the form of verified statements filed on or before [45 days from date of publication], (or, if the application later becomes unopposed) appropriate authorizing documents will be issued to applicants with regulated operations (except those with duly noted problems) and will remain in full effect only as long as the applicant maintains appropriate compliance. The unopposed applications involving new entrants will be subject to the issuance of an effective notice setting forth the compliance requirements which must be satisfied before the authority will be issued. Once this compliance is met, the authority will be issued.

Within 60 days after publication an applicant may file a verified statement in rebuttal to any statement in opposition.

To the extent that any of the authority granted may duplicate an applicant's other authority, the duplication shall be construed as conferring only a single operating right.

Note.—All applications are for authority to operate as a motor common carrier in interstate or foreign commerce over irregular routes, unless noted otherwise. Applications for motor contract carrier authority are those where service is for a named shipper "under contract".

Motor Carrier; Permanent Authority Decisions; Decision-Notice

Decided: March 5, 1981.

The following applications, filed on or after July 3, 1980, are governed by Special Rule 247 of the Commission's Rules of Practice, see 49 CFR 1100.247. Special rule 247 was published in the Federal Register on July 3, 1980, at 45 FR 45539.

Persons wishing to oppose an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1100.247(B). Applications may be protested only on the grounds that applicant is not fit, willing, and able to provide the transportation service and to comply with the appropriate statutes and Commission regulations. A copy of any application, together with applicant's supporting evidence, can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00.

Amendments to the request for authority are not allowed. Some of the applications may have been modified prior to publication to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

Findings

With the exception of those applications involving duly noted problems (e.g., unresolved common control, fitness, water carrier dual operations, or jurisdictional questions) we find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated its proposed service warrants a grant of the application under the governing section of the Interstate Commerce Act. Each applicant is fit, willing, and able to perform the service proposed, and to conform to the requirements of Title 49, Subtitle IV, United States Code, and the Commission's regulations. Except where noted, this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

In the absence of legally sufficient protests in the form of verified statements filed within 45 days of publication of this decision-notice (or, if the application later becomes unopposed) appropriate authority will be issued to each applicant (except those with duly noted problems) upon compliance with certain requirements which will be set forth in a notice that the decision-notice is effective. Within 60 days after publication an applicant may file a verified statement in rebuttal to any statement in opposition.

To the extent that any of the authority granted may duplicate an applicant's other authority, the duplication shall be construed as conferring only a single operating right.

By the Commission, Review Board Number 2, Members Carleton, Fisher, and Williams.

Secretary.

Motor Carrier; Permanent Authority Decisions; Decision-Notice

The following applications, filed on or after July 3, 1980, are governed by Special Rule 247 of the Commission's Rules of Practice, see 49 CFR 1100.247. Special rule 247 was published in the Federal Register on July 3, 1980, at 45 FR 45539. For compliance procedures, refer to the Federal Register issue of December 3, 1980, at 45 FR 80109.

Persons wishing to oppose an application must follow the rules under 40 C.F.R. 1100.247(B). Applications may be protested only on the grounds that applicant is not fit, willing, and able to provide the transportation service and to comply with the appropriate statutes and Commission regulations. A copy of any application, together with applicant's supporting evidence, can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00.

Amendments to the request for authority are not allowed. Some of the applications may have been modified prior to publication to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

Findings

With the exception of those applications involving duly noted problems (e.g., unresolved common control, fitness, water carrier dual operations, or jurisdictional questions) we find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated its proposed service warrants a grant of the application under the governing section of the Interstate Commerce Act. Each applicant is fit, willing, and able to perform the service proposed, and to conform to the requirements of Title 49, Subtitle IV, United States Code, and the Commission's regulations. Except where noted, this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

In the absence of legally sufficient interest in the form of verified statements filed on or before 45 days from date of publication (or, if the application later becomes unopposed) appropriate authorizing documents will be issued to applicants with regulated operations (except those with duly noted problems) and will remain in full effect only as long as the applicant maintains appropriate compliance. The unopposed applications involving new entrants will be subject to the issuance of an effective notice setting forth the compliance requirements which must be satisified before the authority will be issued. Once this compliance is met, the authority will be issued.

Within 60 days after publication an applicant may file a verified statement in rebuttal to any statement in opposition.

To the extent that any of the authority granted may duplicate an applicant's other authority, the duplication shall be construed as conferring only a single operating right.

Note.—All applications are for authority to operate as a motor common carrier in interstate or foreign commerce over irregular routes, unless noted otherwise. Applications for motor contract carrier authority are those where service is for a named shipper "under contract".

Motor Carrier Permanent Authority Decision; Decision-Notice

The following operating rights applications, filed on or after July 3, 1980, are filed in connection with pending finance applications under 49 U.S.C. 10926, 11343 or 11344. The applications are governed by Special Rule 252 of the Commission's General Rules of Practice (49 CFR 1100.252).

Person's wishing to oppose an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1100.252. Persons submitting protests to applications filed in connection with pending finance applications are requested to indicate across the front page of all documents and letters submitted that the involved proceeding is directly related to a finance application and the finance docket number should be provided. A copy of any application, together with applicant's supporting evidence, can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00.

Amendments to the request for authority are not allowed. However, the Commission may have modified the application to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

Findings

With the exceptions of those applications involving duly noted problems (e.g., unresolved common control, unresolved fitness questions, and jurisdictional problems) we find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated that its proposed service warrants a grant of the application under the governing section of the Interstate Commerce Act. Each applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform the service proposed and to conform to the requirements of Title 49, Subtitle IV, United States Code, and the Commission's regulations. Except where specifically noted, this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

In the absence of legally sufficient protests in the form of verified statements as to the finance application or to the following operating rights applications directly related thereto filed within 45 days of publication of this decision-notice (or, if the application later becomes unopposed), appropriate authority will be issued to each applicant (except where the application involves duly noted problems) upon compliance with certain requirements which will be set forth in a notification of effectiveness of this decision-notice. Within 60 days after publication an applicant may file a verified statement in rebuttal to any statement in opposition.

Applicant(s) must comply with all conditions set forth in the grant or grants of authority within the time period specified in the notice of effectiveness of this decision-notice or the application of a non-complying applicant shall stand denied.

To the extent that any of the authority granted may duplicate an applicant's other authority, the duplication shall be construed as conferring only a single operating right.

Motor Carrier Permanent Authority Decisions

The following applications, filed on or after July 3, 1980, are governed by Special Rule 247 of the Commission's Rules of Practice, see 49 CFR 1100.247. Special Rule 247 was published in the Federal Register of July 3, 1980, at 45 FR 45539. For compliance procedures, refer to the Federal Register issue of December 3, 1980, at 45 FR 80109.

Persons wishing to oppose an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1100.247(B). A copy of any application, together with applicant's supporting evidence, can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00.

Amendments to the request for authority are not allowed. Some of the applications may have been modified prior to publication to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

Findings

With the exception of these applications involving duly noted problems (e.g., unresolved common control, fitness, water carrier dual operations, or jurisdictional questions) we find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated its proposed service warrants a grant of the application under the governing section of the Interstate Commerce Act. Each applicant is fit, willing, and able to perform the service proposed, and to conform to the requirements of Title 49, Subtitle IV, United States Code, and the Commission's regulation. Except where noted, this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

In the absence of legally sufficient interest in the form of verified statements filed on or before 45 days from date of publication (or, if the application later becomes unopposed) appropriate authorizing documents will be issued to applicants with regulated operations (except those with duly noted problems) and will remain in full effect only as long as the applicant maintains appropriate compliance. The unopposed applications involving new entrants will be subject to the issuance of an effective notice setting forth the compliance requirements which must be satisfied before the authority will be issued. Once this compliance is met, the authority will be issued.

Within 60 days after publication an applicant may file a verified statement in rebuttal to any statement in opposition.

To the extent that any of the authority granted may duplicate an applicant's other authority, the duplication shall be construed as conferring only a single operating right.

Note.—All applications are for authority to operate as a motor common carrier in interstate or foreign commerce over irregular routes, unless noted otherwise. Applications for motor contract carrier authority are those where service is for a named shipper "under contract".

Correction

On page 15233, in the issue for Wednesday, March 4, 1981, in the correction for FR Doc. 81–3204, (which originally appeared on Wednesday, January 28, 1981, at 46 FR 9218), make the following correction:

In the last line, "NF" should have read "NE".

Permanent Authority Decisions

The following applications, filed on or after July 3, 1980, are governed by Special Rule 247 of the Commission's Rules of Practice, see 49 CFR 1100.247. Special Rule 247 was published in the Federal Register of July 3, 1980, at 45 FR 45539. For compliance procedures, refer to the Federal Register issue of December 3, 1980, at 45 FR 80109.

Persons wishing to oppose an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1100.247(B). A copy of any application, together with applicant's supporting evidence, can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00.

Amendments to the request for authority are not allowed. Some of the applications may have been modified prior to publication to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

Findings

With the exception of those applications involving duly noted problems (e.g., unresolved common control, fitness, water carrier dual operations, or jurisdictional questions) we find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated its proposed service warrants a grant of the application under the governing section of the Interstate Commerce Act. Each applicant is fit, willing, and able to perform the service proposed, and to conform to the requirements of Title 49, Subtitle IV, United States Code, and the Commission's regulations. Except where noted, this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

In the absence of legally sufficient interest in the form of verified statements filed on or before 45 days from date of publication, (or, if the application later becomes unopposed) appropriate authorizing documents will be issued to applicants with regulated operations (except those with duly noted problems) and will remain in full effect only as long as the applicant maintains appropriate compliance. The unopposed applications involving new entrants will be subject to the issuance of an effective notice seting forth the compliance requirements which must be satisfied before the authority will be issued. Once this compliance is met, the authority will be issued.

Within 60 days after publication an applicant may file a verified statement in rebuttal to any statement in opposition.

To the extent that any of the authority granted may duplicate an applicant's other authority, the duplication shall be construed as conferring only a single operating right.

Note.—All applications are for authority to operate as a motor common carrier in interstate or foreign commerce over irregular routes, unless noted otherwise. Applications for motor contract carrier authority are those where service is for a named shipper "under contract".

BILLING CODE 7035–01–M

Permanent Authority Decision; Decision-Notice

The following applications, filed on or after July 3, 1980, seek approval to consolidate, purchase, merge, lease operating rights and properties, or acquire control of motor carriers pursuant to 40 U.S.C. 11343 or 11344. Also, applications directly related to these motor finance applications (such as conversions, gateway eliminations, and securities issuances) may be involved.

The applications are governed by Special Rule 240 of the Commission's Rules of Practice (49 CFR 1100.240). See Ex Parte 55 (Sub-44), Rules Governing Applications Filed By Motor Carriers Under 49 U.S.C. 11344 and 11349, 363 I.C.C. 740 (1981). These rules provide among other things, that opposition to the granting of an application must be filed with the Commission in the form of verified statements within 45 days after the date of notice of filing of the application is published in the Federal Register. Failure seasonably to oppose will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. If the protest includes a request for oral hearing, the request shall meet the requirements of Rule 242 of the special rules and shall include the certification required.

Amendments to the request for authority will not be accepted afer the date of this publication. However, the Commission may modify the operating authority involved in the application to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

We find, with the exception of those applications involving impediments (e.g., jurisdictional problems, unresolved fitness questions, questons involving possible unlawful control, or improper divisions of operating rights) that each applicant has demonstrated, in accordance with the applicable provisions of 49 U.S.C. 11301, 11302, 11343, 11344, and 11349, and with the Commission's rules and regulations, that the proposed transaction should be authorized as stated below. Except where specifically noted this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor does it appear to qualify as a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

We also find, that the transaction is consistent with the public interest, will enable the rail carrier to use motor carrier transportation to public advantage in its operation, and will not unreasonably restrain competition.

In the absence of legally sufficient protests as to the finance application or to any application directly related thereto filed within 45 days of publication (or, if the application later becomes unopposed), appropriate authority will be issued to each applicant (unless the application involves impediments) upon compliance with certain requirements which will be set forth in a notification of effectiveness of this decision-notice. To the extent that the authority sought below may duplicate an applicant's existing authority, the duplication shall not be construed as conferring more than a single operating right.

Applicant(s) must comply with all conditions set forth in the grant or grants of authority within the time period specified in the notice of effectiveness of this decision-notice, or the application of a non-complying applicant shall stand denied.

Dated: March 5, 1981.

Volume No. OP3-198

Decided March 5, 1981.

By the Commission, Review Board No. 2, Members Carleton, Fisher and Williams.

MC-F-14566, filed February 4, 1981. Applicant: FLORIDA EAST COAST RAILWAY COMPANY (FLORIDA) (One Malaga Street, St. Augustine, FL 32084)—continuance in control—FLORIDA EXPRESS, INC. (FEC)—initial common carrier (One Malaga Street, St. Augustine, FL 32084). Representative: Eugene T. Liipfert, Suite 1100, 1600 L Street NW., Washington, DC 20036. Florida seeks authority to continue in control of FEC upon the institution by FEC of operations, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a motor common carrier. St. Joe Paper Co., a publicly held non-carrier and majority stockholder of Florida, seeks authority to acquire control of said rights through the transaction. Florida was authorized to control Apalachicola Northern Railway in 307 I.C.C. 5 (1958). It also owns all the capital stock of Florida East Coast Highway Dispatch Co., Inc., which holds a certificate of registration issued in Docket MC 120975. Florida also is seeking in MC-F-14578, authority to continue in control of Florida East Coast Highway Dispatch Co., Inc., when its certificate of registration is converted. Condition: So far as can be ascertained from the evidence of record in this proceeding, St. Joe is a non-carrier with its investments and functions primarily related to transportation. Accordingly, concurrently with consummation of the transaction authorized to this proceeding, St. Joe will be considered a motor carrier within the meaning of 49 U.S.C. 11348. It will therefore, be subject to the applicable provisions of 49 U.S.C Subtitle IV, subchapter III of chapter 111 relating to reporting and accounting, and of 49 U.S.C. 11302 relating to the issuance of securities.

Note.—FEC has filed as a directly related application its initial common carrier application. This application, docketed MC 153915 is published in this same Federal Register issue.

MC-F-14578, filed February 5, 1981. Applicant: FLORIDA EAST COAST RAILWAY COMPANY (FLORIDA) (One Malaga Street, St. Augustine, FL 32084)—continuance in control—FLORIDA EAST COAST HIGHWAY DISPATCH CO. (DISPATCH) (One Malaga Street, St. Augustine, FL 32084). Representative: Eugene T. Liipfert, Suite 1100, 1600 L Street NW., Washington, DC 20036. Florida, a Class I common carrier by rail, seeks authority to continue in control of interstate operating rights of Dispatch. St. Joe Paper Co., a publicly held non-carrier and majority stockholder of Florida, seeks authority to acquire control of said rights through the transaction. Florida was authorized to control Apalachicola Northern Railway in 307 I.C.C. 5 (1958). It also owns all the capital stock of Florida Express, Inc., which has applied for its initial common carrier authority in Docket MC 153915. Florida is seeking in MC-F-14566, authority to continue in control of Florida Express, Inc., when its certificate is issued. Dispatch presently holds authority in Certificate of Registration MC 120975 (Sub-1), to operate as a common carrier, transporting general commodities over specified regular routes in Florida.

Note.—Dispatch has filed a directly related application to convert its certificate of registration to a certificate of public convenience and necessity. The application docketed MC 120975 (Sub-2), is published in this same Federal Register issue.

Restriction Removals; Decision-Notice

Decided: March 9, 1981.

The following restriction removal applications, filed after December 28, 1980, are governed by 49 CFR 1137. Part 1137 was published in the Federal Register of December 31, 1980, at 45 FR 86747.

Persons wishing to file a comment to an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1137.12. A copy of any application can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00.

Amendments to the restriction removal applications are not allowed. Some of the applications may have been modified prior to publication to conform to the special provisions applicable to restriction removal.

Findings

We find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated that its requested removal of restrictions or broadening of unduly narrow authority is consistent with 49 U.S.C. 10922(h).

In the absence of comments filed within 25 days of publication of this decision-notice, appropriate reformed authority will be issued to each applicant. Prior to beginning operations under the newly issued authority, compliance must be made with the normal statutory and regulatory requirements for common and contract carriers.

By the Commission, Restriction Removal Board, Members Sporn, Alspaugh, and Shaffer.

Secretary.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Rel. No. 17814; SR-CBOE-80-20]

Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc.; Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

March 10, 1981.

On July 31, 1980, the Chicago Board Options Exchange, Incorporated, LaSalle at Jackson, Chicago, Illinois 60604 filed with the Commission, pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78(s)(b)(1) (the "Act") and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, copies of a proposed rule change which revises its procedures with respect to trading rotations which extend beyond 3:10 p.m. (Chicago time). Among other things, the proposed rule change will permit only one trading rotation to be conducted after 3:10 p.m., and would preclude the initiation of such a trading rotation until ten minutes after news of the rotation is disseminated.

Notice of the proposed rule change together with the terms of substance of the proposed rule change was given by publication of a Commission Release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 34-1704, August 8, 1980) and by publication in the Federal Register (45 FR 55306, August 19, 1980). No written statements with respect to the proposed rule change were filed with the Commission.

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to national securities exchanges, and in particular, the requirements of Section 6.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the above-mentioned proposed rule change be, and it hereby is, approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

[Rel. No. 11677; 812-4797]

Trust for Cash Management; Filing of Application

March 10, 1981.

Notice is hereby given that Trust for Cash Management ("Applicant") 421 Seventh Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15219, an open-end, diversified, management company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), filed an application on January 7, 1981, requesting an order of the Commission, pursuant to Section 6(c) of the Act, exempting Applicant from the provisions of Section 2(a)(41) of the Act and Rules 2a–4 and 22c–1 thereunder, to the extent necessary to permit Applicant to value its assets using the amortized cost method of valuation. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein, which are summarized below.

Applicant is a business trust organized and existing under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. Applicant has filed with the Commission a Registration Statement on Form N–1 pursuant to Section 8(b) of the Act and the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "1933 Act"). The 1933 Act Registration Statement on Form N–1 has not yet been declared effective. Thus, Applicant has not yet commenced a public distribution of its shares. Applicant states that Advisers Research Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Federated Investors, Inc., acts as investment adviser to Applicant.

Applicant states that it is a "money market fund" designed as an investment vehicle for investors with temporary cash balances or cash reserves. Applicant further states that its investment objective is to provide stability of principal and current income for its investors. To realize this objective Applicant's portfolio may be invested in a variety of money market instruments, including U.S. treasury bills, all other marketable obligations issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government, its agencies or instrumentalities ("U.S. government obligations"), instruments of banks which are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") or of savings and loan associations which are members of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation ("FSLIC") (such as certificates of deposit, demand and time deposits, savings shares and bankers' acceptances, repurchase agreements and prime commercial paper, including variable amount demand master notes). Applicant states that it will not invest in instruments issued by banks or savings and loan associations unless: (a) at the time of investment such financial institutions have capital, surplus and undivided profits in excess of $100,000,000 as of the date of their most recently published financial statements; or (b) the principal amount of the instrument is insured in full by the FDIC or the FSLIC. Applicant further states that to the extent that it invests in Eurodollar certificates of deposit issued by foreign branches of domestic U.S. banks, consideration will be given to their domestic marketability, the lower reserve requirements normally mandated for overseas banking operations and the possible impact of interruptions in the flow of international currency operations. Applicant also states that its rated commercial paper investments will be limited to commercial paper rated A–1 by Standard & Poor's Corporation ("S&P"), P–1 by Moody's Investors Service, Inc. ("Moody's"), or F–1 by Fitch's Investors Service. Applicant also states it may also purchase U.S. government obligations on a when-issued or delayed delivery basis.

Applicant represents that it has been the experience of its Board of Trustees ("Management") in the operation of money market funds in general, that two features of a money market fund are of particular importance to investors: (1) stability of principal, and (2) a steady flow of predictable and competitive investment income. Applicant asserts that by holding high quality money market instruments having short maturities valued in accordance with the amortized cost method, these qualities can be provided. Applicant states that money market fund investors are not concerned with the theoretical differences that might occur between yield determined by "marking to market" and yield computed by using the amortized cost method. Applicant states that such investors will, however, insist that the daily income declared by a money market fund reflect income as earned using the amortized cost method and that it not exhibit the volatility which may occur when changes in so-called "market" prices cause unreal and artificial changes in yield on a daily or weekly basis.

Applicant represents that Management has determined from experience that an average portfolio maturity of 120 days achieves both the objective of obviating the possibility of significant volatility in the value of portfolio instruments as effectively as does an average maturity of shorter duration, and that of providing yield on portfolio instruments commensurate with yields available in the general money market, which is not otherwise available with a portfolio of shorter duration. In addition, Applicant states that the experience of Management in managing the fund has been that, given the unique nature of its policies and operations, there is a negligible discrepancy between prices obtained by the use of the amortized cost method and those determined by a theoretical or synthetic market valuation method using matrices or other mechanical devices. Thus, Management has determined in good faith that in light of the foregoing factors and its particular characteristics, the amortized cost method of valuation of portfolio instruments is appropriate and preferable. It is represented that Management has further determined that it will continuously monitor valuations indicated by other methods and has directed its Executive Committee to make reports to Management to enable Management to make any changes in method which may be necessary to assure that the method of valuation being used is fair value in view of all pertinent factors.

As here pertinent, Section 2(a)(41) of the Act defines value to mean: (1) with respect to securities for which market quotations are readily available, the market value of such securities, and (2) with respect to other securities and assets, fair value as determined in good faith by an investment company's board of directors. Rule 22c–1 provides, in part, that no registered investment company or principal underwriter therefor issuing any redeemable security shall sell, redeem or repurchase any such security except at a price based on the current net asset value of such security which is next computed after receipt of a tender of such security for redemption or of an order to purchase or to sell such security. Rule 2a–4 povides, as here relevant, that the current net asset value of a redeemable security issued by a registered investment company used in computing its price for the purpose of distribution, redemption and repurchase shall be an amount which reflects calculations made substantially in accordance with the provisions of that rule, with estimates used where necessary or appropriate. Rule 2a–4 further states that portfolio securities with respect to which market quotations are readily available shall be valued at current market value, and that other securities and assets shall be valued at fair value as determined in good faith by an investment company's board of directors. Prior to the filing of the application, the Commission expressed its view that, among other things, Rule 2a–4 under the Act requires that portfolio instruments of "money market" funds be valued with reference to market factors, and it would be inconsistent generally with the provisions of Rule 2a–4 for a "money market" fund to value its portfolio instruments with over 60-day maturities on an amortized cost basis (Investment Company Act Release No. 9786, May 31, 1977).

Section 6(c) of the Act provides, in part, that upon application the Commission may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any person, security, or transaction, or any class or classes of persons, securities, or transactions, from any provision or provisions of the Act or of any rule or regulation thereunder, if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Applicant states that to the extent that its proposed use of the amortized cost method may be deemed not to comply with Section 2(a)(41) of the Act and Rules 2a–4 and 22c–1 thereunder, it is requesting exemptions from the provisions of Section 2(a)(41) of the Act, and Rules 2a–4 and 22c–1 thereunder, to the extent necessary to permit Applicant to value its portfolio securities by means of the amortized cost method of valuation (i.e., valuing securities at cost, adjusted for amortization of premium or accretion of discount).

Applicant submits that the issuance of the requested order is consistent with the exemptive standards of Section 6(c) of the Act. Applicant represents, for example, that by not purchasing any instrument with a remaining maturity of greater than one year and by maintaining a dollar-weighted average portfolio maturity not exceeding 120 days, Applicant believes that it can achieve its objectives of stability of principal and steady flow of investment income satisfactory to its investors and yet provide adequate investor protection. However, in order to enhance investor protection, Applicant expressly consents to issuance of the requested order on the basis of the following conditions:

1. In supervising Applicant's operations and delegating special responsibilities involving portfolio management to Applicant's investment adviser, Management undertakes—as a particular responsibility within the overall duty of care owed to its shareholders—to establish procedures reasonably designed, taking into account current market conditions and Applicant's investment objectives, to stabilize Applicant's net asset value per share, as computed for the purpose of distribution, redemption and repurchase, at $1.00 per share.

2. Included within the procedures to be adopted by Management shall be the following:

(a) Review by Management, as it deems appropriate and at such intervals as are reasonable in light of current market conditions, to determine the extent of deviation, if any, of the net asset value per share as determined by using available market quotations from the $1.00 amortized cost price per share, and the maintenance of records of such review.[1]

(b) In the event such deviation from the $1.00 amortized cost price per share exceeds ½ of 1 percent, a requirement that Management will promptly consider what action, if any, should be initiated by it.

(c) Where Management believes the extent of any deviation from the $1.00 amortized cost price per share may result in material dilution or other unfair results to investors or existing shareholders, it shall take such action as it deems appropriate to eliminate or to reduce to the extent reasonably practicable such dilution or unfair results, which may include: redeeming shares in kind; selling portfolio instruments prior to maturity to realize capital gains or losses, or to shorten the average maturity of portfolio instruments; withholding dividends; or utilizing a net asset value per share as determined by using available market quotations.

3. Applicant will maintain a dollar-weighted average portfolio maturity appropriate to its objective of maintaining a stable net asset value per share; provided, however, that Applicant will not (a) purchase any instrument with a remaining maturity of greater than one year, or (b) maintain a dollar-weighted average portfolio maturity which exceeds 120 days.[2]

4. Applicant will record, maintain, and preserve permanently in an easily accessible place a written copy of the procedures (and any modifications thereto) described in paragraph 1 above, and will record, maintain and preserve for a period of not less than six years (the first two years in an easily accessible place) a written record of Management's considerations and actions taken in connection with the discharge of its responsibilities, as set forth above, to be included in the minutes of Management's meetings. The documents preserved pursuant to this condition shall be subject to inspection by the Commission in accordance with Section 31(b) of the Act, as if such documents were records required to be maintained pursuant to rules adopted under Section 31(a) of the Act.

5. Applicant will limit its portfolio investments, including repurchase agreements, to those United States dollar-denominated instruments which Management determines present minimal credit risks, and which are of "high quality" as determined by any major rating service or, in the case of any instrument that is not rated, of comparable quality as determined by Management.

6. Applicant will include in each quarterly report, as an attachment to Form N–1Q, a statement as to whether any action pursuant to paragraph 2(c) above was taken during the preceding fiscal quarter and, if any such action was taken, will describe the nature and circumstances of such action.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than April 3, 1981, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing, a request for a hearing on the application accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his or her interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he or she may request that he or she be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon Applicant at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0–5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein will be issued as of course following said date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

[1] To fulfill this condition, Applicant intends to use actual quotations or estimates of market value reflecting current market conditions chosen by Management in the exercise of its discretion to be appropriate indicators of value which may include, inter alia, (1) quotations or estimates of market value for individual portfolio instruments, or (2) values obtained from yield data relating to classes of money market instruments published by reputable sources.

[2] In fulfilling this condition, if the disposition of a portfolio security results in a dollar-weighted average portfolio maturity in excess of 120 days, Applicant will invest available cash in such a manner as to reduce the dollar-weighted average portfolio maturity to 120 days or less as soon as reasonably practicable.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

George A. Fitzsimmons,

Secretary.
